Broiled Steak.

Trim off the superfluous fat and the flank end of a sirloin steak. Grease the gridiron with some of the fat, and hold over the coals, turning every ten seconds, until both sides of the meat are seared; then turn less often. Cook about four minutes if liked rare, or a minute or two longer if liked well done. Serve on a warm platter with butter, salt and a very little pepper.

Warm Gingerbread.

Put one cup of sugar, one cup of molasses, one cup of butter and one cup of sour milk into a bowl. Add three well-beaten eggs and four and one-half cups of flour sifted, with a level tablespoon of ginger, a level teaspoon of soda and a teaspoon of cinnamon. Beat well and bake in a shallow pan. Serve warm, by cutting through the crust with a sharp knife and breaking the pieces apart.

Lemon Cake.

Beat one cup of butter to a cream, add two cups of powdered sugar, one half cup of milk, the well beaten yolks of four eggs, three cups of flour sifted with four level teaspoons of baking powder, and last the whites of four eggs beaten stiff. Bake in layer cake tins and spread with a lemon filling.

Corn Starch Pudding.

Heat four cups of milk, add three rounding tablespoons of cornstarch made smooth in a little cold milk, five rounding tablespoons of sugar and a saltspoon of salt. Cook five minutes, add four well beaten eggs, a teaspoon of butter, and bake in a buttered pudding dish. Serve cold with cream.

It has been estimated that in 1904 travelers abroad from the United States spent $190,000,000 in foreign lands, and a conference of western business men has been called to meet at Salt Lake City to discuss ways and the means of diverting part of this outlay into American channels. The great difficulty in the way is the superiority of historic associations to natural scenery as a means of arousing human interest.

Canada may fairly be said to lead the world in the production of high-class poultry. The display of birds at the recent Winter Fair in Guelph was for excellence and variety the finest ever held up to that time in Canada, or perhaps anywhere else. The more recent show in Toronto was not inferior to it in the quality of the better specimens. It is not surprising that at the great exhibition opened last week in Boston seven hundred Canadian birds were entered, and that a large proportion of the prizes came to this country.

Too Busy to Work.

The way to command a good price is to never cheapen one's stock in trade. At least that is the principle adopted by an Ohio justice of the peace. This gentleman, says a writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger, has missed his calling. Given his opportunity, he would soon make a name among the humorists.

An attorney in a neighboring city wrote to him to inquire about a judgment that had been entered against a client. He enclosed a stamp for reply. Several days later he received a postal card bearing this message:

"Your inquiry received. I beg to inform you that my time is mighty valuable just now. Corn cutting is most nigh here, politics is sizzling, and bass-fishing is fine. If you would enclose a dollar bill it might stimulate me some. I paid two dollars out to a lawyer for answering a question, and all he said was 'No.'"

SAVE YOUR HAIR
