A STORY OF SIMONDS.

Two Young Boys Buried in the Snow Over Seventy Years ago.

In conversation with a lady who had seen at least sixty years of our short summers and invigorating winters she told me a story of the Parish of Simonds. Her parents had told the story to her, for it happened some seventy years ago.

It was on a farm in Simonds a few miles above the wayside that has been known as Mills's for at least sixty years. It was in the very early spring, one morning about nine, that two young boys, aged eight and twelve years respectively, went out to take care of the stock.

The owner of the farm and the father of the boys was a prosperous farmer who had just built him a new house near the road and had not yet moved his barns near his dwelling. The path of the boys lay directly back from the house to a steep natural terrace and along the base of the terrace to the barns.

The terrace was very steep and at least twenty feet high. The boys never reached the barns.

The family became alarmed when they did not return and set out to look for them. They found a snow slide all along the terrace and they found that no one had been to the barn that day. The inference was irresistible; the boys were under the snow.

Children who were not able to wield a shovel were sent on horse back to neighbors for assistance and excited men worked all day to rescue the buried children. The spring snow was moist and heavy and the stretch of the snow slide was long. It was not until after nine o'clock at night that a faithful dog that had lingered about the workers all day at last got the scent and indicated the point at which the boys had been buried.

The whole force of men went vigorously to work at this point and finally at about ten o'clock at night they found them, one quite unconscious and the other well nigh-so. They had been buried in the snow at least twelve hours. The boy who retained consciousness throughout this awful day said that he knew when the men passed near him through the day but he was unable to make himself heard. He also said he knew when the sun went down behind the hill.

The after history of these boys may be told in a few words. The strong, stalwart boy who retained consciousness died an early death caused to a certain extent by riotous living. The weaker boy who became unconscious is now a vigorous man nearly eighty years of age.

Temperance Matters.

The Rev. Jos. A. Cahill has been engaged by the Grand Lodge, I. O. G. T., of New Brunswick, to lecture and organize lodges and wage war against the traffic in strong drink. He will first take in Carleton County. For the present his appointments are as follows:—

Bloomfield, October 23; Good Corner October 24; Tracey Mills, October 25; Royalton, October 26; Knoxford, October 27; Mount Pleasant, October 29; Centreville, October 30; West Florenceville, October 31; East Florenceville, November 1; Peel, November 2; Middle Simonds, November 3; Victoria Corner, November 4; Hartland, November 5; Bristol, November 7; Bath, November 8; Perth, November 9; Andover, November 10; Lakeville, November 12. These meetings should and no doubt will be a great inspiration to the cause in our county.

Death of Herbert Harper.

Mr. Herbert Harper, who had been in failing health for the past eighteen months passed away at his home in Jacksonville on Saturday last at 11.00 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. Harper went to St. Andrews in August last with the hope that a change of climate would restore his strength, but he continued to get weaker and returned home about two weeks ago.

Mr. Harper was well known throughout the County of Carleton as a dealer in cattle, and was 50 years of age. He was a son of the late William Harper and besides the mother is survived by a widow and one child and a brother John F.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. G. A. Ross officiating.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Clara Dickinson Meets Friends at Home of T. S. Carter.

A gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Carter, Pleasant street, Wednesday night in honor of Miss Clara Dickinson of Woodstock, N. B., who is their guest for a few weeks. The occasion was more noteworthy on account of being held on the anniversary of Miss Dickinson's birthday. Games were played, refreshments served and a general good time enjoyed by all. Miss Dickinson was the recipient of several presents of money and useful articles. Those present were: Mr and Mrs Francis Brigham, of Marlboro; Mr. and Mrs. Whitney G. Brigham, of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wheeler, Mrs. Zilpah Peters, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Carter, Hudson, Miss Ada Worcester of Shirley, Hebert Dickinson of Clinton.—Hudson, Mass., News, Oct. 13.

Resolution of Spmpathy.

On Thursday afternoon the Barristers of the town met in the office of J. N. W. Winslow with Col. D. McLeod Vince in the chair. A minute was made of the death of Mr. L. P. Fisher and the Chairman, Secretary T. C. L. Ketchum and A. C. Calder were appointed a committee to prepare a resolution of condolence. The following record was prepared and passed:—

The Barristers of the Town of Woodstock now assembled wish to place on record their sense of the loss sustained, in common with the Bar of the Province, in the death of Lewis Peter Fisher, Esquire, K. C. Mr. Fisher's thorough knowledge of jurisprudence in all its branches, his extraordinary acumen and tact in the conduct of cases and his unrivalled persuasiveness and eloquence as an advocate combined to give him a high place at the bar of this province; and, though he had for some years refrained from active practice, these qualities which he possessed in such a marked degree have been handed down as a cherished tradition to the present members of the legal profession in this town and county.

Many of them read law under Mr. Fisher's guidance, and the sound instruction that these who were so privileged received from him as students in his office, has been of incalculable benefit to them in the practice of their calling.

They wish further to express to Mrs. Fisher their deep sympathy for her in the loss she has sustained by the death of her talented husband, and hereby request the Secretary to forward to her a copy of this record.

Municipal Elections.

Contests were held on Tuesday in Kent, Wicklow, Peel, Simonds, Wilmot, Northampton, Woodstock Town and Parish. The other parishes went by acclamation. The result was as follows:—

Kent—John Keenan, 187; John Kinney, 166; E. F. Shaw, 143; D. V. Boyer, 115.
Simonds—W. N. Raymond, 100; W. Moores, 69; O. Miller, 55.
Peel—Melville, 186; Tompkins, 171; Crandlemire, 55.
Wilmot—Carvell, 221; Williams, 195; Hon. G. W. White, 90.
Woodstock Parish—John Flemming, 215; Jas. H. Forrest, 158; H. B. Smith, 154.
Woodstock Town—Joseph Fewer, 271; A. G. Bailey, 261; Wm. Balmain, 232; elected, defeating James E. Drysdale, 131.
Northampton—Phillips, 131; Brown, 115; C. W. Connell, 43.
Wicklow—Owens and Jameson, elected defeating Giberson.
Richmond—Hay and Bell (aecl).
Brighton—Connolly and Bradley (aecl).
Wakefield—Shaw and Bell (aecl).
Aberdeen—Lamont and Wiley (aecl).

Messrs Miller, Smith and Giberson of the last board were the only ones defeated on appealing for re-election. Of the new men Forrest and Balmain have been at the council in previous years. Party politics cut no figure at all in town, but in several of the parishes it was in evidence. The new council like its predecessor, is about equally divided politically. On the whole it must be said that the incoming board compares favorably with any we have had in recent years.

SMILING BABIES.

The well baby is never a cross baby. When baby cries or is fretful, it is taking the only way it can to let mother know that there is something wrong. That something is probably some derangement of the stomach or bowels, or perhaps the pain of teething. These troubles are speedily removed and cured by Baby's Own Tablets, and baby smiles again—in fact there's a smile in every dose. Mrs. Mary E. Adams, Lake George, N. B., says:—"I have found —Baby's Own Tablets so good for the ills of little ones that I would not like to be without them." That is the experience of all mothers who have tried the tablets; and they know this medicine is safe, for it is guaranteed to contain no opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. Equally good for the child just born or well advanced in years. Sold by all druggists or mailed at 25 cents a box by writing the Dr Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The duelling pistols used in the third act of the Gay Matinee Girl were brought from Paris by Mr. Patrick last summer while there. They were used in no less than three Parisienne duels. Opera House one night only Friday Oct. 20th.

LAST SCENE AT BOUNDARY LINE.

Holman McMullin Captured and Landed in Portland Jail.

Those who have been constant readers of THE DISPATCH are familiar with the good work wrought upon the "line stores" through the power and majesty of the law as vested in Carleton County and State of Maine officers. All of these nefarious establishments are now out of business, at least along the Carleton County border. Perhaps the most difficult place to deal with was the joint at Boundary Line, near Bridgewater, run by Holman McMullin, whose name is not unfamiliar with most people in this part of the world.

While Holman has had his entire stock confiscated at different times he has effectually evaded arrest. Notwithstanding the heavy fines and loss of liquid goods he has kept himself from the clutches of the law in a manner that only one with a long experience could do. He has beaten the African dodger all hollow. So persistent and stubborn has this emissary of Satan been, that, though his bar was closed he still managed to peddle "liquid damnation," and those who were possessed of a gigantic thirst had no difficulty in satisfying it if once they could find Holman. Sometimes, however, it was not an easy matter to find him, for when he scented danger, which was not infrequent, he hiked away to the tall timbers.

The United States authorities have been desirous of adding this specimen to its already large collection; and so anxious were certain individuals in Carleton County to secure the body of the great and only Holman McMullin that no fewer than 21 warrants were in the officers hands. These warrants were for selling liquor contrary to the provisions of the Canada Temperance Act, for smuggling, for keeping a disorderly house and for being a public nuisance in general.

The Carleton County and Maine authorities have been working together during the past few months and last Thursday was the day arranged for the last scene in the notorious Boundary Line melodrama. It was arranged to have a couple of United States Marshals, Customs officers Jenks of Houlton and Peters of Bridgewater, on behalf of the State of Maine, and Deputy Sheriff Foster, Constable Woolverson and Customs Officer Carpenter, representing Carleton County, to meet at the humble cottage of McMullin and make a clean job of it.

Deputy Sheriff Foster and his colleagues arrived on the scene first. Holman was home, but when he saw his guests approaching he trekked across the border. A lively confab was held, but as THE DISPATCH reporter was not there a verbatim report of the conversation cannot be given; anyway it wouldn't sound well in print. Only one phrase of Holman's harrangue has reached the reporter—addressing Deputy Sheriff Foster he declared in a most derisive manner, "You will never lay hands upon me." But those were the last words he uttered as a free man, for the American officers above mentioned had arrived, unknown to the wily Holman, and immediately they took him into their gentle embrace and presented him with a pair of glittering bracelets as a fitting reward for what he has done for the country.

McMullin now languishes in jail at Portland under indictment for smuggling and being a public nuisance. The Carleton County men didn't get his scalp, nor did they want it. The main point was to rid the place of him and his unholy work. This is now accomplished.

Much credit is due our officers for all that has been done. Deputy Sheriff Foster has been especially zealous in the fight, and while he did not have the satisfaction of handcuffing the man, his capture could scarcely have been consummated but for the rigorous work of him and his assistants.

Thus, let it be hoped, closes the career of what has been one of the "toughest" rumholes in the county.

Kindly Remembered.

The pastor of the Woodstock church, Rev. W. B. Wiggins and his wife were very agreeably surprised on Tuesday, 10th inst., by about sixty members of the church and congregation taking possession of the parsonage and secretly introducing a beautiful quartered oak sideboard and dining chairs, and presenting them to them. A very kind address was then delivered by Bro. F. L. Moores, which was replied to by both the pastor and his wife. The whole company then joined in singing "Blest be the tie that binds" etc. After a few remarks by Rev. B. Colpitts and prayer with additional music the company separated seemingly well pleased with the evening's entertainment and leaving the pastor and his wife delighted and again indebted to the church and congregation for another token of their kindness to them.—King's Highway.
