CHESTER.

"And what is so rare as a day in June?" says James Russell Lowell, but we may appropriately say "What is so rare as a day in spring?" The past month has been delightful and we have every indication of an early planting season.

Evening parties are at present the general feature of entertainment in the society of this place. On Saturday evening, April 11th, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. M. Sherwood barely escaped what might have been a distressing accident last week. He was crossing the pond (from the electric light station) just above the dam when his boat was sucked into the current and only the size of the boat which caught and held firmly at extreme ends kept it from going through the sluice over the dam. The force of the current however capsized the boat but Shephard Burt rendered timely assistance and rescued the immersed gentleman without injury.
