Bath.

St. Patrick's day will be long remembered in Johnville. Everybody and his wife turned out with the traditional sprig of green conspicuous in their breasts in honor of the feast.

The largest congregation so far this year assembled to hear mass and listen to an eloquent panegyric of the great apostle of Ireland from Father Dollard.

In the evening the handsome new hall, which is already christened "Tara," was packed to the doors, and an enthusiastic audience cheered to the echo the performers in the drama, Erin go Bragh. The acting was decidedly above the average for amateurs, and showed the careful and finished training of Father Dollard. That the South Road Dramatic Club have covered themselves with glory is the verdict. They certainly deserve the highest credit, especially when it is borne in mind that the text of the play is rather poor, and all the "business" consequently had to be originated. Messrs. Hall, Mahoney, Byrne, Commins, and Mrs. Colton composed the orchestra, with C. F. Gallagher in charge of the stage. Handsomely printed souvenirs were distributed. The proceeds go to the building fund. Following is the cast:

Squire Donnell.....P. Brennan.
Bartie Brannigan.....P. Gorey.
James O'Brien.....M. Mahoney.
Phil O'Connor.....John Cronin.
Terry Murphy.....Will McLaughlin.
Margaret Donnelly.....E. Maddox.
Blanche Flynn.....Mrs. W. McLaughlin.
Alice Gorman.....Mary Kelly.
Old Nancy.....Kate Keenen.
Scene—The Walsh Mountains. Time '48. "The Risen" o' The Moon."

"Ould Ireland you're my jewel sure,
My heart's delight and glory.
Till time shall pass his empty glass
Your name is shined in story.
And this shall be the song for me,
The first my heart was larnin',
From Dublin Bay to Cork's own Cove,
Ould Ireland you're my darlin'."

After the play there was dancing, which was greatly enjoyed and at intermission time were served "cake, coffee and the pies that mother makes." It was great altogether.

Centreville.

La grippe is fearfully prevalent here and in fact every where in this section. At Knoxford there is scarcely a house without some one sick in it. At Williamstown, Long Settlement, and Tracy Mills the same condition prevails. Winnie, daughter of Postmaster L. B. Clark of Centreville is very low. The doctors are kept very busy and the scant attendance in the churches Sunday told only too plainly of the great number kept at home on account of sickness.

Teams are engaged hauling lumber and stone for the building committee of the Baptist church.

Some youths from Williamstown made themselves very conspicuous on Saturday night by filling up full with doctored bug juice and making the night hideous by yelling shouting and by the use of vulgar and profane language to the great annoyance of the people of this village, especially those who were confined to their homes by sickness. Surely every one who has any aspirations to manhood should ponder well before making such an exhibition of himself, and his regrets should be life long, for such an act once committed.

Mr. Stephenson and Miss Orchard spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives and friends at Avondale and Jacksontown.

Rev. J. A. Cahill and wife were in the village Monday.

A great many people rejoiced on Saturday at the prospect of rain as the water is so scarce that in some places the greatest difficulty is experienced in getting water for the farm stock.

A number of those who saw great wealth ahead by taking unto themselves houses and lands across the border, in the prosperous days, are now considering ways and means to again possess themselves of the homes here that they valued so lightly.

Mr. Charles Long has again sold his farm at Good's Corner to John A. Good and Mr. Rideout of the same place who sold to Samuel Anderson, now thinks he made a mistake in selling.

Basil Trafford has rented a store at the boundary and ordered a stock of goods and will hereafter cater to the wants of the public.

James Bradley has made some real estate deals of late which he considers are of much value to himself.

The traveller for Connell Bros., Woodstock, was in the village a few days ago and made arrangements with H. J. Clarke to keep a stock of the goods manufactured by that firm at Centreville. This will be a decided advantage to the public as there is a great demand for them among the farmers in this part of the county.

Mrs. H. J. Clark is confined to her bed with gripe.

A little boy stranger has come to be company for Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Niles. Mr. Niles laughs gleefully over the prospect of the new companionship.

The Rev. Joseph Cahill delivered his lecture on Temperance in the Upper Waterville Church on Thursday evening. The audience numbered about one hundred.

The concert given by the young people of Waterville in Tilley's hall on Saturday night was a grand success. The hall was packed from the stairway to the stage; over two hundred persons were present. ## The Evils of Imitation.

Success breeds imitation.

Let a clever designer create a new hat or shoe or coat—and it is copied by every petty maker in the country.

Fit-Reform styles, Fit-Reform garments, Fit-Reform Wardrobes, are imitated. And the imitators' sole claim to popularity is that the imitations are "just as good" as Fit-Reform. NEVER BETTER—only "just as good."

Fit-Reform originates and creates styles—garments—methods.
