A General Purpose Cow.

December 14th, 1899, was a day long to be remembered, for on that day it was my very great privilege to listen to the distinguished and most eloquent orator, who presides as the editor of the Dairyman. His theme, one that we are all interested in, The Dairy Cow, and with what wonderful words and gestures he did expound the doctrine of breeds and feeds that day, with what unction he explained his "washing," as he called it. And as l sat with ears and mouth both open, drinking in the wisdom that flowed so speedidly from his fertile brain, tears came to my eyes, as he, with terrible denunciation, attacked, filed left, filed right, and then charged down upon the poor, forlorn, "critter," The General Purpose Cow. As I listened to his silver tongue and heard the words of promise, it seemed to me it must be so for he said it was Coming home that night and sitting in front of the old fireplace, where burned some old special-purpose maple logs, I fell into a sort of trance and my mind ran back for nearly fifty years, and I saw a general purpose cow owned by Francis Hibbara, who made, upon grass alone, 18 lbs. butter (by the churn) in one week; and coming down along the years I saw Miss Bell, a thoroughbred Durham, who gave 75 lbs. of milk per per day, on grass alone, and a daughter of hers who gave 70 lbs. per day. And in my drowsy state I marched up the road and stopped at Will Bell's, and thinking, as he is the most successful farmer I know, I will ask him what cow in his dairy is the most profitable one, and we went out to the fine dairy barn where fifty sleek cows are stabled and where they have the most intelligent care, and produce more milk than the same number of cows of any patron of the milk station where he delivered his milk. What cow in all your herd is the best? And lo, and behold, she was a mulley, and from her looks could not have been one one-hundredth part Special-Purpose Cow.

Thinks I, perhaps I had better get a little nearer the fountain head of special purpose, and went down to see the finest dairy in our county. Holsteins, bred from the record breakers of the world on both sides, Guernseys from the great families, and all of them beautiful animals, and having care much better than plenty of farmers' children. Silage and gluten, balanced ration fed, (according to Hoard), and I the question asked, which is the best cow you have? and I am shown, not a daughter of Pauline Paul, neither of Elgin Belle, but a cow one-half Durham and her dam just cow, a general purpose cow.

Coming home, I go out to the barn and look over the mothers there, and stop before an old mother, and a feeling of sadness comes over me, for if I follow the teachings of my distinguished teacher, I must bid her goodbye. She looked at me so kindly, I thought perhaps it would be as well to talk with her about it, and I told her about being down to Are Alike Relieved and Cured by the Dairymen's Convention, and a man there had said she was "no good," and I thought perhaps she would have to go, but believing opportunity to be heard in their own behalf, DR. CHASE'S of I would let her make her speech. And with such a look as she gave me, full of gentle reproof, she said: "So I have got to go; well, perhaps it is as well, but thank the Lord, I can go for beef instead of bologna, (slightly sarcastic), but before I go I want to say, I have lived with you twelve years last spring; my mother was old Bess, and she was twenty when she died, and you remember at the fair, the year I was born, she took first premium as the best dairy cow, and gave sixty pounds of milk in twenty-four hours, and gave the same amount each twenty-four hours for seven days, and she made that milk herself, and 'twant pumped into her with a bicycle pump either." Say don't get excited. "Well, who wouldn't get excited I'd like to know, when a fellow from Wisconsin gives me such a roast.

When I was twenty months old, a little daughter was given me, and each year since I have come in profit, and you know what I have done. For several years with a lot of fancy flat land cows, with jaw-breaking names, we did pretty well making cheese, but when you sold the milk to the shipping station it was different. You ought to remember the day you came home and come out here and sat down beside me, and cried; yes, cried because they said you put water in your milk; and that same day a man came along selling that little machine where the bottles go round, and he said he did not believe you ever did such a thing as put water in your milk, and you told him it was pretty tough on an old man who prided himself on furnishing pure clean milk, to have them say such things. He told you if you would keep him over night he would test the milk for you. And that night he put a little milk in the bottles from ten of us, and the bottles went round, and I was there; 4 3 10 per cent. he said I stood, and some of those wax figures were only 1 3-10. Say, your eyes were opened, and I heard him say, 'a few such cows will do, but it is only a polite way of watering milk.' What you want he says 'is more Emerald Street, - Woodstock, N. B. like her; patting me on the back. And you I could."

kicked yourself all around the barn, because you had sold my daughters to those specialpurpose fellows, and they brought good prices. Remember the one out of the Durham bull brought $60.00, and you never sold one for less than $50.00. I have only a few words more to say. Go out and ask the best dairy farmers in this dairy county which cows in their dairy are the best for them making milk to sell to the shipping station or butter factory. Ask them if those best cows ever failed to produce a full time living calf, and ask them if they have stood the test of quality, bottles and all, and I will rest content with their verdict. And another thing, perhaps you better look over the cows that are failures, that die, yes, die producing their young, and abort; whose calves that have cost you one hundred dollars each, go wrong entirely or are only one hundred and fifty pound cows, and see if they are all general purpose cows. And with a look of contempt she wound up by saying. If what he said was true about like producing like, etc., just ask him what is the matter with me. And now I am done, and if you think it is right to let me go, I will stop giving milk. You feed me all the grain I can eat, for six weeks, and I will trade myself off for fifty dollars and you can pay the taxes."-Correspondence to Hoard's Dairyman.

Business is Business.

Mr. Pecksniff's wife was wrathy. She flew into the bedroom and without any introductory remarks said,-

"William, I'd like to know where our house-girl gets all the fine clothes she's been wearing here of late?" Her tone was commanding. She appeared to want no trifling. Her husband answered coldly,-

"Wife, that is clearly the house-girl's own

"William," said Pecksniff, "we can't afford to be indifferent about this matter. All the neighbours are talking about it."

"That's their business," replied Mr. Peck-"Well", said Mrs. Pecksnift indignantly,

"if you don't speak to her about it, William, I'm going to myself."

"That's your business," said Mr. Peck-

Mrs. Pecksniff burst into tears. Between

"William, I hate to tell you, but the people are saying that you gave Bridget her clothes. Oh William, William, what do you Second Hand think of that?"

Mrs. Pecksniff's misery was complete when her husband without the least sign of emotion replied, -

'That's my business."-Silas Xavier Floyd, in December's Lippincott's.

LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Thousands of mothers feel grateful to Dr. Chase because this great medicine has been the means of saving a darling child when frantically struggling for breath-a victim of

It also frees the asthma sufferer from the dreadful paroxysms which cause him such keen agony and cures asthma, as has been proven in a hundred cases.

The effects of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine are both thorough and farreaching, and it cures when ordinary cough medicines have little or no effect.

From childhood to old age this great treatment for ailments of the throat and lungs stands as a guard which prevents coughs and colds from reaching the lungs and developing inco pneumonia and consumption.

Mrs. A. A. Vanbuskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N. B., states:-

"For years I have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for my children whenever they take cold. I used it first with a severe form of asthma. We have never tried anything in the way of a cough medicine that worked so satisfactorily. It seemed to go right to the diseased parts and brought speedy relief.'

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is sold by all dealers at the advertised price 25 cents a bottle, family size (three times as much) 60 cents. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle.

An Obedient Boy.

"Did you deliver my message to Mr. Smith?" asked the merchant, who had sent his office-boy on an errand.

"No, sir; he was out, and the office was locked up. "Well, why didn't you wait for him, as I told you?" The practical boy, says stray stories, had his reason ready.

WOODSTOCK RANGE.

The Methodist Parsonage, Jacksonville, Carleton Co., N. B., Oct. 11th, 1902

Messrs. Small & Fisher, Wooodstock: Gentlemen, -- After upwards of thirty years experience with a large variety of cook stoves, none has ever given the satisfaction derived from your "Woodstock". It is a perfect heater and baker, keeps the water tank hot day and night, with less fuel than any stove we have ever had in our parsonages.

JOHN C. BERRIE. Yours faithfully, P. S.—I kept the fire going night and day from the 1st of October to the end March with less than five cords of hardwood. -J.C B.
