TAMING OF WYATT EARP.
Done at Dawson By a Mounted Policeman.
Since Wyatt Earp, once famous as a gun fighter in Arizona and California, went up into the Klondike very little has been heard of him by the outside world. The last exploit that brought him into prominence was his decision in the Sharkey-Fitzsimmons prize fight in San Francisco, when he gave the fight to Sharkey on an alleged foul. For some years before that he had been quite an orderly citizen for one of his reputation as a gun fighter.
From the stories that have drifted down from the Klondike in the last few weeks, it appears that Earp has resumed a favorite trick of his, known in the west as shooting up the town. He was much addicted to it in the old lawless days of Arizona and California.

Earp was never a man who could easily be tamed, consequently a story told of his suppression a few weeks ago by a diminutive cockney member of the Canadian mounted police will be interesting to some of his friends here.
Earp drifted into Dawson several months ago full of a determination to get action, said a San Francisco man to some of Earp's old western friends the other night. "Civilization, policemen and progress generally knocked out Earp's gun-fighting game in the United States some years ago, and, like Bat Masterson and a few other relics of the old days, he had been quite orderly and well behaved for some years.

But when he got to Dawson he found a settlement like the places in which he made his reputation as a bad man many years ago. He found men carrying guns around in their belts and getting drunk and shooting people who happened to displease them, and it gave him the fever to get back into the game in which he was an adept in the days gone by.
So Earp discarded his store clothes, got himself a flannel shirt, a pair of leather trousers and a sombrero, stuck a gun in his belt, loaded up on bad whiskey and went around the saloons and faro banks ballyragging everybody who would stand for his game, and taking a few shots at some man who resented it. There were a number of bad men in Dawson who were sufficiently awed by Earp's reputation to stand for him, and for a week he had things pretty much his own way.

Well, the fact that Earp was hitting it up got to the ears of a little five-foot cockney member of the Canada mounted police, one of whose duties it was to see that Dawson behaved itself. Now, Earp didn't know much about the Canada mounted police and the manner of men who compose it.
Therefore when he was interrupted in the gentle amusement of cleaning out a faro bank in Dawson one night by this little chap coming up to him with a request that he give him his gun, he opened his mouth and his eyes very wide, swore a mighty round of oaths and asked the little fellow in riding boots and cap if he wanted to visit hades at once or wait a few hours.

Earp was somewhat surprised when the little fellow simply smiled politely and said: "You must give me the gun or bury it, sir," and extended his hand for the weapon.
Earp swore some more, but not quite so eloquently, for all the while the little man was smiling calmly in his face. Finally, Earp, clean flustered by the situation, pulled his gun from his belt and fired it three times into the ceiling, whereupon the little man, still smiling, said:
"Now, you'll have to bury it or I'll have to take it away from you, sir."

"Take my gun away from me?" roared Earp.
"Exactly," said the little man. "Maybe you doubt I'll do it, sir?"
The witnesses of this colloquy didn't know what to expect from Earp, but they knew what would happen pretty soon if Earp became defiant, because in Dawson people know what to expect from the Canadian mounted police. They knew, too, that this little cockney had squelched every bad man who had ever come into Dawson and they didn't doubt that he would attend to Earp.
A crisis was averted by Earp's putting his gun back into his belt and starting to leave the place. Just as he got to the door the policeman walked over and tapped him on the shoulder.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he said, "but if you come out with a gun in sight tomorrow, I will have to take it away from you."
Earp turned purple with rage, but he had no nerve left when he confronted that politely smiling face. He roared a few oaths back at the amused crowd in the gambling house, and then went to the Golden Lion saloon, where he took a few drinks and proceeded to tell what he would do the next day when the cockney tried to take his gun.
"Why, I'll blow him full of holes," he said.

"Yes," said a listener, "but when you put a hole in him you put a hole in the British Empire, which it will fill with two men. If you kill them, four will take their places. In the end, Earp, you will have the whole British Army here if necessary just to put you out. Better let him alone."
The next day, Earp, very sober and very thoughtful, appeared on the streets of Dawson in the store clothes he came to town with.

Almost the first person he struck was the cockney, who had evidently been waiting for him, prepared to take his gun away if he showed it. As soon as he saw Earp he stepped up very politely and said:
"Thank you, sir," and then turned on his heel.
Earp hasn't been deuce high as a bad man in Dawson since that incident. Incidentally, I might say, if he had elected to mix it up with the cockney he'd be sleeping under an epitaph tonight; for of all the real tough men I ever saw, either for or against law and order, those Canada mounted police are the limit.—N. Heals Inflamed Itching Skin
Cures Eczema, Salt Rheum and Tetter, Leaving the Skin Smooth, Soft and Natural.

Dr. Chase's Ointment
As a means of allaying inflammation, relieving the dreadful itching and healing and curing itching skin diseases, ulcers and eruptions, we believe that we can prove that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the most potent preparation that it is possible to obtain.

So many extreme cases have been cured, so much intense and continued agony has been relieved, and such a host of people have volunteered their evidence in this regard that we challenge anyone to produce like endorsement for any ointment or any ointment or any preparation which is recommended for such diseases.
Dr. Chase's Ointment certainly stands alone, unapproached and unrivalled as a healer of the skin and positive cure for itching skin diseases. From pimples to eczema, from chilblains to ulcers, each and every form of itching skin disease has been cured by this great ointment.

Mr. G. H. McConnell, engineer in Fleury's Foundry, Aurora, Ont., states: "I believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth its weight in gold. For about thirty years I was troubled with eczema, and could not obtain any cure. I was so unfortunate as to have blood poison, and this developed into eczema, the most dreadful of skin diseases.

"I was so bad that I would get up at night and scratch myself until the flesh was raw and flaming. The torture I endured is almost beyond description, and now I cannot say anything too good for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has cured me and I recommend it because I know there is nothing so good for itching skin."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is known in almost every community. Ask your neighbors about it. There is probably a marked cure at your door which you can investigate. The cures made by this preparation will stand investigation; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

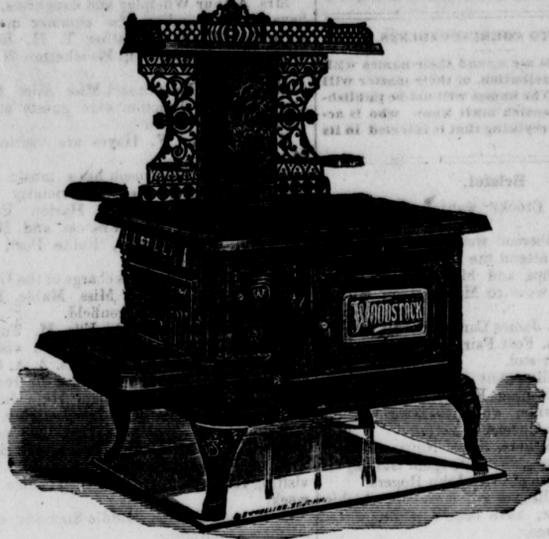

Girl Who Attracts.
She is neat and a picture of harmony in gowning.
Her belt doesn't swear at her collar, nor are both on bad terms with her hat.
Her dress is smart and business-like for the office.
But for the festive occasions, she is as dainty and fluff and picturesque as can be desired.

She is always sunny and good-natured.
But she is not inane.
She is cheerful and sympathetic.
She has a wholesome sense of humor.
But she can be witty without hurting people's feelings thereby.
She is not morbid or melancholy, and her stock of philosophy enables her to put the blues to the rout.
You see her very day, on the streets, in the shops, a generous, sensible, cheery, whole-souled girl. And you like her and are cheered by her if you but buy a spool of thread from her.

HEALTHY, HAPPY BABIES.
Every mother most earnestly desires to see her little ones hearty, rosy and full of life. The hot weather, however, is a time of danger to all little ones, and at the very first symptom of uneasiness or illness, Baby's Own Tablets should be given. It is easier to prevent illness than to cure it, and an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets will keep little one healthy and happy. If sickness does come, there is no other medicine will so quickly cure the minor ills of babyhood and childhood—and you have a guarantee that it contains no opiate or poisonous stuff. Mrs. John Nall, Petersburg, Ont., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets and find them a superior remedy for troubles of the stomach and bowels. From my own experience, I can highly recommend the Tablets to other mothers."
Mothers should always keep these tablets in the house, ready for any emergency. Sold by medicines dealers or sent postpaid at 25 cents a box, by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

George Washington had barely fallen into a doze when his trusty aid awakened him. "Pardon, excellency, but you have already slept here three and one-fourth minutes." "True," murmured the Father of his Country. "Let us go on to the next." Forthwith they trekked down the road, for the great man was determined to leave to his countrymen the largest possible number of roofs under which he had slept.—New York 'Sun.'

Gentlemen,—After upwards of thirty years experience with a large variety of cook stoves, none has ever given the satisfaction derived from your "Woodstock". It is a perfect heater and baker, keeps the water tank hot day and night, with less fuel than any stove we have ever had in our parsonages.
Yours faithfully,
JOHN C. BERRIE.
