REASON NO 12
WHY YOU SHOULD USE
Red Rose Tea

Because it is Recommended by the Best Grocers.

You will generally find Red Rose Tea in a store which deals in standard brands of high-class goods.

These are the merchants who do not look for goods which give them the largest profit, because it pays them best to sell goods which are the most reliable and give their customers the greatest satisfaction.

Ask a grocer of this kind his opinion of Red Rose Tea—his opinion will be honest, because nearly all other teas pay him a larger profit than Red Rose. He probably uses it in his own house, and will tell you in a very few words why he recommends it.

What Pat Would Do!

Pat had been in the service of a militia officer for a number of years, and was on terms of such intimacy with the soldier that he dared to be witty at his master's expense. The officer one day was discussing the possibility of war with his coachman, and after casting some reflections upon the courage of his retainer he asked:
"Pat, what would you do in case a war did break out?"
Pat thought a moment. "Sure," he said, "O' think O'd shtay at home wid yer honor."

East-End Etiquette.

"Wherever did you get that black eye, Mrs. Hawkins?" said the East End district visitor, as she seated herself on the extreme edge of the least dirty chair in the room.
"It were the result of a triflin' haltercation wiv my 'usband, mum," replied the lady of the house.
"Dear, dear, dear!" cried the visitor, holding up her hands in horror; "how dreadful! What a bad, wicked man your husband must be!"
"Not at all, mum," retorted the other, with dignity. "Awkins is 'asty, but 'e's a puffed gentleman at 'eart. I can assure you that after 'e'd giv' me this black eye 'e sat 'oldin' a cold fryin' pan to it for 'upwards of a hower, a-tryin' to deduce the swellin'. A little haltercation like that goes a long w'y towards makin' marri'd life 'appy, mum, as I dessay you've fahnd yerself."

Much More Powerful.

Professor Smith was once lecturing on natural philosophy, and in the course of his experiments he introduced a most powerful magnet with which he attracted a block of iron from a distance of two feet.

"Can any of you conceive a greater attractive power?" demanded the lecturer, with an air of triumph.

"I can," answered a voice from the audience.

"Not a natural terrestrial object?"

"Yes, indeed."

The lecturer, somewhat puzzled, challenged the man who had spoken to name the article.

Then up rose old Johnny Sowerby.

Said he: "I will give you facts, professor, and you can judge for yourself."

"When I was a young man, there was a little piece of natural magnet done up in a neat cotton dress as was called Betsy Maria. She could draw me fourteen miles on Sunday over plowed land, no matter what wind or weather there was. There was no resistin' her. That magnet o' yours is pretty good, but it won't draw so far as Betsy Maria!"

Guarding the President.

How closely President Roosevelt is guarded by the Secret Service men is indicated by the fact that on January 1, when four or five thousand visitors shook hands with President Roosevelt in the Blue Parlor of the White House, Government detectives, stationed along the line of visitors, gave the orders: "Hands out of your pockets!" and "Hat in your left hand!" These orders were quietly spoken, but they were said so firmly that they were never once disobeyed. The President of the United States will not soon again be put in danger of his life though a man or woman approaching him with extended hand covered by hat or handkerchief and holding underneath a deadly weapon. No person will get the opportunity of shooting at a President through the pocket of a coat or overcoat. The Secret Service will see to that.

A Tender-foot in Nebraska.

Earl Fitzwilliam, the unsuccessful treasure hunter of Cocos Island, has frequently toured the Western States in quest of big game. The young nobleman likes the West, but he dislikes the Western hotels. To a reporter recently he said:

"The high prices and the poor fare of some of your Kansas, Dakota and Nebraska hotels are a blot on the West's escutcheon."

Then he smiled.
"Credit me or not," he said, "but I once found, on the menu of a Nebraska restaurant the item—'Beef and potato, $1.50."

"I was hungry. Therefore I ordered beef and potato. The waiter, after a long delay, brought me a small plate with a small potato on it."

"Waiter," said I, 'this won't do. I called for beef and potato. Here's the potato, but where's the beef?'"

"Under the potato, sir," said the waiter."

No Way to Get Even.

A New York journalist once went down to Atlanta to interview Joel Chandler Harris, says the Outlook. When he told the creator of Uncle Remus that he was going to "write him up" the kindly southerner was immediately reminded of the experience of his old friend, Simon Sugg.

"Simon Sugg," he said, "was an odd old fellow who used to live down state. I knew him well when I was a boy. One day a friend met him.

"Simon," said he, 'do you remember Jim Hooper, that went to school with us down at Monticello?'"

"Jim Hooper? Of co'se I 'member Jim Hooper. Little slim fellow, wa'n't he?'"

"Yaas. Well, Jim's gone and noveled you!"

"Noveled me, hee hee?" said Simon. "Well, ding his hide!"

The office idiot (who is always looking out for bargains) was watching the thermometer go down and down and down during the blizzard on Monday.

"Now's the time to buy thermometers," he said. "They'll never be lower this winter."

"So you are the new girl?" said the teardrop masher in a big building on Yonge street. "What is your name?" "Pearl," said the pretty waitress, "with a saucy toss of her head."

"The pearl of great price, my dear?"

"No, sir; I am the pearl who was cast before swine."

Bright's Disease comes from Neglected Kidneys

Every case of Kidney Trouble leads to greater Bright's Disease if repeatedly neglected. A slight strain—a strain—or injudicious eating, affects the kidneys. They fail to do their work properly. The blood becomes filled with Uric Acid. This poisons the whole system, causing pain in the back and limbs, headaches blurred sight, tired "dragged out feeling," weakness, heart fluttering and finally chronic Bright's Disease.

The Age of Reason.

(New York Tribune)

A public school teacher gives the following experience: "This theory of governing children by appealing to their reason isn't all it's made out to be. I teach in a primary class, and it's my conviction that a youngster actually needs a good spanking once in a while for his health. It does cheer up a child as nothing else will. Here is an instance:

"One of my boys had skipped his classes, deceived his mother, been found out and caused much unhappiness all round. I took him aside and we had a heart to heart talk. Johnny sat still, looking at me intently and seeming to be deeply impressed. I thought that I was making great headway and that my little sermon was surely penetrating Johnny's brain. I never saw a child who seemed so absorbed, even fascinated, by my line of argument. But you never can tell. Just as I had reached the climax in my appeal to his better self, a light of discovery broke over Johnny.

"Say, teacher," he said eagerly, 'it's your lower jaw that's moves, isn't it?'"

"There was nothing else to do so I just pulled him across my knee face downwards, and his moral health and cheerfulness were ever so much better afterwards while I had him in my charge."
