For Killing a Cow Moose.

An interesting case was brought before J. C. Everett, J. P., on Tuesday of last week. A Glendenning of Carlisle was apprehended on a charge of shooting a cow moose. Marvin L. Hayward appeared for the prosecution and the accused was undefended.

The story of the killing of the moose goes in thiswise: Mr. Glendenning and a companion were cruising over some lumber ground, and as the former had in his possession a game license, he took with him his rifle in the hope that he might run across a quarry. They finally sighted a fair-sized bull moose with antlers of a spread of about 36 inches. While approaching near enough for a shot the animal disappeared in the bushes. The men followed up the trail, and soon again got in range of what they took to be, in the shadows of the forest, the same moose. Glendenning fired and the result of his good aim was the death of a cow moose, for which he was charged before Justice Everett.

Mr. Glendenning did not deny the allegation but sought to mitigate the sentence by reciting the circumstances of the case and striving to show how purely accidental the shooting was. Glendenning was fined $100 and $10 costs. It must be said to the credit of the justice that while it was in his power to fine the man $200 he let him off with the minimum—a paltry hundred and ten. Mr. Glendenning is an industrious man striving to make both ends meet on the edge of the back woods, and this case has caused a stir of popular sympathy throughout the region.

There is a feeling that Glendenning was not used right at the trial. He was denied the privilege of examining the charge against him and he knew not by whom, or in what manner the information was laid. When sentenced he was without the funds to pay the fine and the stern justice was unwilling to release him from custody long enough for him to go out and raise the cash. Several good men present offered to furnish negotiable paper for the amount but his honor wanted nothing but the legal tender right then and there. There proved to be men in the court room, however, who went out and after a time returned with the "change" and the prisoner was then permitted to go.

It was impossible for Mr. Everett to do anything else but find the man guilty and he could impose no less fine than $100; but it was in his power to allow the fine to stand. It is interesting to know that one half of the fine goes to the informant.

LOCALS.

Miss Helen Alexander spent a couple of day in Woodstock last week.

The water in the river has come up about two feet and is still rising slowly.

James K. Osgood, of Houlton, father of Charles Osgood formerly a Hartland jeweller, is dead.

In some parts of the county, particularly in Kent and Aberdeen, there is excellent sleighing.

W. H. Horne, of the London House Wholesale, St. John, was at the exchange over Sunday.

W. T. McArthur the well known traveller for the S. Hayward Co., of St. John was here the other day.

The advertisement of J. T. G. Carr to be found elsewhere on this page should interest those who want fur goods.

W. R. Gillen went to Montreal on Friday with two carloads of sheep. He was accompanied by his brother Harry.

H. N. Dickinson the local agent for the Massey-Harris Co., was in Woodstock recently on the firm's business.

Saunders DeWitt of the popular produce firm went to St. John on Monday on business connected with the market.

Ernest Plummer, of Waterville, and Lee Dyer, of Carlisle, who were seriously injured last week are both recovering nicely.

Miss Kate Shaw formerly of Windsor but who now spends much of her time at Auburn, Me., has been visiting among relatives here.

Mrs. Jamieson of St. John who has been spending a few days with her brother Andrew Aiton, returned to her home on Saturday.

John Lynch who has been at Ashland, Me., for several months has been here for a few days. He has sold his farm, situate a mile above the village, to Henry Nevers.

The first snow storm of the season set in in the early morning of Nov. 9th. Fasten that in your memory—these little weather facts are interesting to recall in future seasons.

The first district meeting of the United Baptist church was held in the lower church yesterday and continues today. Further mention of the doings of the convention will be published next week.

Mrs. E. O. Steeves and T. R. Blaine sang a duet during the service at the Baptist church on Sunday evening. A unanimous vote approving the basis of union of the United Baptists was passed at this service.

The concert given by the Mission Band of the Reformed Baptist congregation in the church on Saturday evening was well attended and a very interesting program was rendered. Recitations and singing formed the principle points of interest. A male quartette added interest to the occasion and the pastor, Rev. S. A. Baker, addressed the audience in a pleasing manner.

Last Tuesday evening Rev. H. Goring Alder held the regular church of England service in Burt's hall. Next Sunday at 10.30 there will be a Thanksgiving service. A special collection will be taken in aid of the mission work.

One day last week David Morgan tumbled over a fence and sprained his ankle very badly. As Mr. Morgan has a chronic lameness in the other leg he is now a cripple indeed. Dr. Curtis, the physician consulted, says the sprain will probably lay him up for a month.

Our old friend Billy Toosaw blew into town one day last week enroute from Kingsclear to Grand Falls via. shanks mare. William says he has been ill for several months, but this well-heeled mendicant, the terror of children and timid housewives, has the nerve to tackle a walk that would naturally tax the strength of a very rugged man.

Woodstock business interests must suffer considerably through the present train service. The matter should come before the Board of Trade and thence to the railway officials; also petitions circulated along the line would find hundreds of subscribers and might bring the people's grievances so forcibly to the minds of those in authority that something might be done to remedy the difficulty.

Produce Prices.

Notwithstanding the heavy roads last week was a busy one at the station. So many were the potato teams on some days that the place resembled an Aroostook County town. Here were three buyers and competition was keen enough. The price was boosted up a few by this reason and the very good price of $1.25 was offered for good stock. Several cars of live stock were also loaded. The price of hen-fruit is quoted at 20 cents but the scarcity of the product is so great that private parties in bad need of the eggs will pay almost any price they can afford. On Monday afternoon prices were as follows:—

- H. y. $6.00.
- Oats, 32c.
- Potatoes, Green Mountains, $1.10.
- Buckwheat, 40c.
- Buckwheat Meal, $2.00.
- Beans $2.50 to $2.75.
- Butter, rolls or tubs, 20c.
- Eggs, 20c.
- Stovewood, hard, dry, $3.75.
- Chickens, 8c.
- Fowls, 6c.
- Geese, 9c.
- Turkeys, not coming in yet.

Miss Sadie Snow has gone to Lowell to remain. Ernest Sipprell, of Greenfield, was in Hartland recently. Mrs. John Perry has been visiting her sons at River de Chute. Mrs. D. H. Keywick has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Hammond at Van Buren. Mrs. Franklin Clark has been visiting at Presque Isle, where her husband is at work. Woodford Craig spent Sunday at his home and returned to the Restigouche on Monday. George R. Burt went to Ancochee to attend the dedication of the new Masonic Temple. Mrs. D. H. Nixon left on Friday for Fredericton to visit her sister, Mrs. Walter Jackson. Last week Miss Kate Phillips was called to Limestone, Me., to nurse a case of typhoid fever. Miss Edna Sipprell and Miss Nellie McAdam attended the wedding of Miss Clara Johnson at Green Road Station. Walter W. Sipprell, of Fort Fairfield, an engineer on the B. & A., visited his old home at Somerville last week. Mrs. George S. McLaughlan of Hartland, returned home after spending a few weeks the guest of Mrs. John McLaughlan. J. N. Sipprell and his sister, Mrs. Park Carpenter, who have been visiting at Somerville went to St. John last week to visit their brother, E. M. Sipprell. Frank Aiton who came from Toronto to attend the funeral of his little brother, Howard, last week returned the day following to resume his studies at the Ontario School of Pharmacy.

All the Comforts of Home.

When Mrs. Hiram Porter had a sign painted which bore the words "Cotter Brook Farm," and advertised in three Boston papers for boarders, she knew most of the trials which were likely beset her path, before her marriage she had kept summer boarders in another town.

"Do you have the same folks year after year?" asked one of her former neighbors when Cotter Brook Farm had been in operation for five years, "or do they change so you keep having new lots?"

"It depends on what folks want," said Mrs. Porter, decidedly. "If they are satisfied with a good, plain table, comfortable beds, all outdoors and a mother's care, they keep right on coming; if they aren't they don't."

"What do you mean by 'a mother's care'?" asked the old neighbor, doubtfully.

"I mean just that," said Mrs. Porter, firmly. "They've all been younger folks than I, or if they're older they're kind of childish in their judgment, of course. If one of my boarders gets a cold I put him or her straight to bed with pepper tea inside of 'em and a hot flat outside."

"If they don't like the treatment I put it to 'em that I'm not going to have Cotter Brook Farm get the name of being unhealthy. Most generally they laugh and give in; if they don't it's their last season."

"So with other things. Wet feet I look out for, and getting overheated on the tennis or croquet grounds. And sitting over the stove in a shut-up room I don't hold to for more than about so long. And when I see the young folks all beat out, I send 'em to bed early."

"There's another thing. When the night mail comes, sometimes there'll be a telegram or two with it. Well, I never give those out till the next morning. I should if 'twas earlier in the evening, but Jake doesn't get round till after nine o'clock. I figure it out that if the news is good it'll be all the better in the morning, and if it's bad they'll have their night's rest, anyway. I always send telegrams up with the hot-water pitchers in the morning at seven o'clock. The first train doesn't go till nine, so that's time enough in any case."

"There's been one or two that have acted provoked about that, but I've dealt with them promptly, and that's been the end of it. I've never had any trouble with reasonable folks, not a mite."

HARTLAND FARMERS' EXCHANGE,

ESTABLISHED 1891.

C. HUMPHREY TAYLOR, - Proprietor.

Although never before have we advertised in The Dispatch, we are not unknown to most of the readers of this paper, having been in business in this town for the last 14 years. We wish to draw especial attention to our stock of which we aim to keep always fresh and up-to-date. But more particularly we desire at this season to draw attention to our new and excellent stock of Millinery, Fall and Winter Clothing, and Factory Cloths.

We also have a full stock of Unshrinkable Fleece Lined and Lambs' Wool UNDERWEAR for Men, Women and Children, of quality that is better than I have ever before handled, and I doubt if the goods are equalled in this town. The prices, for cash, will surprise anyone who looks at them.

Produce taken as cash and highest prices paid for Butter, Eggs, Chickens, etc.

The Jewellery shop of C. W. Hurst is in the same store, and he carries a fine line of Jewellery and Silverware, and attends to all repairs promptly and skilfully.

Don't buy anything until you have first had a talk with and a look at the goods of

C. Humphrey Taylor.
