WOODSTOCK, N. B., JUNE 6, 1906.

Poor Robin.

I killed a robin—the little thing,
With a russet breast and a glossy wing, That comes to the apple tree to sing.

I flung a stone as he twittered there, Intending only to give him a scare, But off it went and hit him square.

A little flutter, a little cry, Then on the ground I saw him lie.
I didn't think he was going to die.

But as I watched him I soon could see He never would sing again for me On a swaying branch of the apple tree.

Never more in the morning light, Never more in the sunshine bright, Trilling his song in gay delight.

And I'm thinking every summer day How never, never, I can repay The little life that I took away.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J.
Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
Sold by Druggists. Price 75c. per bottle.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Slightly Mixed.

Outside the Windsor Hotel in Strathcona, one day last week, stood a horse and buggy.
From out the bar stepped a natty Englishman, wiping the foam of a glass of Bawss from his lips. Into the buggy stepped he.
Taking the lines, he clucked to the animal, but the animal started to back up on to the sidewalk.

"I wonder what's the matter with the nag?" murmured the Englishman.

"Why, don't you see?" said a longhaired man with a ruminative eye. "His hind shoes are on his front feet."

"By jove, no wonder the old fellow was going backwards. I'll tie him up to this post and send for a blacksmith right away.
Come in and have a glass of something till he arrives."

"All right old cocky."
The blacksmith came around and looked very wise and led the horse away around the corner somewhere. In about ten minutes he returned.

"Ah, my dear sir, I see you have him fixed all right now. How much do you charge?"

"Oh," said the blacksmith, with the faint trace of a grin creeping over his face, "Set 'em up to the house and we'll call it square."
"Delighted, my dear boy, delighted, and over so much obliged!" Bawss for mine."

Dangerous Contact Mines.

When the war between Russia and Japan came to a close a good deal was said concerning the dangers of navigation in the Japanese and Yellow Seas, owing to the number of contact mines floating about irresponsibly in all directions. It seems that the peril is still existent. The British man-of-war Astrea had a demonstration of this fact the other day. As she was steaming out of Wei-hai-Wei an object which proved to be a floating mine was discovered drifting across the channel. Presently it lodged on a shoal not far from the island. The officers made a target of it, firing at it with rifles, and presently it blew up, with an explosion which left no doubt concerning the fate of any vessel which might have happened to come in collision with it. More than a year has gone by since peace was established, and still these monstrous engines are adding new terrors to the Eastern seas. And no one can say how far one of them might be drifted by wind and tide.

Involved Vociferosity.

"Gentlemen of the jury," erupted the attorney for the plaintiff, addressing the twelve Arkansas peers who were sitting in judgment and on their respective shoulder-blades, in a damage suit against a grasping corporation for killing a cow. "If the train had been running as slow as it should have been ran, if the bell had been rung as it orto have been rang, or the whistle had been blown as it should have been blew, none of which was did, the cow would not have been injured when she was killed!"—Puck.

Contracted Quarters.

The sort of conversation in which Martha Hackett often indulged was peculiarly trying to her cousin, Mr. Lane.
"Martha's been here all the morning," said Mrs. Lane, wearily, at dinner one night. "She talked on and on about things that didn't amount to anything, and were all disconnected. I endured it as well as I could, but it does seem some times as if she was wandering in her mind."
"Well, there's one thing," said Mr. Lane, grimly, "you needn't ever worry about her going far if that's where she's wandering."

When Surgeons and Barbers Joined Hands.

More than 400 years old is the Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh. At the time it was founded the surgeons and barbers of the city were united as one of the fourteen incorporated trades of Edinburgh. On July 1, 1505, they received their charter from the Town Council. The charter of the barber-surgeons was confirmed by James IV., an early Stuart King, of great enlightenment and accomplishment, who took much interest in the progress of the surgeons on account of the needs of his army in time of war.

In the charter leave was given to the incorporation to control the medical education of the city, such as it was in these days; of blood letting, to have the sole right of practice and to put down quacks.

They were to get every year the body of a criminal who had been executed to practice anatomy on, and they promised in return to do "suffrage for his soul." Of the first 158 members of the incorporation, six were surgeons to the Kings of Scotland.

As society improved and medical science developed, the gulf between the surgeons and barbers widened, and in 1772, as the result of a process in the Court of Session, the connection was finally terminated. The deacon or president of the incorporation of surgeons was for more than 320 years a member of the Town Council of Edinburgh, ex-officio, and several of the deacons were members of the Scottish Parliament.

Sansho Panza's Proverbs.

There is still sun on the wall.

It requires a long time to know any one.

All sorrows are bearable if there is bread.

He who does not rise with the sun does not enjoy the day.

Everyone is as God made him, and very often worse.

Until death, all is life.

Red Rose Tea costs no more than other teas

EVERYONE agrees that the best in anything is always the most economical even if it costs more.

But when you can get the best in tea at the same price you pay for inferior teas, —when you can get that "rich fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea,

—when you can get all the good qualities of both Indian and Ceylon teas with none of their weaknesses,

—when, in short, you can get Red Rose Tea at the same price as other teas; why not have it?

It is important that persons placing FIRE INSURANCE

should select strong and reliable companies. This being the case it would be impossible perhaps to find four stronger and more reliable companies represented in Carleton County in one office than the following companies for whom the undersig-CALEDONIAN, the Oldest Scottish Fire Office, NORWICH UNION, Established in 1797.

ATLAS, Founded in the reign of King George III
