B. N. Shaw's family have been very sick but are getting better.

CENTREVILLE.

C. M. Sherwood has purchased the right of obtaining power from "Getchells" Dam for running a larger Dynamo than the one in use at present. The old sawmill has been transformed into a commodious Dynamo room, and many of the private dwellings and other public buildings are being wired by an electrician from Montreal. When this system is completed we will have one of the best lighted villages in the province. A man of business who can, (singlehanded,) carry so extensive a plan into successful operation as this gentleman has, deserves the applause and hearty co-operation of all.

The funeral of Miss Linnie Scholey was largely attended on Wednesday the 21st. The service was conducted at the house by Rev. E. W. Simonson. The pall was borne by Messrs Sydney Niles, Harley White, Ward Webb and Howard Adams to the Church of England burying ground, where interment took place. By her death our village loses one of its most estimable young ladies. Much sympathy is felt for the grief-stricken family.

Miss Josie Scholey arrived home from Boston, Monday, January 19th. She will remain for a short time.

Jack Lee is attending the Fredericton Business College.

IF YOU ARE IN EARNEST

And Really Want to Cure Yourself of Cold or Cough, Don't Let Dealers Trifle With Your Health by Giving You a Substitute for

LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Would you accept a counterfeit five dollar bill in exchange for a good one? Would you deal with a grocer who gave you salt when you asked for sugar?

Of course you would not. But how about your medicines? When you make up your mind that Dr Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is what you require, are you satisfied to allow your dealer to persuade you to accept some imitation or substitute?

Imitations and substitutes are never so good as the originals, or why would they have to thrive on the reputation of the articles they are designed to take the place of? They never cost as much, or what object would the dealer have in trying to prevail on you to take them?

Dr Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has so firmly established its reputation as a treatment for throat and lung troubles that it seems almost useless to try to put on the market a rival preparation, and hence the imitations—similar names and similar packages, but very different effects.

Far from being a mere cough mixture, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine reaches and thoroughly cures deep-seated chest colds and lung diseases, croup, bronchitis, whooping cough and asthma.

Slowly but surely people are being awakened to the dishonest methods of many druggists, and are learning to insist on getting what they ask for. If you realize the difference between Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and the remedies put up to sell in place of it, you will insist on getting the genuine. Dr. Chase's portrait and signature is on every bottle, 25 cents a bottle, family size, three times as much, 60 cents. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

GOOD BLOOD

Is the Secret of Health, Vigor and Happiness.

Good blood—rich, red blood—is the greatest enemy that disease can have. It stimulates every organ to throw off any ailment that may attack it. Good blood is the only positive cure for such complaints as anaemia, nervousness, neuralgia, skin eruptions, indigestion, rheumatism, etc., because these diseases cannot exist where the blood is good. The secret of good blood—rich, red, life-giving blood—is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Where these pills are used it means life, health and vigor. Mr. Robert Lee, a well known resident of New Westminster, B. C., says:—"Before I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, my blood was in a very impure condition, and as a result itchy pimples broke out all over my body. My appetite was fickle and I was easily tired. I tried several medicines, but they did not help me. Then my wife urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got half a dozen boxes, and by the time I had used them, I was fully restored to health, and my skin was smooth and clear. The pills are the best medicine I know of for purifying the blood." Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not take a substitute, or something said to be "just as good." The "just as good" medicines never cured any one.

Upholding the Law.

Sir Francis Jeune has an effective anecdote in connection with reform of the divorce laws. Before the act of 1857, divorce could only be obtained by costly proceedings before the houses of Parliament, and the hardship thus imposed upon the mass of the population was deeply felt, and many proposals of reform were made. "It is said," Sir Francis Jeune writes, in the article on "Divorce," "that the final impetus was given by an address to a prisoner by Justice Maule. The prisoner's wife had deserted him with her paramour, and he married again during her lifetime. He was indicted for bigamy and convicted, and Justice Maule sentenced him in the following words: 'Prisoner at the bar, you have been convicted of the offense of bigamy, that is to say, of marrying a woman while you had a wife still alive, though it is true she had deserted you and is still living in adultery with another man. You have, therefore, committed a crime against the laws of your country, and you have also acted under a very serious misapprehension of the course which you ought to have pursued. You should have gone to the ecclesiastical court and there obtained against your wife a decree a mensa et thoro. You should have then brought an action in the courts of common law and recovered, as no doubt you would have recovered, damages against your wife's paramour. Armed with these decrees, you should have approached the legislature and obtained an act of parliament which would have rendered you free and legally competent to marry the person whom you have taken on yourself to marry with no such sanction. It is quite true that these proceedings would have cost you many hundreds of pounds, whereas you probably have not as many pence. The sentence of the court upon you, therefore, is that you be imprisoned for one day, which period has already been exceeded, as you have been in custody since the commencement of the assizes."

Cut off in His Youth.

There is a story of a man of seventy who, when he was asked if his father lived to be an old man, replied that his father was upstairs putting his grandfather to bed. There is another setting of this old story,—old enough to be new,—which is told by the New York Times as coming from a Southern Senator, who was explaining how healthy his part of the state is.

A mountaineer, ninety-two-years old, and his wife of ninety were returning from the funeral of their eldest child, who had died at the age of seventy-one.

As they discussed their loss in deep grief, the wife said:

"I always told you, John, that we should never raise that child."
