The town council met in the town hall on | this matter. I think the estimate is too Friday evening with His Worship Mayor | large."

Jones in the chair. All the councillors were present.

Councillor Stevens, Chairman of the Finance Committee, reported the result of the interview between that committee and the school trustees. He said that the committee had gone over the accounts for the past fourteen years with the trustees. These requisition by the trustees and the amounts they had been paid. They had been paid $1700.00 less than they had issued requisitions for, and in that sense there was a balance due them of seventeen hundred dollars. The council could not be actually said to owe the trustees that amount, however, for they only had to pay them their proportionate share of the amount collected in taxes.

Mayor Jones: "The only source from which the money to pay the teachers can come is the town itself. It makes little difference whether we or the trustees finance the matter. The chairman of the school trustees told me he would not sign any papers whatever to finance the matter. We had better give the trustees the money and have the teachers paid."

Councillor Nicholson: "I do not think this matter should be any longer delayed. Whether the trustees should finance in this case or not, one thing is clear; the trustees do not suffer by this delay; it is the teachers who suffer."

Councillor Nicholson made the following motion: That the school trustees be paid one thou-

I he went, and business men throughout the certainly do not believe in spending any more money than is required; but unless you make the streets look decent you'll get no Munro, of this town, who will have the credit for the money you do expend. One accounts showed the amounts asked for by thing I will say: we won't spend one cent more than is assessed for."

> Councillor Leighton: "I think it would be a good idea to lay an asphalt walk from the town hall to Noble's corner and to tear up the planking from Sheasgreeu's corner to Payson's corner and gravel it for this year. Increase last year's appropriation by $300 for this work or make the appropriation $1800 in all." This suggestion was finally agreed upon.

Councillor Leighton asked for $2800 for the fire department or an increase of $200 over last year's appropriation. He got it.

Three applications for new sewers were placed before the council. It was decided, upon Councillor Leighton's suggestion, to issue bonds for the construction of these.

The council then proceeded to struggle with the question of the assessors' salaries. Councillor Henderson stated that the chief assessor wanted $300 for his work and that the others wanted $2.25. He said that they did not feel that they could do the work for less. Councillor Leighton claimed that the assessors had agreed to leave the matter of remuneration with the council. He agreed that it would be unwise to agree to pay them $750 before they saw the assessment that had
