Toole's One Act Play.
Here's a good story of the late Mr. Toole that will be new to many of our readers. "What I want is a bright, short play," Toole said to the amateur who had brought him six act drama. "How do you mean—a short, bright drama?" asked the author. "Can you give me an idea?" "Oh, yes," said Toole, "here's one. It's direct and leaves much to the imagination. "It is in one act. "When the curtain goes up two persons are discovered on a sofa, one a pretty young woman, the other a nice looking young fellow. They embrace; neither of them say a word. Then a door opens at the back and a commercial traveller enters. He wears an overcoat and carries an umbrella. You can tell at once by his manner that he is the husband of the young woman! At least that would be the inference of every intelligent playgoer. "The husband takes off his coat, draws from his pocket a heavy Colt's revolver and in the midst of the silent embrace of hero and heroine fires. "The young woman falls dead. "He fires again and the young man is similarly disposed of. Then the murderer comes forward, puts on a pair of eyeglasses and proceeds to contemplate his sanguinary work. 'Great heavens!' he exclaims, 'I am on the wrong floor.'"

Australia's Prosperity.
(Toronto News.)
Australia has just completed its first quinquennium under federation, and, according to the Sydney correspondent of the London Morning Post, the figures of the public accounts are very satisfactory. These show sound trade, abundance of money, increase of savings, large returns upon all investments, a growth of land settlement and a general growth of population. South Australia, which apprehended a deficit, has the largest balance at its credit the State has ever known. Queensland shows a surplus of £127,000, Victoria of £600,000, and New South Wales of £930,000, while the Commonwealth, after paying over three-fourths of its customs revenue to the States in the discharge of its constitutional obligations, has distributed among them its own surplus of £827,000 which is £358,000 more than was expected. Splendid rains have visited the pastoral and agricultural areas, there is a general mining revival, high prices for wool, a natural growth of export trade facilities, and an enlarged output of manufactures. It is pointed out that these results have not been purchased by fresh burdens upon the taxpayers, and indeed are in no way exceptional. The railways and other business undertakings, built with borrowed money, not only paid interest upon all sums expended thereon, but within £200,000 of the total interest upon public buildings, bridges, harbor works and other undertakings not directly reproductive.

Preservation of Timber.
(From the Hartford Times.)
Telephone poles nearly always decay at or just below the ground line. The upper portion of the pole, permanently in the air, rapidly drying after rain, is practically always dry and is rarely found decayed. The butt of the pole, deeply buried in the ground, is in a permanently damp condition, but oxygen being excluded it is seldom badly affected. Close to the ground line the soil retains the moisture and keeps the woods constantly damp where it is exposed to the air and to the heat of the sun, which is just what its little vegetable enemies like; but if the al-bumen in the wood can be rendered unfit for food the wood tissues offer practically no support to fungi. Timber preservation amounts, then, to poisoning the food supply of the destructive agencies. Preservation of timber is attempted in three ways—by seasoning, either natural or artificial; by outward mechanical means, such as charring in fire or the applications of antiseptics on the surface of the stock, and by impregnating the wood with antiseptics. Of these the last is by far the most important. The most perfect method—which is also the most expensive—is the injection of dead oil or coal tar into the whole fibre of the pole.

Decadent Towns.
Sheriff Tuck of British Columbia has, says the New York Sun, seized for debt Slocan City, which had a population of 1,000 in 1900, and now has 160. Tuck must have been welcomed with open arms as a monotonous killer and told to do his worst. But in its census return Slocan City is no more remarkable than some of the New England towns of departed grandeur and reduced substance. There is Batimore in Vermont, for instance, which has declined to some fifty individuals of all sexes and ages. Each male adult who can read and write and is able to keep out of jail goes to the Legislature in his turn as a prerogative, for every town in Vermont is entitled to a representative.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., SEPT. 5, 1906.
Coals From a Forge.
(By J. Marvin Nicholls.)
The real secret of a happy life is to put one's powers as far as they will go. Your sense of the difference between right and wrong is the limit of your convictions on a given question. The element of time enters everything. Given time, and the problem will not only be solved, but slowly and imperceptibly out-grown. Sooner or later we shall fall; but meantime it is for us to fix our eyes upon the point to be stormed and get there if we can. Extreme wealth, like extreme poverty, is an atmosphere laden with deadly poison. This day is a summary of the ages—and you are a part of tomorrow. Love is the only power of the human heart that grows by absolutely giving itself away. When I see what is called motherhood in these modern times I think with Napoleon: "What is needed in my beloved France—Mothers!" Excessive wealth generates no happiness. And yet we enter the race—the last one of us. Put on the brakes! Some day, by its awful momentum, the splendid machinery will go to the junk pile. No man can amass a fabulous fortune and at the same time hold intact the finer virtues of the soul.

WHAT MEN OWE TO FIT-REFORM
Originators in Canada of Hand Tailored Garments, Completely Finished.
First in the Field, and First in the Esteem of the Canadian Public.

When Turner, the artist, was asked how he mixed his colors to get his striking effects, he replied "with brains." So it is with Fit-Reform. A tailor may copy a Fit-Reform suit. But Fit-Reform garments are not mere jumbles of cloth, thread and buttons. The expression, the tone, the individuality, the indefinable style, grace and exclusiveness of Fit-Reform, are missing in the copies. Because Fit-Reform Creates. And more. Because Fit-Reform has the brains, as well as the mechanical skill, to perfect its creations. Fit-Reform founded hand tailored garments, completely finished, in Canada. Fit-Reform demonstrated the possibilities of this ideal method of tailoring. Specialists on Tailoring.

Fit-Reform was the first to adopt the specialist system of tailoring. Men were trained on one individual part of the work until they became adepts at it. Today, in the Fit-Reform workrooms these specialists make every part of every garment—sleeves, collars, lapels, shaping shoulders, moulding canvas, all by hand. It is not too much to say that Fit-Reform tailoring corps is the most expert body of its kind in the Dominion. Fit-Reform also originated the plan which gives to every man perfect fitting garments. To fit stout men, short stout men, tall men, slender men, as well as the average men. So exact is the Fit-Reform system—and so gradual the gradations from one physique to another—that it is no exaggeration to state that every man may be fitted exactly in Fit-Reform garments. Suits and Overcoats are so constructed that, if by any chance, a slight alteration should be necessary, it can be made quickly and accurately. Fit-Reform garments are completely finished, for the purpose of enabling men to see if alterations are necessary. Fit-Reform Originated the Wardrobe system, since copied and played-upon by so many Canadian imitators, a manufacturer in the United States going one better, by using the name "Fit-Reform." One of the prime factors in the success, which Fit-Reform has achieved, is the high order of cloths, used in the garments. Quality and value are inseparable with Fit-Reform. Fit-Reform, since its inception, has enjoyed a steady growth, and from its beginning, has been regarded as "THE MAKER" of high class garments for men in Canada. Look For Fit-Reform Label. Fit-Reform is sometimes confounded with those who play upon the name. The public should be on their guard when buying suits and overcoats, to make sure that they get Fit-Reform garments. The Fit-Reform label, with price, is in the left inner pocket of every genuine Fit-Reform garment. Look for it.
