

THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.

If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

Too Busy to Work.

The luxury of physical inactivity appears to be fully appreciated in the South, writes Mr. Bradford Torrey in "Nature's Invitation"; and as an illustration, he tells of a walk he took near Miami, Florida, and of a conversation he overheard.

I was walking away from the city at a rather brisk pace one morning, when I passed a lonesome shanty. A white man sat upon the rude piazza, and another man and a boy stood near.

"Are you going to work today?" asked the boy of the occupant of the piazza.

"No," was the answer, quick and pithy.

"Why not?"

"I ain't got time."

I do not expect to hear the philosophy of indolence more succinctly and pointedly stated if I live a thousand years.

Cheering Him Up.

"Ye-es," Mr. Billings said, reluctantly, in reply to his friend's remark that Mrs. Joyce was "an awfully sweet little woman." "So cheerful! Always sunny; always looking on the bright side!" Billings' friend continued, enthusiastically.

"There's such a thing as overdoing that 'bright side' business," said Billings. The other night I was up there and Joyce—you know how absent-minded he is?—put the lighted end of his cigar in his mouth. He jumped three feet, and was a little noisy for a minute. Right in the midst of it all Mrs. Joyce smiled blandly, and said:

"How fortunate you were, dear, to discover it at once!"

Henry James, at a dinner in Boston, talked about criticism. "It is never wise," he said, "to take up a work in order to put it down. If there is nothing good in a work, why waste one's time discussing it? As for criticisms that are pure and simple attacks, such criticisms are amusing, perhaps, but they are cruel. Silence, it seems to me is criticism cruel enough. What, for instance, could have been crueler than Rossini's silent criticism of a score sent to him by a young musician? Rossini was fond of macaroni. The musician, knowing this, sent him, along with his score, a packet of macaroni of unusual excellence. In a humble little note he asked the composer to point out the merits in his work, if he found any there. Rossini's reply ran like this: 'Thanks for your score and for the macaroni. The latter was excellent.'"

"We'll dispense with your services, sir," said Mr. Merchant sternly. "I saw you coming out of a saloon today. I told you I'd discharge you for that, didn't I?" "Why, no, sir," replied Gailey; "you said you'd discharge me if you saw me going into one. I think I deserve some credit for coming out."

The stork came. Said the man: "My salary is no larger." Said the woman: "Now I shall be tied down." Said the newspaper: "Mr. and Mrs. B—are rejoicing in the birth of a son."

Economy Has Its Slaves.

People make a mistake who are so bent on saving money that they abstain from all pleasures by the way. Economy is an excellent means of thrift, but thrift is not the first virtue nor the purpose of life. Dread of winding up in the poorhouse is a common torment, and impels us to restrain many longings that otherwise we would indulge; but this fear, when given a free rein, makes misers of persons whose native temperament is generous, and it dries up all the juices of life.

What does a man gain by keeping his nose on the grindstone, year in and year out? How is a man better off who begrudges every dollar not put into the bank than the man who, though making a reasonable provision for his future, squanders a little money now and then, in a wise and temperate way, on traveling or entertaining his friends, or taking a good vacation?

We stay at home and live frugally the greater portion of our lives, and are entitled to a little fling, now and then, at proper intervals and in a proper way, if only for the purpose of pulling ourselves out of the rut. A jog trot is a good, comfortable pace for everyday going, and suited to our natures, but there are times when even the steadiest of nags feels like kicking his heels in the air and longs for the unharnessed freedom of the pasture. At such times why not undo the traces and give him a chance to cavort?

It is easy to fall into the habit of denying ourselves things on the ground that we cannot afford to get them. In many cases we could afford them well enough if we were not unreasonably predisposed to go without the goods of life rather than spend money. Economy, as well as cigarette-smoking when long practiced, enslaves the mind and needs to be checked.

We all know people who, though really well off suffer all the pangs of poverty because they are either saving up for some investment or paying off a mortgage, or striving to lay by a competence in a hurry. They seldom obtain enough. A young married couple buy a new home and resolve that they will rest secure and take a long journey when the mortgage shall be wiped out. Two or three years ago by, the mortgage debt is paid, but they defer the journey and the relaxation until they have set apart five thousand dollars for a rainy day. What if sickness should come? What if the baby should be left an orphan? These questions frighten them. So they save, and they pass the five-thousand mark, forgetting all about their resolution, and are well on the way to ten thousand before they recur to it. About the time when they have ten thousand the husband puts it all into business, and thus the trip is postponed indefinitely. Meanwhile the children have become cares to the mother, and she cannot go away.

At last, one evening, sitting together, the husband and wife suddenly come to a sense of the truth that they have passed the period of youth and are well into middle age, and that they have got very little out of life. They then perceive the folly of working untirely for the future, content to toil and suffer and deny oneself today for a reward that will come many years hence, when one will be too old to enjoy it, even if one be so fortunate as to live until the day of fulfilment.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS SICK?

Let your morning urine stand for 24 hours in a glass or vessel, and then if it is milky or cloudy, or contains a reddish brick-dust sediment, or if particles or germs float about in it, your kidneys are diseased. If the kidneys are well they filter just so much blood, but if they are sick or weak from any cause, they leave the poison in the blood, and this poison affects the entire system.

It is natural to pass urine three times a day, but many who regard themselves as healthy are obliged to pass water six to ten times daily and are obliged to get up frequently during the night. They have sick kidneys and bladder and don't know it. Smith's Buchu Lithia Pills cure Rheumatism and all Kidney and Bladder diseases, and make new, rich blood.

We will send you a generous sample post paid free, together with our large book on the above mentioned diseases. Address, W. F. Smith Co., 185 St. James Street, Montreal, Canada.

We Offer $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquozone Can't Kill.

On every bottle of Liquozone we offer $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. We do this to assure you that Liquozone does kill germs.

And it is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact which gives Liquozone its worth to humanity; a worth so great that, after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights. And we have spent over one million dollars, in one year, to buy the first bottle and give it free to each sick one who would try it.

and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

Liquozone goes into the stomach, into the bowels and into the blood, to go wherever the blood goes. No germ can escape it and none can resist it. The results are inevitable, for a germ disease must end when the germs are killed. Then Liquozone, acting as a wonderful tonic, quickly restores a condition of perfect health. Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield at once to Liquozone, and it cures diseases which medicine never cures. Half the people you meet—wherever you are—can tell you of cures that were made by it.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

Acts Like Oxygen.

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there any alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is an absolutely certain germicide. The reason is that germs are vegetables;

Eczema—Erysipelas
Fever—Gall Stones
Gout—Gout
Gonorrhea—Gleet
Tuberculosis
Tumors—Ulcers
Typhoid
Women's Diseases
All diseases that begin with fever—all inflammation—all catarrhs—all contagious diseases—all the results of impure or poisoned blood. In nervous debility Liquozone acts as a vitalizer, accomplishing what no drugs can do.

WOODSTOCK, N. B.

Logic sometime triumphs over dogma, as is illustrated in the case of a little girl who had been brought up a believer in Christian Science. She was visiting her aunt, a non-believer, and in the course of the afternoon fell down stairs, whereupon she began to cry lustily. "Are you hurt, dear?" inquired the aunt. "No," was the sobbing response. "Then," said the aunt, not without a touch of wicked enjoyment, "why do you cry?" "I'm crying," was the reply, "because I can't feel that I ain't hurt."

A Law

To regulate the measurement, in speculation and sale of certain articles, Be it enacted by the Town Council of the Town of Woodstock, as follows:—

1. All cordwood which shall be brought in to the Town for sale, shall be straight and sound and four feet long, including one half the scraf at each end.

2. All other wood of every kind which shall be brought into the Town for sale, shall be straight and sound.

3. All wood of all kinds and bark brought into the Town for sale, shall be measured by the cord which cord shall be eight feet in length, four feet in breadth and four feet four inches high.

4. The town Council shall from time to time appoint such and so many persons as they may think proper to be measurers or surveyors of wood, bark and lumber, and such surveyors shall be duly sworn to the faithful performance of their duties and shall when required, attend to the performance of the said duties of the office to which they may be appointed, and when duly required to the owner of such wood, bark or lumber, or to the person by whom such measurer or surveyor may have been employed or to the owner or person having charge of such wood, bark or lumber on cord statement in writing of the quantity and quality of the wood, bark or lumber so surveyed; and if any such surveyor of wood, bark or lumber shall refuse such statement or shall give a false or untrue statement he shall for every such offense forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding Five dollars.

5. If any person shall alter any such certificate or statement given by a surveyor of wood, bark or lumber, he shall for each and every offence pay a sum not exceeding Twenty five dollars. Each surveyor of wood, bark or lumber shall be entitled to demand and receive for their services in measuring or surveying the same respectively giving the following rates:— For each load of wood or bark Seven cents.

For each cord of wood or bark when measured upon the ground ten cents per cord for the first five cords, and five cents for each cord in excess of five cords measured at same time.

For every thousand feet of lumber Ten cents.

6. If any person shall sell or offer for sale within the Town any wood without first producing a certificate of the scale of such wood or bark signed by the duly appointed surveyor of wood, bark or lumber, for the said Town of Woodstock, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty for each and every such offence a sum not exceeding Five dollars.

7. All that portion of the bye-law now in force entitled "A Law" to regulate the measurement, inspection, weighing and sale of certain articles is hereby repealed so far as same relates to the measurement, inspection, and sale of wood, bark or lumber, within the Town.

The foregoing is the by-law relating to the sale of wood in the Town of Woodstock. All persons are requested to take notice of its provisions and govern themselves accordingly.

By Order of Town Council,

J. C. HARTLEY,

Town Clerk,

Woodstock, March 31st 1905.
