The city maiden stands;
The most expensive maid is she,
With rather large demands—
But her dad's a politician, and
Has timber limit lands.

Spring Approaches.

From the Columbia Dispatch.

"Th' small byes will soon stop huntin' fer th' holes in th' oice," said the janitor, "awn begin huntin' fer th' holes in th' baseball fence."

"Abide With Me."

Few people there are who have not at some time in their lives heard and been touched by the words of this beautiful poem.

It was written more than half a century ago, but the pleading sweetness of the words will never grow old. Henry Francis Lyte, the author, was born in Ednam, Scotland, more than one hundred years ago. When he had passed middle life, after having had charge of one church for twenty-five years, his health so far failed that he was admonished to give up his work and seek a milder climate, his charge being in Devonshire, England. After preaching his farewell sermon, and administering the sacrament to his weeping people, he was taken to his little cottage home, where in the evening he composed this matchlessly pathetic and beautiful hymn:

"Abide with me! fast falls the eventide,
The darkness deepens—Lord with me abide."
He felt that he was slowly dying; he had bidden his beloved people good-bye, had partaken of the sacred emblems with them for the last time, and now he was alone with his Father. He died at Nice a few weeks after writing this hymn.—The Christian Herald.

WHEN BABY SMILES.

When baby smiles mother knows he is well and happy. When he is cross, ailing and fretful, she gives him Baby's Own Tablets, and finds that there's a smile in every dose. These Tablets cure all little ailments of childhood, such as indigestion, colic, constipation, diarrhoea, worms and simple fevers. They make teething easy, and promote natural sleep and repose, and are guaranteed not to contain one particle of opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. Mrs. Robt. Dean, Tisdale, N. W. T., says:—"I find Baby's Own Tablets a perfect medicine for little ones, and always keep them in the house." You can get the Tablets from your medicine dealer or by mail at 25 cents a box by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Jarred Love's Dream.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Dear," she cooed, "do you think you can continue to shower candy and flowers and such things upon me after we have been married, in addition to meeting the household expenses?"

"Good gracious!" exclaimed he. "You don't expect that sort of thing to go on after we're married, do you? And me only earning $13 a week! Great jumping Jehosaphat!"
