REASON No 14
WHY YOU SHOULD USE
Red Rose Tea

Because the quality never varies.

Did you ever use a pound of good tea, and after ordering more of the same brand, find it much inferior?

The Eastern climate changes very rapidly, and for this reason tea planters find it impossible to produce the same quality from month to month—two lots from the same garden are seldom the same quality. This is probably the reason why the tea you got the second time was not as good as the first.

In Red Rose Tea this serious difficulty has been overcome by scientifically blending several teas together, so to always obtain uniform flavor and strength, and this has been one of the greatest triumphs of Red Rose Tea.

The quality never varies—you can rely on getting exactly the same quality of tea as long as you use it.

It is said that the Czar of Russia has $15,000,000 in English securities and that he would, in an extreme crisis, fly and live in England, as other troubled monarchs have done before him. Then he has a second string to his bow in the $6,000,000 invested in American rails, iron and coal. So long as he remains in Russia, however, he draws, according to a French international almanac which was recently suppressed in St. Petersburg, $42,373,600 a year. This does not represent the total income of his family. The swarm of relatives account for a huge sum, the imperial appanages alone representing $10,000,000 a year.

POPULARITY.

Stand still, true poet that you are!
I know you; let me try and draw you.
Some night you'll fall us: when afar
You rise, remember one man saw you,
Knew you, and named a star!

My star, God's glow-worm! why extend
That loving hand of his which leads you,
Yet locks you safe from end to end
Of this dark world, unless he needs you,
Just saves your light to spend?

His clenched hand shall unclose at last,
I know, and let out all the beauty;
My poet holds the future fast,
Accepts the coming ages' duty,
Their present for this past.

That day, the earth's feast master's brow
Shall clear, to God the chalice raising:
"Others give best at first, but thou
For ever set'st our table praising, Keep'st the good wine till now!"
—ROBERT BROWNING.

Household Economy.

Mr. Stringer looked over the back-yard fence and watched the stout Mr. Streeter trying to balance him in a squatting position and pull up garden weeds at the same time. "Streeter," said he, "I've just got back from the city, and I've found out my wife is the most prudent woman in the world."

The other got up and looked round with a face as red as if he had apoplexy. "Hello, Stringer!" he coughed. "What makes you think your wife is so prudent? Has she decided not to buy any more new hats?"

"No, but she took some money I gave her and bought a piano."

"Huh!" snickered Mr. Streeter. "Is that what you call prudence?"

"Wait a bit," Mr. Stringer replied. "As I say, she bought a piano about a week ago. It's a beauty! Has a rosewood case, the handsomest you ever saw. Shines like a new dollar. Polished like a mirror, carved legs, and gives a rich look to the whole house."

"Music inside?" asked the other, dryly.

"Now here's where the prudence comes in," went on Mr. Stringer, disregarding his friend's remark. "I came home last Tuesday and found the piano entirely hidden by a plush cover that hung over on each side like one of those little blankets you see tied on pug-dogs. I told my wife it was a handsome cover, but that it wasn't half so pretty as the wood with its polish and handsome grain. She explained that the wood might get scratched, but that with the cover over it, it would always be just as bright as it is now."

"That was prudence, but—"

"Don't interrupt, Streeter. That isn't all. When I came home to night I found a linen cover over the plush. Of course a brown linen cover may not be ugly, but it isn't to be compared to the plush. So I protested. I said it was a shame to hide that handsome plush affair. My wife answered that the plush cover cost nine dollars and sixty-eight cents, including the initials embroidered in yellow at the corner, and that it seemed to her wasteful to let the dust settle all over a delicate thing of that sort and make it look old and dingy inside a year. She said the linen cover was to protect it. Now that's prudence, unadulterated prudence! But between you and me, Streeter, I've been wondering if it would not have been cheaper to buy the linen cover first—then we shouldn't have needed the plush."

"Or the rosewood piano, either," added Streeter.

Why He Was Not Promoted.

(Success.)

He watched the clock.
He was always grumbling.
He was always behindhand.
He asked too many questions.
His stock excuse was "I forgot."
He wasn't ready for the next step.
He did not put his heart in his work.
He learned nothing from his blunders.
He chose his friends among his inferiors.
He was content to be a second rate man.
He ruined his ability by half doing things.
He never dared to act on his own judgment.
He did not think it worth while to learn how.
He thought it clever to use coarse and profane language.
He imitated the habits of men who could stand more than he could.
He did not learn that the best part of his salary was not in his pay envelope.

Best Rule of Health.

AND HOW YOU ARE AIDED IN CARRY-ING IT OUT BY

KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

"A movement of the bowels every day."
This is the fundamental rule of health.
The one point on which doctors are unanimous.

But what causes the bowels to become constipated?

The inactivity of the liver.
Bile is nature's own cathartic and so long as the liver is active in its work of filtering bile from the blood and passing it into the intestines, there is no danger from constipated bowels.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure constipation by setting the liver right.

This is the only means by which the bowels can be regulated.

Salts and castor oil will effect a motion of the bowels, but, once the effects of the dose passes off, you will be more constipated than ever.

They fail to set the liver right.

By regulating the liver by use of Dr.
Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you ensure a healthful action of the bowels and so prevent and cure scores of ills, such as indigestion, biliousness, constipation, kidney disorders,
colds and contagious diseases.

Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Ed-manson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every

TREATING A SPRAIN.

Perfect Rest and Hot Fomentations the First Requisites.

The question of how to treat a sprain is often raised. Everybody understands the nature of a sprain: that wrenching of a joint whereby some of the ligaments (those very useful bands which unite the bones forming the joint) are violently stretched or perhaps even ruptured. This kind of injury is rarely, except through unusual complications, dangerous in its nature, but it is certainly very painful and when of a serious nature may result in the permanent impairment of the joint. Such an injury, if at all severe, is immediately followed by marked swelling of the parts, and prompt attention should be given anticipating the surgeon's coming. The very first item in the treatment of a sprain is perfect rest of the limb until a doctor can be summoned. Reduce the swelling by applications of hot fomentations as hot as can be endured, changing about once in every three hours. If a piece of oilskin be not at hand use common newspaper. Wind it carefully outside the hot cloth. This will prevent the escape of the steam and prevent the cloth from cooling. A good way to save the hands from being scalded is to place the hot, dripping flannel in a towel, then, taking hold of each end of the towel, to wrap it until the flannel is dry enough to apply.
