

THANKSGIVING.

HOW TO CARVE THE TURKEY:—Insert the carving fork at the small end of the breast bone plunging it down so as to gain good command. First cut off the legs at the second joint; then the wing on the side farthest from you. Tip the turkey from you and take off the leg and wing from the side toward you. Next carve thin slices from each side of the breast; then remove the wish bone from the carcass, cut through the ribs first on one side then on the other. With a quick turn of the knife divide the front or breast from the back of the carcass. Now remove the fork which has not been withdrawn from first to last. Divide the second joint from the drum stick and make two pieces of each. Then divide the back lower and upper half at the second rib joint. The turkey is now ready for serving.

A Narrow Escape.

A railway accident that might have had fatal results occurred early last Thursday morning near Cotterell siding between Woodstock and McAdam. A special train of 15 or 16 flat cars loaded with stone, and a caboose pulled out of Cotterell about 1:30 in the morning. It was the intention to run to Woodstock and lay over till the next day when the stone would be taken to its destination up the line.

When only a short distance out of the siding one of the large stones fell off between the rails and derailed the caboose which turned clear over and caught fire. The occupants, Conductor William Davis and Brakeman Harry Murphy, were badly bruised and some what dazed. They hardly know how they got out of the burning car and as it was they made their escape barely in time to save their lives.

A Parlor Concert.

An entertainment of unusual attraction will be given at the home of Mr. Alexander Dunbar, sr. Friday evening, November 25th. The proceeds will be devoted towards the Organ Fund of St. Paul's church.

Lord Milner, who recently resigned his post as British high commissioner for South Africa, has been described by his friends as "an architect of empire," because of his achievements in organizing the British dominions in Africa. The friends of the Boers have less pleasant things to say of him. But whether one approves or disapproves what he has done, all admit his great abilities. He is one of the few brilliant students whose success in college has continued in after life. He was a bookish youth. It too often happens that a young man who buries himself in his books in school fails to get the education which comes from close contact with his fellow students in their sports and social life, and consequently is handicapped when he comes to deal with men in the world at large. But this man, of whom one of the college officers said, "Milner is the finest flower of human culture which Oxford has produced in our time," was a brilliant exception to the rule. He retires now, broken in health because of too close application to the task of building an empire.

Fatal Accident.

A very sad accident occurred at one of Lynch's lumber camps in the Miramichi district on Saturday afternoon at about 3 o'clock. One of the choppers in felling a tree called to his swamper to look out that his tree did not fall in his direction. The young man started straight out from the falling tree and the chopper thought he had escaped and gone to the yard not far distant. A few moments after while he was limbing the tree he was startled to see the unconscious body of his swamper beneath him. He was carried to the camp three miles distant where a team was ready to start for the clearing. Two men were sent ahead to have the doctor at Foreston when they arrived, but the young man died on the way. The sad news was wired on to Nelson to the parents of the ill-fated man whose name was James Gorman, of Nelson, N. B. He left his home two weeks ago for his first winter in the woods. He was about nineteen or twenty years of age. Dr. Somerville found upon examination that his skull had been crushed. He never regained consciousness. The remains were sent to Bristol station and on to Nelson on Monday.

The Hospital.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Carleton County Hospital on Saturday afternoon at Mrs. W. B. Belyea's the following officers were appointed for the year:—Mrs. T. F. Sprague, president, Mrs. F. H. J. Dibblee, treasurer, and Mrs. R. B. Jones, secretary.

At a joint meeting of the Trustees and Ladies' Auxiliary, it was decided to call a meeting of the ladies who are interested in the Hospital to consider matters of an important character at the residence of the President, Mrs. Sprague.

MANUAL TRAINING.

Provincial Normal School.

A special course of preparation for Manual Training teachers is announced to commence on Jan 9, 1905, and the Director begs to call the attention of teachers to the desirability of taking advantage of it.

A demand exists for male teachers of Woodwork in Manual Training Departments; also for teachers of either sex, who are able to give instruction in country schools having an equipment for Manual Training on a small scale.

The liberal grants now being offered to teachers of Manual Training should lead some of our enterprising teachers to take up this branch of school work which is rapidly becoming such an important part of our educational system.

In addition to this special course in Woodwork etc., short courses in paper-folding, colour-work, cardboard work, etc., may be taken at any time.

Information as to any of the courses may be obtained from the Director of Manual Training, Mr. T. B. Kidner, Fredericton, to whom early application should be made.

The Consolidated School at Kingston.

The Consolidated School at Kingston, Kings County, was formally opened under happy auspices last Wednesday.

Among the prominent gentlemen present were Premier Tweedie, Prof. Robertson, Dr. Inch Chief Superintendent of Education, Mr. John Brittain Instructor in Nature Study, Dr. G. U. Hay, Editor of the Educational Review, of St. John. The exercises were presided over by D. W. Hamilton M. A., principal of the School.

There are about 160 children attending the school and a staff of seven teachers, three females and four males. These 160 children are gathered from seven separate school districts by seven vans which call for them in the morning and take them home again at night.

Besides these vans there are a number of private teams engaged to bring these children who live on the side roads.

The educational department when the idea of those consolidated schools was first talked of, chose Kingston as the site for the first because in this district the greatest difficulties are to be met and overcome. So far the scheme has worked without a hitch and there seems no reason why the consolidated schools should not succeed.

One very important department which Prof. Robertson expects to have running by January is the domestic science class. In this class the girls will learn to cook. The vegetables to be used will be raised in a garden on the school ground to be cared for by the boys. Prof. Robertson thinks that when this department is running he will be able to supply the children lunches at the rate of three cents a head.

This is the kind of school we hope to see established in the near future at Florenceville.

Bengough.

Bengough was in the opera house last Friday night. The audience was large and of the right sort. Bengough introduced himself with a burlesque on the introductory remarks of the average presiding functionary. It was horribly true to life and he had his audience in good humor right away. He lectured on the artistic possibilities of the letters of the alphabet and of the geometric forms and illustrated the lecture by a series of intensely funny pictures, drawn with great skill and rapidity. Some one has said of Bengough that "he talks while he draws. He is equally at home with his hands or his mouth, which is regarded as a great feat." During the evening he made pictures of a few men who live in Woodstock. One or two men left the opera house after the performance impressed with the idea that they weren't nearly as handsome as they used to think they were. Mr. Bengough is an interesting talker and a clever cartoonist and there is no venom in his tongue nor in his crayon.

Dressing for Your Husband.

This is a thing which many women, who are indeed really fond of dress, never think of doing, not after, say, the first year of married life. Before they were married, or even engaged, they never missed a chance of looking nice in the eyes of these men who are now their husbands, but this is past and gone, and though at present the most admirable of wives and mothers doubtless, they will dress for anyone except their husbands. They would not have their neighbors see them untidy; they will not venture out save in irreproachable attire, but at home—well, anything will do, or they think it will. But this is a great mistake, and is of a piece with many mistakes which wives make, and one from which the too frequent cooling of marital love results. Alas! that too many women make nets to catch their husbands and not cages to keep them in! A wife should have more respect for her husband and herself than to appear untidy and slovenly in his eyes, however early the breakfast. There should always be time to dress properly and neatly. And though due economy necessitates the keeping of out-of-door garments and the newest and best things for the time when she takes walks abroad, yet she should always provide something pretty and pleasing. It needn't cost much for home wear. Curling pins and general untidiness are not calculated to retain any man's admiration, and the wife who wilfully undermines this in her husband is but a foolish woman.

Health For Baby.

Babies that are well, sleep well, eat well, and play well. A child that is not lively, rosy-cheeked and playful, needs immediate attention, or the results may be serious. Give an unwell child Baby's Own Tablets and you will be astonished how soon he will be bright and playful. For diarrhoea, constipation, simple fever, indigestion, colic, and teething irritation, these tablets have absolutely no equal. They do not stupefy the child as poisonous "soothing" medicines do—they go to the seat of the trouble and cure him. Mrs. E. Bancroft, Deerwood, Man., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for stomach and bowel troubles, for simple fevers and teething and I think them the best medicine in the world." You can get these Tablets at any drug store, or by mail at 25 cents a box by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Wise mothers always keep the Tablets in the house to guard against a sudden illness of little ones.

Mistakes.

- 1—To set up our own standard of right and wrong, and judge people accordingly.
- 2—To measure the enjoyment of others by our own.
- 3—To expect uniformity of opinion in this world.
- 4—To look for judgement and experience in youth.
- 5—To endeavor to mould all dispositions alike.
- 6—To look for perfection in our own actions.
- 7—To worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied.
- 8—To refuse to yield in immaterial matters.
- 9—To refuse to alleviate, so far as lies in our power, all that which needs alleviating.
- 10—To refuse to make allowances for the infirmities of others.
- 11—To consider everything impossible that we can't perform.
- 12—To believe only what our own finite minds can grasp.
- 13—To expect to be able to understand everything.
- 14—To live for time alone, when any moment may launch us into eternity.
