Hospital Supper.

The annual hospital supper which will be held on Thanksgiving evening promises to be one of the most successful affairs that this most deserving institution has held since its inception. In the past year to aid in the good work of this institution which has proved a blessing in this county, many generous contributions have been made, but this year's supper promises even more and shows to what a great degree our people appreciate the work of the good doctors and nurses of this institution. Much money is required in the financing of the hospital and by these suppers and fairs has it become to grow yearly a smaller burden on the generous ones who were the chief instruments in its formation. The secretary has already received generous donations from Mr. B. Frank Smith, M. P. P., and besides many others who have not handed in their names. This is exceedingly gratifying and it is sincerely hoped that all will lend a willing hand to help make this worthy object a grand success. Remember the date is Thanksgiving evening. Any contributions sent to the President, Mrs. A. Wilnot Hay, the Vice-President, Mrs. C. F. K. Dibblee, the Treasurer, Mrs. H. V. Dalling, or the Secretary, Mrs. R. B. Jones, will be gratefully received.—Com.

Stop It.

We have been bored almost to death by the people who call a hard leather bag a "dress-suit case." Then men who use the expression are generally those who never saw a dress-suit and the women are those who bend up their little fingers most terribly and say "somebody's else" for "somebody else's." They are pestilential people who desire to have it thought that they are "tony," and they really are all that that horrible word implies. The men who say "my dress-suit case" are gents, the women are climbers who have changed their name from Mary to Mayme or from Mabel to Maybelle. Call it a suit case if you will but don't call it a dress suit case any longer. Stop it!

SUDDEN DEATH.

The very sad news reached Rev. J. H. and Mrs. Coy of the sudden death of their son, Frederick, of Saskatoon. It is a very sad blow to Brother Coy and his family being the first break by death that they have suffered, and particularly sad to his young wife to whom he had been married but a few months. He was 32 years of age. The remains will be brought east for interment. The family have the sincere sympathy of all in their sore affliction.—King's Highway.

Emery-Cloth and Sandpaper are Useful in many ways in the house. A small board to which sandpaper has been glued flat is good for rubbing flatirons upon, to take off any roughness. Emery cloth of different grades of fineness may be glued to narrow strips of wood for use in sharpening knives or scissors, putting a better point upon a pencil, or cleaning a rubber eraser. When sharpening scissors in this way be careful to push the blade in firm, even strokes, always from you.

Carleton County Exhibition.

The Carleton County Exhibition opened on Tuesday afternoon Sept. 25th with some ceremony. At half-past two a procession started from the Carlisle Hotel to the park grounds. The sheriff and chief of police, mounted, led off, followed by the 67th Regiment Band. Next came the Boys' Brigade, in uniform, eighty strong, commanded by Captain J. J. Bull. They were followed in turn by a barouche containing Hon. Mr. Farris, Solicitor General Jones, Judge Carleton and President Raymond. Other barouches contained American Consul Denison, Warden Bailey, B. F. Smith, M. P. P., J. Kidd Flemming, M. P. P.; Mayor Munro and Aldermen Leighton, Fields, Henderson and Fisher, besides these were about a thousand people in the procession. Arrived at the exhibition building addresses were made by the Hon. W. P. Jones, B. Frank Smith, M. P. P., J. K. Flemming, M. P. P., the Hon. L. P. Farris, Mayor Munro, Warden Bailey, U. S. Consul Denison, His Hon. Judge Carleton and others.

In the course of his address the Chief Commissioner of Agriculture said that some years ago he had looked into the potato and the starch business with a view to ascertaining whether it would pay to establish starch factories in this province and he had decided that it would not. Now, however, that the potato crop, in Carleton County particularly, has increased so materially, and the market in Western Canada had developed and was apparently a permanent one, he thought perhaps starch might profitably be manufactured from the small potatoes and he had begun to gather statistics again with regard to the manufacture of potato starch and he hoped in a few years to see starch factories in successful operation throughout the province.

The Land For The Labouring Man.

The day has gone by when the man of immense wealth had any advantage in life over the day laborer. A new order of things has been ushered in and the way-faring man has come to his kingdom. Today if you are rich enough to own a cord of wood and want it sawed you must go about it with all the deliberation of a general planning a battle or a diplomat preparing a great international arrangement.

You must first pick out your proposed sawyer and speak to him pleasantly two or three days in succession. Then find out where he lives and get your wife to call. After this you should invite them to tea a few times and later, if you have any remaining misgivings you might hire the Armoury and give a ball for them. Having gone to all this trouble and expense you have no right to any more than a faint hope that the gentleman will cut your cord of wood. The next move is to approach him respectfully as he leans gracefully against a telephone pole some fine day smoking a 25 cent cigar and broach the matter with tact. If the wood is not planed, of course, he won't touch it. If it is planed and there is no dust on it he may finally consent to saw it, as a special favour to a friend, but generally he will tell you in a haughty manner that he is working or he has a job. If he does fill your soul with sublime rapture by consenting to undertake the work he will casually mention a price that would make the president of an insurance company drop dead.

Truly this is the land for the so called labouring man. He lives in ease and comfort, he toils seldom and spins only when he pleases. He is the most independent man on earth. Let no one pity him.

Senator Platt and His Wife Have Trouble

When Senator Platt at three score and ten married the vivacious matron, Mrs. Lillian Janeway, his son and friends were astounded, and of course the cynical made prophecies. The New York World Monday morning publishes a page story, the gist of which is that the aged and infirm senator and his lively and lovely spouse have come to the parting of the ways. A good looking coachman in the employ of the Platts is a central figure of the story. Senator Platt, Mrs. Platt and everybody concerned say, the whole thing is a lie.

The beautiful Mrs. Platt is a down east product, and her first husband was a New Brunswicker named Snow. Mrs. Platt was Carrie Thompson. She was born at Portage Lake, Me.

She was the widow of the late Holland Snow of Woodstock, and after the death of her husband she married Dr. Janeway, of New York. He died in 1897, and she went to Washington. She met Platt. It is a well known fact that Platt was always friendly to good looking women who wanted government jobs, and the government departments in Washington have on their pay rolls many of the proteges of the senator.

It was not long before both Mrs. Janeway and her daughter were drawing salaries as employes of the congressional library. Mrs. Janeway's salary was 60 dollars a month. She soon became noted as one of the best dressed women in the capital, and her diamonds were the envy of all the clerks and employes. She had a private carriage and spacious apartments opposite the Arlington. Soon the senator built a handsome house, furnished it magnificently and Mrs. Janeway took possession and entertained lavishly. Later in the course of their friendship the Senator married Mrs. Janeway.

Mrs. Platt's daughter a few years ago married Colonel Francis Carmody, an assistant United States district attorney. He and his wife are indulging in divorce proceedings, and he is very bitter against Mrs. Platt. To Colonel Carmody is attributed the publication in the World today.

Senator Platt is now seventy-three years old. Like his fellow senator from the great empire state, Depew, he has become absolutely ridiculous in the eyes of the public.

Mrs. Platt is well remembered in Woodstock and in Andover where she once lived.
