ALMOST A VICTORY.

Woodstock Plays Golf at Saint John.

Last week a team of Woodstock Golfers visited St. John, where on Saturday an exceedingly close match was played with a team from the St. John Golf Club. During the past six years the Saint John and the Woodstock golfers have been twelve times pitted against each other, the former visiting Woodstock in July and the latter playing a return match at St. John later in the season. Woodstock has won every match played on her own links while St. John has been no less victorious in every contest that took place in the foggy city.

The match played on Saturday was the twelfth of the series and many times during the day it looked as if the time honoured custom of give and take would go by the board. At noon Woodstock was only nine down and the afternoon saw a grave struggle to overcome this lead. The St. John team, however, were successful in "holding their own" and they were nine up at the close of the day's play. The Woodstock team may well feel satisfied at the result of the day's sport for in no match played on Maritime Province links has a visiting team ever before been defeated by such a small margin.

The event was keenly enjoyed, as the day was an ideal one for golf, it was anybody's match until the last pair had holed out. The members of the Saint John Golf Club treated their visitors with "the utmost kindness."

The following is the score:—

The Opening of the Armoury.

On Friday evening last the members of the congregation of the Methodist church opened the new Armoury with a band concert and social entertainment and a very large crowd was present to enjoy the event which proved a complete success.

This immense building, which is one of which any town might be proud, is an ideal place for anything of this nature. In the large drill hall the young ladies of the church had beautiful booths arranged on either side. These brilliantly lighted by circles of incandescents arranged for the occasion by Harry Baird. In one booth they had a tempting display of dainty home made candies and the other contained a "fish pond" which consisted of a seemingly endless assortment of packages for which both young and old eagerly fished with hooks and lines.

In a tent in one corner of the hall a charming gypsy told the past as well as the future for the trifling sum of ten cents. In another "Rebecca at the well" strove to quench the thirst of the many who were attracted thither but whether by thirst or by Rebecca herself has not yet been determined.

The wings off the hall were given up to shooting galleries and they were well patronized as good prizes were awarded the best shots. A gentleman from Fredericton gave an exhibition of fancy shooting and showed himself to be an expert with a rifle. He and Captain Carvell tied for first place and in the shoot-off Captain Carvell won out and secured the prize. With the air guns Mrs. Comben captured the ladies prize and C. D. Johnston the gentlemen.

Perhaps the best feature of all was the art gallery. This was in one of the rooms in the rear of the building and the scheme was both original and humorous. It proved an excellent drawing card and speaks well for the ingenuity of those who had it in charge. The proceeds will net over $250.00.

Don't fail to take advantage of the big prize, offered by "Mair," The Prescription Druggist, for the largest Pumpkin and the largest Turnip raised from seed sold by him. $10.00 in prizes, read their advertisements.

MR. PARKER DEWITT Oakville shot the first moose in the county on Saturday morning at Williamstown Lake. It dressed 600 lbs.

A Bit of Criticism.

To Editor of The Dispatch:—

Dear Sir,—I have noticed that when a citizen of Woodstock announces that he is going to leave town a number of people get together and make a demonstration about it. They collect about sixty-five dollars from themselves and others and send word to the departing brother to meet the committee down town at nine o'clock. The guest of the evening puts on his best clothes and goes down. The committee and a few other indians shake him warmly by the hand and after presenting themselves with about sixty dollars worth of liquid conversation, give the guest a present of a magnificent long winded, hot air address, and a solid silver tag for his trunk.

There is no objection to this sort of thing, if it is not overdone, but there is a danger of its being overdone in Woodstock.

Instead of lavishing all your good will on a citizen who is going away to cast in his lot with another town, why not save some of it for the fellow who, after looking over the land in other parts of the continent, comes back to Woodstock and says that is the place for him.

Often, when reading a long account of a "presentation" made to some man who is leaving Woodstock, the thought occurs to me that Woodstock must be a good place to leave. The only people there who seem to be popular are the people who are going away. I never read of a banquet being given to any man who intends to stay there.

Perhaps this criticism may be unwelcome, but, it may do some good, and in the hope that it may I am sure the editor of THE DISPATCH will publish it.

Yours truly,
JOHN SMITH.

Memory of the Late J. T. Garden Honoured.

At a meeting of Christ Church Corporation on Tuesday evening last the following resolution moved by T. C. L. Ketchum and seconded by J. T. Allan Dibblee was carried by a standing vote:

Whereas, since the last meeting of this Corporation it has placed Almighty God to remove from our midst, one of our most valued and useful members in the person of the late Julius Thompson Garden, we, the Rector, Churchwardens and Vestry here assembled take this, our first opportunity to place on record the sense of our great loss. Since his early manhood Mr. Garden took a lively interest in all church affairs, and devoted much of his valuable time and singular business ability to the aid of church work in the parish and diocese. That church matters in this parish are now in a satisfactory condition is due in a great extent to the services he freely and ungrudgingly rendered, particularly while he filled the office of churchwarden, an office from which only their knowledge of his enfeebled health, would induce the parishioners to permit him to retire. As a true and faithful servant of the Church he attended to his own religious duties and watched her interests jealously and the keen loss which we feel as individuals and as a body is softened by the sure and certain hope we have that to him have already been spoken the words by his Eternal Master "Well done."

The Maine Elections.

The Maine elections were held last week and Gov. Cobb, Republican, was re-elected, defeating Mr. Davis, Democrat, by a majority of about 9,000 votes. This was not altogether gratifying to the Republicans nor depressing to the Democrats, as two years ago Gov. Cobb's majority over Mr. Davis was about 25,000. The great gains of the Democrats are without doubt due to the dissatisfaction of many of the electors with the rigid enforcement of the prohibitory law by the R-publican.

This dissatisfaction was more marked in the cities than in the rural districts. Its extent is manifest when we learn that while in 1904 90% of the cities supported Gov. Cobb, this year only 20% of them supported him.

It is apparent that the State of Maine has not yet settled the liquor question.

A. Bishop Carvell.

Mr. A. Bishop Carvell one of the best known and most respected residents of Carleton County died on Tuesday morning, September 11th, at his home in Lakeville, in the 78th year of his age. He had a slight stroke of paralysis about a year ago and had not been well since.

He leaves a widow who was a Miss Lindsay, three daughters, Bertha of Boston, Emma who lives at home and Bessie who teaches school at Perth, and four sons, Harry, ex-warden of the County and a member of the County Council, and Robert of Lakeville, Frank B. Carvell, Barrister at Law, who represents Carleton County in the Canadian Parliament and Lewis Carvell of Boston.

The funeral which was a large one, was held on Thursday afternoon. The services were conducted by the Rev. George Ayers pastor of the Methodist church. Interment was made at the Williamstown cemetery.

The pall bearers were William Armstrong, Mungo Wilson, John Watters and Sullivan-King.

A pretty ceremony took place in St. Gertrude's church last Wednesday afternoon when George Henry King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. King, and Katherine Louise, daughter of Daniel Sullivan, were married by Rev. F. J. McMurray. The church was crowded with friends of the young couple. The bride looked very pretty in a traveling suit of light grey with white hat. She carried a bouquet of white asters.

Miss Nellie Sullivan, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore green with hat to match. The groomsmen were D. J. Shea, of Fredericton. M. F. Sullivan gave the bride away, in the absence of her father, who is in Montana. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played and nuptial hymns sung, Miss Margaret Hughes presiding at the organ. After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the train for a honeymoon trip to Fredericton, Boston, etc. The bride's going away dress was of grey.

A large number of handsome presents tells of the popularity of both, and one of the most valued is that received from the choir of St. Gertrude's church, of which Mrs. King is a member.

Carvell-Fowler.

On Thursday afternoon, September 13th, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fowler, Lakeville, N. B., was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when at five o'clock their eldest daughter, Myrtle Ivy, was united in marriage to Lewis A. Carvell, of Boston, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Sellar, of Chatham, assisted by Rev. G. Ayers, of Centreville. The bride looked queenly in her robe of white silk with bridal veil and flowers. Her bouquet was of white carnations. She was attended by Miss Marion Armstrong, of Perth, who was prettily attired in grey silk. Little Misses Gertrude Kilburn and Nellie Mallory the flower girls were dressed in white cashmere. The groom was supported by Leslie Fowler brother of the bride. Miss Mary Fowler played the wedding march as the bridal party entered the room, the bride leaning on her father's arm. The happy couple stood beneath an arch of overgreen with autumn leaves and flowers. Only immediate friends and relatives were present.

The bride and groom are widely known and popular, which was evidenced by the hearty congratulations and good wishes expressed, and also by the numerous and costly gifts. After luncheon they left on a honeymoon trip. Mr. and Mrs. Carvell will reside in Boston. The best wishes of their many friends will follow them.
