On Saturday night last the two local courts of Foresters, I. O. F. and C. O. F. about thirty strong, made things lively around the Exchange hotel where they entertained C. J. Green at a farewell oyster supper. Mr. Green, who leaves with his family for Saskatoon this week, was a prominent member of both courts, and to show him that he was appreciated by them the courts united for the occasion and besides the supper, presented him with a gold-headed cane, which was suitably inscribed. After supper Dr. M. E. Commins read the presentation and farewell address, while Stephen Kinny made the presentation in behalf of both courts. Mr. Green's health was then drank with gusto in pure cold spring water. Mr. Green responded and was heartily applauded.

John Kinney, our oratorical representative at the County Council Board, next held the floor and made such a complete and sweeping address that it covered the whole subject and left nothing for anybody else to say, consequently there were no more speeches. The party then adjourned, some to the parlor where singing was indulged in, and others to the smoking room where the crowd smoked cigars at Mr. Green's expense, and played cards till a respectable hour, when "God Save the King" was sung, and all departed giving three cheers for C. J. Green and Miss Emma Giberson, who was organist for the occasion. The supper was well served and highly appreciated and was a credit to the proprietor, Perley Giberson and to the culinary department presided over by his mother and sisters.

Centreville.

Miss E. Perkins eldest daughter of S. A. Perkins of Centreville died at the home of her father on Monday morning last of phthisis at the early age of 28. Miss Perkins has been ill for some time and during the last four months of her life had been confined to her bed. She had suffered since childhood from migraines which was so severe at times as to completely prostrate her. In spite of this she proved to be one of the brightest scholars who ever attended the Superior school of her native village. After completing her course at the school, she attended

Mount Allison, but owing to ill-health she was obliged to give up her studies at the expiration of the second year. While there Dr. Borden pronounced her one of the brightest scholars that had ever come under his tuition. Later she entered the Massachusetts General Hospital to study nursing but after a few month training she was again obliged to give up her course owing to ill health. A father, mother and three sisters are left to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate daughter and sister. She was a very popular young lady and leaves a host of sorrowing friends. She was especially kind to the poor and her acts of charity will long be remembered.

Fred G. Burt one of the best known and most respected citizens of Centreville died at his home here on Monday morning in the 69th year of his age. He had been ill for a year or more, but confined to his bed but a few days. He leaves a widow, three brothers, Howard E. and Haddon S. of Woodstock and John of Boston and one sister, Martha Burt of Boston. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Haddon S. Burt and Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Burt of Woodstock are here to attend the funeral. Mr. Burt was a consistent member of the Baptist church and was for many years the clerk of the church here. He will be much missed by the church and by the community generally.

Bristol.

Rev. L. A. Fenwick preached in the United Baptist church on Sunday evening. Captain Grant and Captain Backus, of the Salvation Army, held service in the Baptist church on Thursday evening.

Mrs. A. McLean and Mrs. A. W. Phillips were in Fredericton last week attending the Provincial Convention of the W. C. T. U.

Miss Pearl Banks spent Sunday with friends at Edmundston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farley went to Woodstock on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lipsett were visiting in Houlton last week.

A young man named Billings, on his way to the lumber woods last Monday, near Foreston was mistaken for a deer by a hunter, and received a bullet in the arm. He was brought into Bristol on Tuesday and taken to the Woodstock hospital for treatment.

Ernest Sewell has bought the Dr. Atkinson house and moved in. Theodore Rogers now occupies the house formerly occupied by Mr. Sewell.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Gray were in Bristol last week.

Mrs. S. E. Estabrooks died on Wednesday last after an illness of some months. She leaves a husband, two sons and three daughters. The funeral on Friday was largely attended. The services were conducted by the Rev. R. W. Demmings of Andover.

East Florenceville.

B. F. Smith's big sale was the chief attraction here last week. Last Wednesday the first day it was almost impossible to get through town.

The snow storm Sunday night made fair sleighing Monday.

Miss Stella Hunter who was operated on for appendicitis in Woodstock a short time ago is able to be up around the house.

H. D. Hunter was in St. John last week.

Watts Tompkins is receiving congratulations, a new boy.

Frances the little girl of Mr. and Mrs. M. Fisher is very low with pneumonia.

His Scheme Worked all Right.

It is related that a certain man was recently very sad because his wife had gone out of town on a visit, which she would not shorten in spite of his appeals to her to come home. He finally hit upon a plan to induce her to return. He sent her a copy of each of the local papers with one item clipped out, and when she wrote to find out what it was he had clipped out he refused to tell her.

The scheme worked admirably! In less than a week she was home to find out what it was that had been going on that her husband didn't want her to know about!

The N. B. Telephone Company has not only increased the rates of residence phones here, but has started in to give us a much inferior service to that of the Central Company. They are now placing several telephones upon one wire, something which the Central Company positively stated would not be done. Are our citizens going to submit to such treatment, more particularly when a system can be installed here which will give to our town a nice little revenue annually.—Campbellton Tribune.

Patience—I didn't think you were on good terms with Polly?

Patience—I'm not.

Patience—Well, you kissed her just now when you met.

Patience—I know I did; and if there is anything in the theory that there are microbes in kisses, I hope she got a lot.—Yonkers Statesman.

An Irishman passing through the wood in a loney part of the country was accosted by a highwayman who, thrusting a revolver in his face, said:

"Your money or your life!"

The Irishman, trembling with fear replied: "Take me loife! Take me loife! Oi'm saving me money fer me old age."

Judge—How did you come to get drunk?

Defendant—Faith, yer Honor, Oi'm not to blame. Oi didn't know what Oi was doin'.

Judge—You didn't. How was that?

Defendant—Well, you see, sor, Oi was under the influence of liquor whin Oi shtarted.—Brooklyn Eagle.

What's the Use?

Once a wise man built a large house. He said:

"I will place in this house many bureaus. There shall be bureaus on all sides, in all the rooms. They shall be large, reaching from the floors to the ceilings, and in these bureaus there shall be hundreds and hundreds of drawers. Then I will say to my wife:

"This one little bureau drawer, down here in the left-hand corner of the cellar, under the stairway, is mine. All the rest of the bureau drawers, my dear, are yours."

And the house of the wise man was finished, and in it were one mile of bureaus, and in the bureaus there were 14,000 drawers.

And it was late Saturday night when the last load of furniture was moved into the house and put in place.

Sunday morning this wise man arose with a light heart. He tiptoed to the little drawer down under the stairway in the cellar to get himself a stiff shirt and a change of underwear. He paused and exclaimed:

"At last I have a private drawer!"

He stooped and pulled the drawer and looked in. It was stuffed to the top.

There were

Veils,

Pads,

Feathers,

Ruchings,

Hair pins,

Red ribbons,

Blue ribbons,

Safety pins,

Petticoats,

Silk Stockings,

Power puffs,

Tufts of hair,

Corset covers,

Carpet slippers,

Trading stamps,

Chewing gum,

Shoestrings,

And other articles too numerous to mention.

The wise man dug out his stiff shirt his underclothes and clean collar and carefully wrapped them in an old newspaper. He carried them to his room and shoved them under the bed.

Then he went out doors and meditated.—The Gateway.

CARE OF THE BABY.

A mother's work and worry in caring for her little ones is greatly lightened if she has on hand a safe remedy for the cure of indigestion, colic, sour stomach, constipation, diarrhoea, simple fevers and the other little ailments that are apt to come to children suddenly. For these troubles Baby's Own Tablets are better than any other medicine. They are mildly laxative, prompt in their action, and a few doses usually leaves the child in perfect health. They do not contain an atom of opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. They always do good—they cannot possibly do harm, and may be given with equal safety to the new born infant or well grown child. Mrs. Reginald James, Fenaghvale, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and find them unexcelled as a medicine for children. They promote sleep and general good health." You can get the Tablets from your druggist or by mail at 25 cents a box by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

She was a very beautiful woman, and she was very beautifully dressed. She entered a Randolph street theatre at last Saturday's matinee with a woman friend and handed her seat checks to an usher. As she swished and frou-froued down the aisle she appeared a personification of all that is exquisite.

The usher, the beauty and the friend arrived at the fourth row from the foot lights. The usher turned down the seats and bowed low as he handed back the checks. The beauty spoke.

"Is them seats ourn?" she demanded shrilly. The usher did not wince. He bowed thrice as low as before.

"Them seats is yours," said he.—Chicago Record-Herald.
