One Government's Way of Raising Funds

The Argentine Republic some while ago adopted in earnest a means of revenue not unknown to Latin States: it has since become recognized as a very profitable method of raising funds. The Buenos Ayres correspondent of the London Economist writes: "Last year the lottery produced a net profit of $5,000,000, 25 per cent. of the proceeds of the sale of the tickets, the remaining 75 per cent having been distributed in prizes. A considerable portion of the five millions was applied to the execution of sanitary works in the capitals of the provinces, but the bulk of it was paid to the Society of Beneficence and the municipality of the Federal capital in aid of the hospitals and charitable institutions under their respective jurisdictions."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment, Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Where Statesmen Are Scarce.

The population of the United States has in it plenty of the materials of which statesmen are made; yet it fails to make them. There is a remarkable dearth of men to whom, at its greatest need, the nation can turn. What is its field of choice for its next President? On one side there is only Bryan, a man shot into prominence by a single flashy speech, or rather by a single metaphor in that speech, and subsequently made notorious by the confident advocacy of a policy in relation to the currency which would have thrown all commerce into confusion and which he has himself been compelled to abandon, though even now he seems not to be clear of the fallacy. On the other side no presentable candidate as yet appears. The Republican party will apparently have to go on its knees to Roosevelt, a man of impulse, sometimes good, sometimes very much the reverse, but very far from fulfilling the ideal of a statesman. The leader of the Senate, the body in which power now centers, is little better than a common jobber. The greatest statesmen of Europe have, as a rule, been highly trained men, dedicated from their early years to the service of the State. No such course of training is open in the United States. The nation is saved from day to day by its own good sense, not by its statesmen.

Death of Dr. Thomas Harrison.

Dr. Thomas Harrison, who was Chancellor of the University of New Brunswick for nearly a quarter of a century, died in Fredericton on Tuesday last, September 18th.

Dr. Thomas Harrison was born at Sheffield, Sunbury county, October 24, 1839, and was therefore in his sixty-seventh year. He was of Loyalist descent, his parents being Thomas Harrison and Elizabeth Coburn. He received his early education at the public schools in Sheffield, and afterwards entered Trinity College, Dublin, from which he graduated in 1861, taking high honors in mathematics. He received degrees of B. A. and LL. B. from the University of Dublin in 1864, M. A. in 1873, and LL. D. in 1889.

After graduating from the college he was appointed principal of Sheffield Academy, which position he filled for several years with marked success. In 1870 he was appointed professor of English and rhetoric and of mental and moral philosophy in the University of New Brunswick. In August, 1885, on the death of Dr. Jack, he became professor of mathematics and president of the faculty. The last named position he resigned in 1892 on receiving the appointment of chancellor of the university from the local government.

During his term as chancellor, the course of study was enlarged from three to four years, a new science building was erected and the attendance of students was more than doubled.

Dr. Harrison's health had been failing for some time and during the latter part of last month, after completing thirty-six years of service, he tendered his resignation and it was accepted by the senate.

Dr. Harrison was twice married, his first wife being Miss Taylor, daughter of the late John S. Taylor, of Sheffield, by whom he leaves two sons, Dr. J. Darley Harrison and Arthur Harrison, both of Edmonton, Alberta; and one daughter, Mrs. Stephen Dixon, who resides in the old country, her husband being a professor in Birmingham University.

Mrs. Harrison died in 1893 and two years later the chancellor was united in marriage to Miss Ida Gertrude Whittier, daughter of the late Capt S. L. Whittier, of this city, who survives him. Hon. H. A. McKeown, of St. John, is a nephew of deceased.

For a number of years Dr. Harrison has been a member of the board of education and also of the university senate and his extensive knowledge and ripe experience as educationist made his services invaluable to those organizations.

As an instructor Dr. Harrison had few equals and no superiors in eastern Canada. Although brought up a Methodist, Dr. Harrison some years ago identified himself with the Church of England and was a devoted worshipper at the cathedral. Shortly before his retirement from the chancellorship of the university Dr. Harrison was notified that he had been awarded a pension of $1,333 per annum from the Carnegie fund, and his widow will now receive two-thirds of this amount.

Let Us Not Boast.

The following paragraph is taken from a daily paper:

"A novel combination was that at a meeting held in London recently to protest against the desecration of the Sabbath, when the Archbishop of Canterbury presided, supported by the Roman Catholic Duke of Norfolk and the Congregationalist, Dr. Horton. A letter was read from a prominent Jewish Rabbi, and expressions of interest from the Prince and Princess of Wales."

"How very remarkable," everyone exclaims, "that half a dozen Christians can get together without trying to cut each other's throats." Paragraphs of this sort appear in the papers almost daily and no one seems to see the joke. It is true we don't cut each other's throats for the love of God as much as our pious ancestors did, but we are too far from perfection yet to boast about our charity.

For Temperance Reform.

Temperance reform in England will not languish for need of funds at present if the report be true that the will of a Wesleyan layman leaves a fund of $1,250,000 for this cause, provided that the Wesleyans raise an equal sum.

Agricultural Co-Operation.

Co-operation in the vending of agricultural products has made some progress in this country, for example, in co-operative creameries; but the idea has not gone so far in practice here as in European countries. In Denmark three-quarters of the million cows are owned by farmers who are associated in the thousand or more co-operative creameries, and many bacon-curing establishments are organized on the co-operative system. Holland has a federation of co-operative dairies. In Germany are a thousand societies of farmers, which not only sell produce, but promote irrigation plans and other agricultural activities and buy implements, fertilizers and other farm supplies at wholesale. The development of the granges in America has been accompanied by some effort at economical co-operation, but so far this form of union has not made great progress, owing perhaps to the fact that prosperity has rendered such devices of economy less necessary here than in Europe. The fact that the farmers are scattered over a vaster territory has also stood in the way of wide-spread co-operation.

On the shore of Lake Nicaragua is to be found an uncanny product of the vegetable kingdom known among the natives by the expressive name of "the devil's noose." Dunstan, the naturalist, discovered it not long ago while wandering on the shores of the lake. Attracted by cries of pain and terror from his dog, he found the animal held by black, sticky bands, which had chafed the skin to bleeding point. These bands were branches of a newly discovered carnivorous plant, which has been aptly named the "land octopus." The branches are flexible, black, polished, without leaves and secrete a viscid fluid.
