Mr. Dooley Talks of Banks and Bankers.

"Well, sir, I've been doin' th' bankers iv this country a gr-rear injustice.

"I've put them down all me life as cold, stony-hearted men that wud as soon part with their lives as with their money. I had a pitcher iv a banker in me mind, a stern, hard-featured ol' gintleman with curly side-whiskers settin' on th' people's money an' stallin' off both th' borrower who comes be night with a dhrill an' th' more rayfined burglar who calls in th' daytime with a good story. I was afraid iv him. I wud no more dare to ask a banker to take a dhrink or shoot th' shoots with me thin I wud an archbishop. If I talked to wan iv him, I'd look up all me statements in th' almanac an' all me wurruds in th' dictionary to see that I got nawthin' wrong.

"An' I made a mistake about him. Far fr'm bein' a hard, cynical class, th' bankers iv America is a lot iv jolly dogs that believes in human nature, takes life as it is, aisy come, aisy go, hurrah boys, we'll be a long time dead. Hard to borrow money fr'm him? On th' country, it's hard to keep him fr'm crowdin' it on ye. They'll lend ye money on annything ye shove in, on a dhrum that ye saw a sojer on horseback, on th' sad story iv ye'er life or ye'er wurrud iv honor iv ye'er ready to go back on it. I niver knew what collateral was until this lady fr'm Cleveland come along. Collateral is a misstatement on which bankers lend money. If ye broke into a bank in Ohio to morrah, ye'd probly find th' vaults full iv Louisiana lotthry tickets, bets on th' races an' rayports iv crystal gazing.

"Bankin' is a strange business annyhow. I make up me mind that I need more money than I have, or I want to build a railroad in Omaha or a gas house in Milwaukee, or Mrs. Chadwick wants an autyomobill or something else happens, an' I start a bank. I build a brick house, put ir'n gratings on th' window an' ye an' Donohue fight each other to see who'll get his money first to me. I accept it very reluctantly an' as a gr-rear favor to ye.

"Says I, 'Hinnissy an' Donohue,' says I, 'ye ar re rayspectable wurrakin' men an' I will keep ye'er money fr' ye rather thin see ye spind it in riochous livin',' says I. 'As a gr-rear favor to ye, I will take care iv these lithographs be lendin' thim to me frinds,' says I. 'If ye want th' money back ye can have it anny time between nine in th' mornin' an' three in th' afternoon except Sundays an' holidays,' says I, 'but don't both come at waunst,' says I, 'or nather iv ye'll get it,' says I. Well, ye lave ye'er money with me an' I suppose ye think iv it lyin' safe an' sound in th' big sthron box where th' burglar boys can't get it. Ye sleep bether at nights because ve feel that ye'er money is where no wan can reach it except over me dead body.

"If ye on'y knew, ye've not turned ye'er back before I've chased those hard-earned dollars off th' premises. With ye'er money I build a house an' rent it to start you. I start a railroad with it an' ye wurrud on th' railroad at two dollars a day. Ye'er money makes me a prom'nent citizen. Th' newspapers intherview me on what shud be done with th' tollin' masses meanin' ye an' Donohue; Government; I tell ye how ye shud vote. Ye've got to vote th' way I say or I won't give ye back ye'er money.

"An' all this time ye think iv that little bundle of pitchers nestlin' in th' safe in my brick house with me settin' at th' dure with a shotgun across me knees. But wan day ye need th' money to bury some wan an' ye hurry down to see me. 'Sorry,' says I, 'but I've just given it all to a lady who come out iv th' Chinese laundhray next dure an' said she was the question-abul aunt iv Jawn D. Rockefeller.' An' there ye ar re."

One Newspaper Man's Great Work.

At the dinner given in London to Frederick Greenwood, long the editor of the Pall Mall Gazette and St. James Gazette, tributes were paid to his worth and services by men like John Morley, who presided, Mr. Asquith and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, says the New York World.

When the fate of the Suez Canal hung in doubt in 1875 it was Greenwood who, learning that the spendthrift Ismail Pasha wished to sell his shares secretly, urged the foreign secretary, Lord Derby, to buy them for the government and secure British control. Derby demurred. There were British statesmen who held that the canal would prove a colossal failure. Besides, there was no money available, and to ask for a grant from parliament would reveal the whole plan. Greenwood convinced the hesitating secretary that the emergency justified taking the national consent for granted, and with the approval of the premier, the farseeing Disraeli, the purchase was made. Then Lord Derby, as was humorously told at the dinner, "supposed there was nothing he could do" for Mr. Greenwood. No, there was nothing. At least, said Derby, he might let Greenwood's paper tell the news exclusively. No! better let all the papers have it at once, the journalist replied.

The shares cost England $20,000,000 and are now worth $150,000,000. Far more important, their purchase gave the kingdom control of the water highway between Europe and Asia, and that preponderant interest in Egypt that led to its occupation, to the protectorate, to the defeat of the Mahdists—and, through the recent arrangement with France, to the giving of Great Britain a "free hand" in what is perhaps the most successful and most defensible exploit of colonization in modern times.

A SCHOOL TEACHER ON WHOM TWO OTTAWA PHYSICIANS OPERATED IN VAIN FOR Bleeding Piles

WAS AFTERWARDS COMPLETELY CURED BY USING TWO BOXES OF Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The folly of risking a surgical operation, with its pain, expense and danger, is illustrated in the case of Mr. Lepine, who was cured of bleeding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, after the surgeon's knife had failed.

Mr. Arthur Lepine, school teacher, Granite Hill, Muskoka, Ont., writes:—"I am taking the liberty of informing you that for two years I suffered from bleeding piles, and lost each day about half a cup of blood. Last summer I went to the Ottawa General Hospital to be operated on, and was under the influence of chloroform for one hour. For about two months I was better, but my old trouble returned, and again I lost much blood. One of my doctors told me I would have to undergo another operation, but I would not consent.

"My father, proprietor of the Richelieu Hotel, Ottawa, advised me to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and two boxes cured me. I did not lose any blood after beginning this treatment, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is a permanent one. I gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the best treatment in the world for bleeding piles."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, the only positive and guaranteed cure for every form of piles, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

We Want a Share.

The exodus from New Brunswick to the Canadian West promises to be very heavy this year, heavier, perhaps, than for a long time. The Provincial Government are waking up to the importance of this movement of farmers to the far West, and have been conferring with the Salvation Army leaders, interesting them in bring here a number of desirable English immigrants, who will take up vacant farm land. Some complaint is heard in these Maritime Provinces that all the effort of our Dominion agents in the old Country is directed to securing settlers for the North-West, and that never a word is said on behalf of the older Provinces, although the older Provinces pay the heaviest portion of the bills.—St. John Letter in Monetary Times.

Carleton County S. S. Convention.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., May 5th, 1905.

DEAR FELLOW WORKER,—Permit me to call your attention to the Carleton County Sunday School Convention which opens in the Foresters Hall at Debec Junction on Thursday, May 25th, at 7.30 p. m., and closes Friday evening, May 26th.

Every minister and Sunday school superintendent by virtue of his office is a member of the convention; and each school is entitled to send two delegates. Please see that the names of all delegates are sent to Miss B. May Harron, Debec, not later than May 16th. This will give the committee on entertainment ample time to provide homes for those in attendance. As the convention draws near if any of those whose names have been sent in find that they cannot attend, please advise Miss Harron without delay, and this will greatly facilitate the entertainment committee in their work.

Dr. Bachman, Mr. Tullar, (the music specialist), Rev. J. B. Ganong, travelling secretary, and others will be there; and the committee in charge are using their best efforts to make this the best convention in the history of the county. Carleton stands first in organization in the province. Shall we not raise the standard still higher?

Come prepared to contribute largely to the collections. All good things cost money; and the Sunday school cause is well worthy of support.

Remember the date, May 25th and 26th. Send your names early to Miss Harron. Come in the spirit of prayer and hope and come. ADDIE S. CALDER, County Secretary.

"Well," said the first bank director, "our President is getting to be a fossil. His powers are falling and he has become a good deal of a pennypacker."

"Yes," chimed in the second director, "I've noticed it. We'd better oslerize him before he gets lawsoned or chadwicked."—New York Sun.

Their Hopes

Under the heading of "Americanization of Northwest Canada" The Memphis Commercial Appeal prints a long letter from one John N. Ingram, which concludes:

American immigration to the northwest will continue through future years, and will make its influence felt on Dominion sentiment and its government policy. Such influences will not only develop, but Americanize northwest Canada.

Over 100,000 immigrants from the United States now have homes in northwest Canada. They have become permanent citizens; will remain and rear up families in the Dominion. They have taken their ideas of government, public education, liberty, taxes and other American sentiments with them. These principles they will inculcate in their posterity.

When future occasion or necessity comes for Canadian annexation to the United States, the American Canadian citizens will be heard from and have the deciding voice in determining the question.

Mr. Chamberlain's protection policy will develop one of the granaries of the world, but become an international boomerang and form a republic from the gulf to the Polar seas, whose flag will float from the tropics to the Arctic Circle.

Piracy of a French Humorist.

They still read Byron in France. A humorist relates the artless comment of the "jeune fille," whose father wanted her to marry a wealthy man. "Bat he is so old, papa." "Barely 50." "Yes, but I could love two husbands of 25 so much better!" Very charming, but rather an unblushing theft from the line in "Don Juan": Wedded she was some years, and to a man Of fifty, and such husbands are in plenty; And yet, I think, instead of such a One 'Twere better to have Two of five and twenty.

Applicant—I see you advertised for a floor-walker, sir.

Manager—Yes. Have you had any experience in that line?

Applicant—Two pairs of twins, sir.—Chicago News.

Sunshine Furnace

Don't Shovel Ashes

Not one make of furnace in twenty is supplied with an ash-pan.

Without an ash-pan the ashes must be shovelled into a pail or some other receptacle for removal—means dust in the eyes, ruined clothes, extra work; a dirty disagreeable job—the meanest part of furnace tending.

The Sunshine Furnace has an ash-pan which catches all the ashes, and slides in and out easily. Has two handles for carrying. No shovelling, sweeping or dirt.

This is only one of a dozen good features possessed by the Sunshine Furnace, none of which are found on any other furnace.
