

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., NOV. 30, 1904

Jacksonville.

The chicken supper, held at the residence of Mr. Walter Mott, on Tuesday last, was a grand success. A sumptuous supper was served to over one hundred guests including a number from Woodstock, Waterville and Victoria Corner. Music was furnished by local singers and recitations by Mr. B. M. McLeod Woodstock. The proceeds amounted to nearly fifty dollars which goes for repairs on the Baptist parsonage.

Miss Anna Hamilton spent Sunday in our village.

Miss Mary London of Bloomfield spent Thanksgiving with her friends in this place. Mr. James Watson is reported to be on the sick list.

The many friends of Mrs. Brock Vail will be pleased to hear that she is slowly improving from her illness and hope for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Stevens was the guest of Mrs. E. Estey over Sunday.

Andover.

Miss Jennie Bull, of Woodstock, is nursing her aunt, Mrs. C. M. Tibbitts, who, we are glad to hear, is slowly, but surely improving.

Mrs. Howard of Boston, spent a few days with her father, Mrs. D. H. Armstrong.

Miss Ethel Armstrong entertained a few friends on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Waite, and the Misses Waite were over to Fort Fairfield on Tuesday to attend the wedding of Miss Amy Libby to Mr. Horace Buxton. Mrs. Bertha Waite and Miss Mae Waite also attended the wedding.

Dean Partridge gave a very interesting lecture on West Minister Abbey on Wednesday evening which was largely attended. The Rev. Mr. Bedell is trying to arrange to have a series of lectures here this winter. It is to be hoped that he will succeed, as all were greatly pleased with this, the first.

Mrs. G. W. Murphy and Perley Miles were over to Fort Fairfield on Saturday.

Jas. E. Porter & Son are preparing to complete their new store, also to finish the part over the store into a public hall.

It is commencing to look like Christmas by the appearance of the stores.

The work on the Baptist church which was in charge of Joseph Vandine, of Centreville, has been discontinued for the winter.

Miss Ethel Baird, of Woodstock, is visiting at Senator Baird's.

The Baptist parsonage has been moved, a cellar put under it and an ell built at over $400.00 expense and it is now occupied by R. W. Demmings and family. On the evening of the 20th a goodly number of members and friends of the Baptist church waited upon them, and left them considerably richer in the necessities of life.

Mr. Fred Estey spent Sunday at Senator Baird's.

Mrs. A. J. Beveridge has returned from Caribou.

The child of Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Craig, of Perth, who has been seriously ill is now considered out of danger.

Mrs. D. B. Hopkins, of Aroostook Junction, is on a visit to Presque Isle.

Mrs. T. H. Manzer is improving slowly. Her sister, Mrs. Robert Perry, of Plymouth, Carleton County, is visiting her.

Mr. James Bridges who has been visiting in Boston has returned and is now with his son, Jonathan, at Aroostook Junction.

East Florenceville.

Mr. Dole is moving into Smith's building at the corner of the bridge.

We are glad to report that H. W. Burnham is able to be out again.

The members of the I. O. F. held their annual supper in Jamiesons hall last Saturday night.

A dance and supper at Florenceville was well patronized by people from this side last Wednesday night.

The stores are commencing to fill up for the Xmas season.

Mrs. Burnham store which has been vacant since last winter is to be opened up before Christmas.

Centreville.

An accident which might have proved fatal happened in the Sherwood Mill on Saturday last. A young son of Rev. Mr. Freeman being in the mill with a number of other boys, stepped upon the elevator and on arriving at the upper floor seemed to get bewildered and did not get off but went up to the top where he was caught in the frame work stopping the elevator which squeezed the life almost out of him. As soon as the foreman was made aware of the fact the mill was stopped and the boy rescued. When taken from his perilous position he had turned purple to his waist and blood was running from his mouth nose and ears. He was taken to the office of Dr. Peppers where he revived somewhat and at last account strong hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Mr. Beatty the Evangelist continues his service this present week in the Methodist church where he invites all who wish to labour for the up lifting of men. There seems to be much interest in these services, and a large number of new speakers have testified and people come from Bristol, Lakeville, Bloomfield, Tracy Mills and Knoxford to the meetings.

Charles Cliff and his son Fred, left here on Tuesday of last week for the hunting grounds and returned on Thursday bringing with them two very fine moose with heads that would seem to be of much value. The heads will be sent to the United States.

Scott Emery has sold his farm to John Smith and will remove to Rhode Island in the near future.

Gordon Hovey is finishing his house outside by a new coat of clapboards and paint which adds much to its appearance.

David Reid has had the electric lights put into his house and barn which no doubt will prove a great convenience.

The Episcopal Parsonage has been re-painted excepting roofs, which will likely receive attention in the early spring.

THE PASTRY that took First Prize at the Nova Scotia Exhibition was made of

We were very sorry to hear of the death of Mr. and Mrs. John Ivey's daughter who died of congestion of the lungs.

What The Net Was For.

The cadi at Bagdad had been in his youth a fisherman, and, to keep himself in mind of his humble origin, there was always spread upon his dinner table a huge fishing net.

People admired the cadi for this exhibition of humility. He was rich, and his house was sumptuous. But, amid all that elegance, the net, the sign of the man's lowly birth, was always prominently displayed.

The story of the net spread through the city, and finally reached the ears of the Caliph. He, in due time, sent for the cadi, took him into his favor, and made him his Grand Vizier.

"Thus," said Haroun al Raschid, "we reward humility."

"From the day of his appointment the Grand Vizier ceased to exhibit his fishing net. It disappeared, and it was never spoken of."

"Once, though, a visitor, a man of considerable impudence, said to the Vizier:

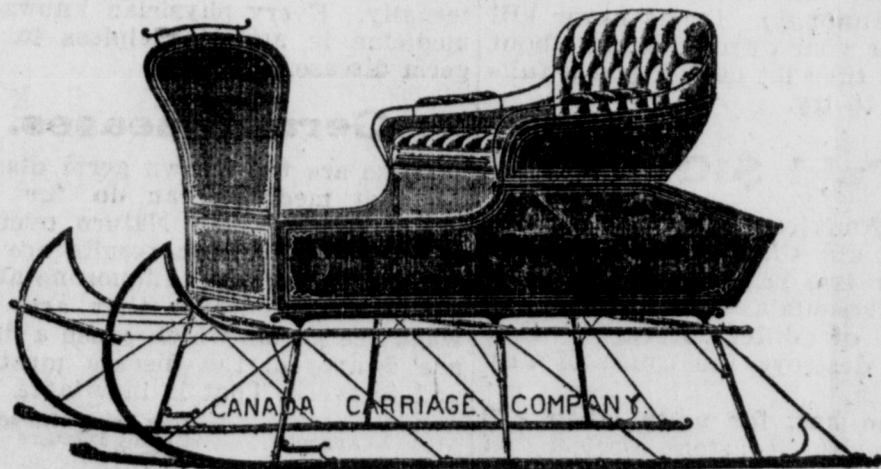

"Why is it, my lord, that your net is no longer spread upon your table?"

"The Vizier smiled and quietly replied:

"It has caught the fish."

Prof. Robertson's Retirement.

There are few men in whom the spirit of enthusiastic public service is so highly developed as it is in Prof. Robertson; there is probably no one man who has done so much towards developing the British end of our export trade in food products with the Mother Country. His resignation of the office of Commissioner of Agriculture would, therefore, under certain circumstances, be little short of a national misfortune. Happily, however, Prof. Robertson has developed a department which can carry on the work to which he gave ten of the best years of his life, and in his new sphere, as head of a college of agriculture, for Quebec, which promises to be an improvement even on that of Ontario, and in developing his ideas in connection with rural Public school work, he may do more for Canada in the next decade than he has accomplished in the last.

Hard to be Identified.

A stranger came into an Augusta bank the other day and presented a check for which he wanted the equivalent in cash.

"Have to be identified," said the clerk. The stranger took a bunch of letters from his pocket all addressed to the same name as that on the check.

The clerk shook his head. The man thought a minute and pulled out his watch, which bore the name on its inside cover.

Clerk hardly glanced at it. The man dug into his pockets and found one of those "If-I-should-die-to-night-please-notify-my-wife" cards, and called the clerk's attention to the description, which fitted to a T.

But the clerk was still obdurate. "Those things don't prove, anything," he said. "We've got to have the word of a man that we know."

"But, man, I've given you an identification that would convict me of murder in any court in the land."

"That's probably very true," responded the clerk, patiently, "but in matters connected with the bank we have to be more careful."—Pittsburgh Index.
