THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.
If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

Proverbial Philosophy.
(London Punch.)

How much better it is to get wisdom than gold—and how much easier.
Happy is the man who is admired and praised by his fellows—for he is dead.
The pure in heart are slow to credit calumnies, but they sometimes like to hear about them.
A liberal education is considered the best dowry, but $50,000 a year is still rather liked.
The magic of first love is that it goes so soon and is remembered so long.
The consciousness of duty performed gives us music at midnight and so, also, does the man who lives next door.
Nose to ipsum, but don't tell everybody the truth about the thing you know.
If you insist on telling the truth, you may probably shame the devil, but you won't be considered very cheery in society.
Novelty is an essential attribute of the beautiful—especially novelty in hats.
A good reputation is a fair estate, but there are others on which it is easier to get a mortgage.
Virtue alone is powerful, but in combination with American dollars she is invincible, and can even marry a duke.
A good life keeps off wrinkles, but a good wrinkle sometimes keeps off a lot of trouble.
Do good and care not to whom—no one will notice it.
A man may be judged by the companies he promotes.

IMPURE MAPLE SYRUP.
Minister of Inland Revenue After Those who are Using Adulterants.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—The Minister of Inland Revenue having noticed through published reports of a recent departmental analysis that there is hardly such an article on the Canadian market as pure maple syrup, has determined that he will make the maple sugar men live up to the pure food law of Canada. When syrup is offered for sale, accordingly, that contains glucose or other substitutes he will compel the firms to brand the labels with the word 'compound' in conspicuous form, so that purchasers may not be misled into believing that they are getting the pure thing when, as a matter of fact they have not.

A Graceful Compliment by Sir Henry Hawkins.

When Sir Henry Hawkins was practicing at the bar he once had occasion to call as a witness in a will case Samuel Warren, the author of "Ten Thousand a Year." After examining him the barrister said with a courteous bow: "Mr. Warren, I owe you an apology for bringing you into the Probate Court. I am sure no one will ever dream of disputing your will, because you have left everybody Ten Thousand a Year."

He Needed a "Manager."
Mrs. Benton had been away for a much needed vacation, and "Aunt Jane," her husband's sister, had kept house for her. When she came home the house looked bright and shining, but Jane seemed a good deal depressed. The two women sat down together the next morning, after Mr. Benton had gone to his office, and took account of stock.

"I don't believe you've had a very good time, after all," said Mrs. Benton, looking at her sister-in-law keenly, after they had discussed the state of the larder.
"Oh, yes," was the answer. "Only I feel sort of depressed, I've made so many mistakes."
"How did you know they were mistakes?" inquired Mrs. Benton. "Did Henry tell you?"
"Well, yes, I suppose so. He did say his wife was the only manager he knew. That was after I'd bought some canned soups, and had to send them back because they were the wrong kind."

"What made you tell him they were the wrong kind? Why didn't you serve them piping hot and say nothing?"
"Why, I don't know! Anyway, I found out that you never'd think of such a thing as buying a canned soup."
"What else did you do wrong?" inquired Mrs. Benton, dryly.
"I used the table butter for cooking. Henry said that was frightfully extravagant, and in all your life you'd never been guilty of such a thing. Those are only two mistakes, but there were lots of others. No, Cynthia, I'm not a good manager."
"Well, I am," said Mrs. Benton, firmly, "and hereafter you take pattern by me. I haven't had a stock kettle for years. I always buy canned soups, and I talk over the neighborhood news while Henry eats them blissfully. I have never had an ounce of cooking butter in my house. I agree with the person who said there is but one appropriate place for cooking butter, and that is on the axles of wheels. But I never discuss those subjects with Henry. My dear, why should I? He is quite right. I'm a good manager; but what's the use of managing, if I can't manage Henry?"

Women's High-Pitched Voices.
(Philadelphia 'Record'.)

A Philadelphian who has been back a week or so from an extensive tour of Europe, concludes that American women, as seen in the general view in street and shop, are all right to look at, 'but,' he says, 'I never knew how bad they were to listen to until I came back and heard their voices, high-pitched and with a nasal twang that seems excessive after a summer's respite. I really think it must be worse than when I left, and if there are any statistics on the subject I would be willing to bet on it. To me it is now so noticeable that I wonder every time when I see that other people do not seem to hear it. Of course, you can get used to anything, but when I do find a woman now whose speech is of the low, multi-voiced kind you hear in Europe, it acts like a positive rest for the ear. They say, I believe, that the feminine nasal squeak is worse in the country than in the city, but I don't see how that could be possible. Physical culture will never fulfill its functions completely till it does away with the high-pitched voice.'

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS SICK ?

Let your morning urine stand for 24 hours in a glass or vessel, and then if it is milky or cloudy, or contains a reddish brick-dust sediment, or if particles or germs float about in it, your kidneys are diseased. If the kidneys are well they filter just so much blood, but if they are sick or weak from any cause, they leave the poison in the blood, and this poison affects the entire system.
It is natural to pass urine three times a day, but many who regard themselves as healthy are obliged to pass water six to ten times daily and are obliged to get up frequently during the night. They have sick kidneys and bladder and don't know it. Smith's Buchu Lithia Pills cure Rheumatism and all Kidney and Bladder diseases, and make new, rich blood.
We will send you a generous sample post paid free, together with our large book on the above mentioned diseases. Address, W. F. Smith Co., 185 St. James Street, Montreal, Canada.
