A Fight With a Bull.

There are more senses than one in which fine feathers do not make fine birds, but it does not follow that being well dressed unfits one for active service. Mr. Hay, in his book about New Zealand, entitled "Brighter Britain," relates an incident of a young stockman dandy who put all the rest of the community to shame.

In the two-acre stock-yard or paddock, was an obstinate young bull which was to be branded. Usually, when such an animal is captured, a noose is thrown about one of the legs, and the creature tripped up. But this fellow was wary and vicious. Every one on the place had been trying for an hour to secure him, but he eluded every throw of the rope, and no one dared go inside the fence, so fierce were his rushes.

Then Dandy Jack came along, known in all the region for his extreme cleanliness and his daintiness of dressing. All the others were standing about the enclosure, tired, lean, and covered with dirt. Jack was hailed with a volley of sarcasm. He bowed politely, and responded with gentle cynicism: "There seems to be difficulty somewhere. Can I assist?"

"Perhaps you'll be so polite as to show us how to capture that beast," spoke up a bulky, grimy giant. "If it ain't too much to ask of a drawing-room ornament."

"Oh, certainly, with pleasure," urbanely answered Jack.

Then, to everyone's amazement, he vaulted over the fence, and approached the bull. Down went the beast's head up went his tail, and he charged furiously. Jack dodged, and the bull crashed against the fence. Again and again he made his rush, and again and again Jack leaped lightly out of the way. The men about the enclosure watched breathlessly, now and then entreating the young fellow to come out of danger. Jack only nodded carelessly, and sauntered about.

Finally the bull stood stock still, eyeing Jack with sullen bellows. He was tired charging, and a bit uncertain what to do. Jack walked to within an inch of his nose; then, as the brute prepared for one more rush, he sprang full at him. He seized one of the horns with both hands, and placed one foot on the other horn. There was a wrench and a wrestle, and Jack whirled through the air, landing on the soft ground some ten feet away. But the bull lay rolling on his back; that twist of the head had upset him.

The men sprang over the fence, and in an instant the creature was tied.

Jack coolly sat on the helpless body, brushing the dust and dirt off his clothes. The giant regarded him with blank astonishment, Jack laughed.

"Look here, old fellow," he said, lazily. "You don't understand what a bull is. I'll tell you. It's a thing some people look at from the safe side of the fence, and other people take by the horns."

Marvels in Naval Architecture.

The two new Atlantic liners which are being built with the $10,000,000 lent by the British Government are nearing completion, and will be launched in June or July of this year. They will be named the Mauritania and the Lusitania, and will be the largest ships the world has ever seen. Each vessel will have a gross tonnage of 32,000, while they are sixty feet longer than any liner afloat. They are eighty-eight feet in beam, and in this respect are the first to surpass the Great Eastern, which was eighty-three feet in breadth. They will each have accommodation for 3,000 passengers and carry a crew of 800. They will be propelled by turbine engines, capable of developing 80,000 horsepower, and are expected to travel at a minimum speed of twenty-four knots an hour. The first-class dining saloon will be unprecedented in marine architecture. It will be a massive and gorgeous apartment 125 feet long and 80 feet wide, and will comfortably accommodate 500 persons at one meal time. The saloon will be lighted by a great dome extending up through two decks and crowned with a roof of cathedral glass.

PALE, LISTLESS GIRLS.

Can Only Obtain Health Through New, Rich Pure Blood Made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Growing girls—girls in their teens—must have rich, pure blood. Healthy womanhood depends upon the vital change from girlhood to maturity. Every woman should most carefully watch her daughter's health at this critical period. If a girl at this period has headache, if she is pale, thin and languid, it shows that her slender blood supply is being overtaxed. She will always be ailing and may slip into a hopeless decline or consumption if her blood is not built up at once with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The rich, red blood which these pills make bring health and strength to every organ, and make dull, listless, languid girls, bright, rosy-cheeked, active and strong. Miss Maggie Donahue, Erinsville, Ont., says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was badly run down, and it seemed as though my blood had turned to water. I was very pale, suffered from headaches and palpitation of the heart, and often I would pass sleepless nights. I found nothing to help me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these have fully restored me and I can truthfully say I never enjoyed better health than I am now doing."

When Dr. Williams' Pink Pills replaced bad blood with good blood they strike straight at the root of all common ailments like anaemia, decline, indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, skin eruptions, erysipelas, neuritis, St. Vitus dance, paralysis, rheumatism, and the special ailments of growing girls and women. Be sure you get the genuine pills with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," printed on the wrapper around each box. Sold by medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

When the Great Change Comes.

"Fanciful persons," says the London Medical Journal, "speak as if the soul violently wrenches itself asunder from the body. Those, however, who have stood by many a deathbed know that most people pass into the silent land as peacefully as if they were going to sleep. Even when great pain has been suffered in the last struggle for life, when death finally claims the victim for its own, it mercifully lulls him into insensibility or indifference. Whatever fear of the unknown there may previously have been, seems to pass away with the ebbing tide of life."

Our Challenge Not Accepted.

The "Magnet" Representative backs down and out.

He tells intelligent farmers we were bluffing, but they don't take the pill. They want a test and we want to give it to them.

LISTEN!

We will do all that appeared in our challenge last week, and in order to win we will guarantee to

Skim Twice as Clean as Our Competitors

—that is to say, if the skim milk from the Magnet contains one-tenth of one per cent. of butter fat, THE SHARPLES TUBULAR will not leave more than half a tenth; or if the Magnet only leaves half a tenth, the Tubular will only leave one quarter of one-tenth.

Our competitor says that no one man could stand the expense of this test.

We Will Help Him

by guaranteeing to purchase four Magnet Separators at $25.00 each, if they have a rated capacity of 500 lbs. per hour, and Mr. McKinnell will deposit them with the Trustees of the Hospital. The Hospital needs the money and we need the experience.
