GROWING BOYS.

Need an Occasional Tonic to Maintain Strength and Keep the Skin Clear.

On every side one sees young men and growing boys with pale, pasty complexions, their faces covered with pimples and their gate shambling and listless. Such a condition is extremely dangerous—the blood is out of order—a complete breakdown may result. To put matters right; to give that spring to the step; that clearness to the skin and that glow of active health to the face, a tonic is needed—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are needed. As proof of this, Mr. Charles Diefenthal, 12 St. Ursule Street, Quebec, says:—
"Frequently my studies necessitate my remaining up until a late hour. The result was that my system gradually weakened, and in December, 1903, I seemed to collapse. I was completely run down and went under the care of a doctor, but instead of gaining strength, I seemed to grow weaker. I could not take solid food, did not sleep well, and weakening night sweats gave me further cause for alarm. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought to my notice and I began their use. Almost from the outset they seemed to help me, but it was some weeks before there was a material change for the better. From that on, however, recovery was rapid, and in a couple of months I was as well as ever I had been, and able to resume my studies."

Every dose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich, red blood; every drop of pure blood gives strength and vitality to the whole system, and this strength brings health. That is why Dr. Williams' Pills cure such cases as anaemia, all stomach and kidney troubles, St. Vitus dance, heart palpitation, the afflictions known only to growing girls and women, and a host of other ailments from which both young and old suffer through bad blood. Sold by dealers in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HARTLAND BRIDGE.

is the same which has prevailed for years. All the accounts cannot be closed at the end of the fiscal year so that there is always a balance to be carried over. But for the purpose of making up a big deficit the hon. gentleman has put the balance of last year and the balance of this year together although he must know that a balance of about the same amount is always carried over.

But I will leave a fuller explanation of this matter to the chief commissioner of public works. I can also safely leave the commissioner of agriculture to defend the attacks that have been made on his department. But it seems to me that our friends opposite have acted a very improper part in seeking to make political capital out of matters which ought to be removed from the sphere of politics. It cannot be denied that they have worked against the highway act and against the agricultural policy of the government. They have endeavored to stir up the people against the highway act although when the law was introduced it was admitted by everyone that a new law was required. They have done the same with regard to our agricultural policy. We have obtained no assistance with respect to it from them. Yet this policy is one which has commended itself to public favour and which has produced beneficial results. It has been an educational policy and it has encouraged and trained the young men of the country to better educational methods.

I now come to a local question, the Hartland bridge. The people of Hartland wanted a bridge but as there was a very expensive bridge at Woodstock and another at Florenceville, and the government had many other claims on them they felt they could not build one at that time. The people of Hartland were so anxious for a bridge that they were prepared to do almost anything and they proposed that if the government would build a bridge they would pay toll upon it. Well the people got what they wanted but soon after the bridge was built they began an agitation to abolish the toll. As soon as I became a member of this house I pressed the government to make the bridge free and since I have been a member of the government I have continued to press this upon them. I have now the pleasure of being able to announce that sometime before the opening of the session it was decided to make the bridge free at the end of the present quarter of the business year of the management of the bridge. (Applause.)

The honorable gentleman had added $34,000 over expenditure of the provincial hospital to the deficit but he seems to forget that this over expenditure is carried over from year to year and that at the beginning of the last of fiscal year there was an old balance to be paid. The honorable gentleman's statement would carry far more weight if he would deal fairly with these questions.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley—He is only $17,000 out.

Hon. Mr. Jones—The honorable gentleman had referred to the amount paid for interest, but not to the public debt. Therefore I presume that he was not discouraged about that. Our debt is indeed small in comparison with the resources of the province. It is smaller I believe than the debt of the city of St. John. The people of that energetic city are constantly increasing their debt for the purpose of making necessary improvements and the debt of this province has been incurred for necessary works which tend to the development of its resources. In every city, town and village in this province the debt is increasing and why should the government be censured for increasing the debt of the province when the money is judiciously expended.

With reference to the criticisms that have been made on the auditor general's report, I can only say that in that report nothing is concealed. The report is made in the same way as all reports since confederation. No gentleman who wishes to obtain information in regard to the expenditures of the government need fail to obtain all the information he wants if he consults the public accounts. In conclusion I must apologize for taking up so much of the time of the house in making explanations where no explanations seem to be needed.
