

Fashions For Men.

The November issue of Harper's Bazar says, one of the fads of the year is to have the tie, the pocket-handkerchief, and the hose of the same color. Consequently for the morning there are numerous combinations in colors for handkerchiefs of this kind. The borders are in plaids and quite deep, and there is the monogram in the solid color in one corner. But there are many who prefer white linen handkerchiefs, and these come with a narrow hem and a small initial.

Hose are in solid colors. For the present stripes and fancy patterns are tabooed. Silk and Lisle thread are the best material. The walking sticks are plain with a crook, and with little or no silver upon them. All boots and shoes have rounded, not pointed, toes. Boots and shoes this autumn and winter will be rubber soled or at least rubber heeled. Goloshes and overshoes are among the articles men are discarding, except, perhaps, when they go out in the evening to dances, etc., with low shoes or pumps.

Cold Meat With Tomato Sauce

Can be ready to eat in little more than five minutes. Slice thin six or eight pieces of rare roast beef, and take one teacupful of stewed tomato, one-half teacupful of stock or gravy, one small white onion, minced fine, one tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce and one of tomato sauce, one-half teaspoonful of French mustard, salt and paprika. Melt the butter in the chafing-dish, add the onion, let it cook for five minutes, then add the mustard, tomatoes, gravy or stock, and sauces, stir until a smooth sauce is obtained, and then add the beef, leaving it only long enough to warm through. Serve with brown bread.

Gasoline is the excellent friend of the economical housewife. No moth can live in the rugs, carpets, or upholstered furniture and hangings which have been plentifully besprinkled with it. Clothing and furs, if well saturated with gasoline, may be packed away for months without a thought for their safety. The bath tub and the sink are easily cleansed with a small amount of it poured on a flannel cloth, while brushes dipped in gasoline come forth fresh and clean.

A Magnetic power of attraction lies in the mastery of the art of agreeable conversation. It cannot be acquired all at once, but every little helps. Speak in low, well-modulated tones. Thomas Wentworth Higginson said: "Put me in a dark room with all sorts and conditions of persons, and I will pick you out the gentlefolk, guided only by the inflection of their voices."

Women should produce their voices midway between throat and chest. The power comes from there, the sweetness from the same place where loving, caressing tones and persuasive ones are formed—wherever that may be. Every one has such a repertoire. Slang sometimes gives piquancy to a man's conversation, but is a jarring note in that of a charming girl.

Fire Cure For Disease.

The latest panacea is to be found in the chimney corner, says The London Daily Express.

Physicians are recommending aromatic woods and fragrant peat, which, when thrown on the fire, send up a healing smoke. A firm in Queen's road, Bayswater, is exhibiting these novelties for the grate. Mossy slabs of peat are stacked in the shop windows, and are considered an excellent fuel for lung complaints. Picture postcards of peat can be sent to a friend suffering from asthma. The postcard is read and burnt, and the sufferer draws his chair up beside the grate to inhale the medicinal odor.

Aromatic fire-lighters, cut in trellis fashion, are steeped in turpentine, and their warm glow and balmy fumes will relieve a gasping bronchial patient.

Fire revivers are an antiseptic and will keep away influenza. They are in the shape of small bricks, and will revive a dying fire and perfume the whole house.

Pine logs send out a tonic vapor, oak and elm are stimulating, sandal wood will relieve a nervous headache.

Tiny blocks of wood steeped in eucalyptus oil, are recommended for a bad cold. Lavender water pellets or eau de Cologne globules, sizzling merrily on the hob, will freshen up the overtired visitor, while a few drops of attar of violets on a hot shovel will cure insomnia and produce refreshing sleep.

A teaspoonful of ammonia, added to a saucapan of boiling water, will revive a fainting patient. It has even been suggested by a well-known specialist that a teaspoonful of tea thrown in the kettle and inhaled will benefit the weary housewife far more than if she sipped her favorite beverage.

A nerve specialist, who was consulted on the new cure by an Express representative, considers that there is a future before it.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that there should be a more intimate knowledge of the need for healthy inhalations."

"Not only flowers or jars of potpourri should be used to scent a room, but scented logs should be thrown on the grate instead of the usual faggots."

"Perfume, in any form, is a stimulant, a narcotic, or a sedative, as the case may be, but no perfume is so healing and subtle in its effect as that which rises warm and balmy from the fire."

"A little scent sprinkled on a block of wood will save a woman from many an acute attack of neuralgia or congested headache."

Not the Same.

A young woman who has recently taken charge of a kindergarten, says the New York Sun, entered a trolley-car the other day, and as she took her seat smiled pleasantly at a gentleman opposite. He raised his hat, but it was evident that he did not know her.

Realizing her error, she said in tones audible throughout the entire car: "Oh, please excuse me! I mistook you for the father of two of my children!" She left the car at the next corner.

A CRIPPLE CURED.

Helpless and Bent with Rheumatism—Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I was a helpless cripple. I was bent in form and could not straighten up. Crutches were my only means of moving about. I tried many medicines, but they all failed until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—they cured me." George Schaw, of Short Beach, N. S., made the above almost startling statement to a reporter a few days ago. Mr. Schaw is now a well built man, strong and broad shouldered. Like thousands of other Nova Scotians, he is a fisherman, and is consequently exposed to all kinds of weather, just the conditions to set the rheumatic poison in the blood at work. Mr. Schaw adds: "It is impossible to overrate the severity of the attack. The trouble was located in my back and right hip. I had to quit work and was mostly indoors. There was a time when I never expected to stand erect again, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills straightened me up again, not only that, but they made me the strong, hearty man you see me today. I can never describe the awful pain I suffered before I used these pills. I tried many medicines and had treatment from several doctors, but to no avail. My legs became so stiff that in order to move at all I had to use crutches. Finally the doctors decided that I was incurable, and told me they could render no further assistance. I continued to suffer day and night, and then came the turning point of my life. A friend from a distance came to see me and it was from him that I learned that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was a great cure for rheumatism. At once I got a supply and began to use them. The first indication that they were helping me was when the pain grew less severe. In a few weeks more the swelling in my legs and hips began to leave, then my joints seemed to loosen up, and then it was not long until my crutches were thrown aside and I could straighten up. Then I began to go out doors and soon was able to resume my work as well as ever. Since that time I have never been troubled with rheumatism or lame back. I can tell you my neighbors were all astonished at my cure; they had all thought I would always be a cripple."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure rheumatism by going straight to the root of the trouble in the blood. They make new rich blood that sweeps out the poisonous acid and soothes the jangled nerves. That is how they cure all troubles rooted in the blood, such as anaemia, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, general weakness and the special ailments that only girls and women folk know. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Speak well of every one. If this is not natural and instinctive with you put a bridle (or even a muzzle) upon your freedom of speech and look for the good points in any one whom you are tempted to criticize adversely. A generous, warm-hearted girl who seems to find everybody likable, and loves to point out the charms and attractions of those whose names are mentioned in her hearing—if she be sincere—will always have hosts of friends. All expect like treatment at her hands, consciously or unconsciously.
