The friends of Mr. Whitfield Giberson are sorry to learn that he is again very sick, not having fully recovered from his recent illness.

As To Vegetable Diet.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

We believe it would pay our restaurant keepers to cook a few vegetables and specialize them on their bills and fare. The disclosures concerning the killing and packing of meat in the Chicago slaughter houses have created a profound disgust among thousands, and conditions are far from ideal in the yards and canneries of the independent companies. It is true that the case may be sensationalized in a measure, but it is also true, and it comes from agents of our government itself, that meat is prepared in a way that shows utter disregard of the common decencies, and that much of it is diseased or decayed, and preservatives, themselves injurious to the human stomach are used in its preparation.

Yet when the citizen enters a restaurant to order a meal he finds that almost the entire bill of fare is given over to meat,—beef, mutton, pork, game, fowl; roast broiled, boiled, fried, hashed, raw, smoked, salted; the vegetables being regarded merely as garnishes. Some appetites appear to demand meat under any and all conditions, in all temperatures and weathers, but there are others that instinctively reject it, and suffer it to be forced upon them in lack of anything else. Vegetables are usually served in canary bird bath tubs, as if the guests had no mind to more than taste of them, whereas, if as liberal portions were given as of meat—and proportionately charged for, if the proprietor please—it would be possible to make a good meal without the use of meat in any form, especially during the summer, when meat spoils quickly and when our farms and gardens are yielding their products fresh and wholesome every hour.

Something new in the way of serial novelties is promised for the Barnum & Bailey circus when it makes its advent in this city. It is called the "Aerial Tremplin," and is presented by the Steves Troupe of mid-air acrobats. The apparatus used is a peculiar one. It consists of a platform in three sections. The end sections are solid; the middle one contains a tremplin, or elastic cloth. The entire contrivance is suspended thirty feet in the air. On this swaying platform the Steves are said to perform a series of clever acrobatic and bounding feats, with as much ease, grace and abandon as upon the ground. Many other new acts, of striking novelty, are announced for the big show's performance this season.

THE USE OF HYPNOTISM IN MEDICAL PRACTICE.

Some Instances Quoted by a Doctor.

(London Mail.)

Remarkable instances of the use of hypnotism in ordinary medical practice by Douglas Bryan, M. R. C. S., of Leicester, are described by him in The Medical Times and Hospital Gazette.

The success attained leads him to believe that hypnotism and hypnotic suggestions, so little recognized by the greater number of medical men, are a thoroughly legitimate and valuable therapeutic adjunct.

In each case, of course, the patient consented to be hypnotized. One instance was that of an operation performed on a woman, aged thirty, for an abscess on the breast while she was in the hypnotic sleep. On being awakened she asserted that she had felt no pain, and remembered nothing of the operation. Healing was effected quite normally in about a week.

A case of extreme interest was that of a married woman, aged twenty-four, who proved an excellent subject for the hypnotic suggestion, and was brought safely through the ordeal of confinement while in a deep hypnotic sleep. Once after about a quarter of an hour, the patient aroused, but Mr. Bryan again induced sleep easily, and now took the precaution which he had before neglected, of suggesting at intervals that she should keep asleep and feel no pain.

She so remained for a considerable time and was not awakened by the medical man until twenty minutes after the child's birth. She roused immediately and said she felt quite comfortable, and remembered nothing subsequent to the induction of sleep except the circumstances that happened during her momentary awakening. Her cataleptic condition was most useful, Mr. Bryan accords, and facilitated his duties.

A man about forty was brought to him for treatment by hypnotic suggestion to dipsomania. He was just getting over a three days' drinking debauch, and was in an exceedingly nervous condition. His pulse was beating at the rate of 120 a minute. He complained of excessive discomfort about the cardiac region and palpitation.

"I told him he would soon feel better, and succeeded in getting him into a light sleep. I made suggestions regarding the cardiac discomforts, etc., and that the pulse should become slower. He roused of his own accord in about one and a half minutes, waking with a start. I immediately took the pulse again and found it beating 88 to the minute. All feelings of discomfort disappeared and did not return, his astonishment at the result being marked.

"I have good hopes," the writer adds, "of eventually curing him of dipsomania."

Insomnia was another malady which the writer treated in the case of a woman by hypnotic suggestion.

HOT WEATHER AILMENTS.

At the first sign of illness during the hot weather, give the little ones Baby's Own Tablets or in a few hours the trouble may be beyond cure. Baby's Own Tablets is the best medicine in the world to prevent summer complaints if given occasionally to well children. The prudent mother will not wait till trouble come—she will keep her children well through an occasional dose of this medicine. Mrs. Edward Clark, McGregor, Ont., says: "My little girl suffered from colic and bowel troubles but Baby's Own Tablets speedily cured her." And the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that these Tablets contain no opiate or harmful drug. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Keep the Tablets in the house.

Couldn't Stop Drinking.

Edward F. Gough, a resident of Toronto attempted to commit suicide by drowning himself in the Detroit River last Thursday. He was rescued by Robert Giradine, a watchman, and when taken to a hotel he was so overpowered with joy at his rescue that he wept. Despondency over the fear that he could not stop drinking was the cause of Gough's rash act. He went to the river laid his hat and coat on the bank near the ferry slip, and plunged into the water, Giradine pulled him out of the water with a pike pole, catching the hook in Gough's clothing. In the pocket of his coat was found the following note addressed to Mrs. Esther Gough, at the Brandon House, Toronto: "Drink has me in its clutches, mother. I can't resist it. It is better for me to die. My insurance will take care of you. Good-bye." Gough was employed as a traveling salesman by the American Novelty Company, of Chicago.

Magistrate—"You are accused of attempting to hold a pedestrian up at two o'clock this morning. What have you to say in your own behalf?" Prisoner—"I am not guilty, your honor, I can prove a lullaby." Magistrate—"You mean an alibi?" Prisoner—"Well, call it what you like, but my wife will swear that, I was walking the floor with the baby at the hour mentioned in the charge."—Chicago Daily News.
