Dear Mother

Your little ones are a constant care in Fall and Winter weather. They will catch cold. Do you know about Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, and what it has done for so many? It is said to be the only reliable remedy for all diseases of the air passages in children.
It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. It is guaranteed to cure or your money is returned. The price is 25c. per bottle, and all dealers in medicine sell 314

The Japanese Issue.

A phase of the anti-Japanese agitation has appeared in Southern California. It has no relation to the educational trouble in San Francisco, but it may seriously increase the friction which that trouble has caused.

It is in the orange grove, not in school rooms, that antipathy to Japanese has developed at this end of the State. Herald's readers will remember that the employment of Japanese orange pickers last year, made necessary by inability to get sufficient white labor, led to serious conditions at times. A repetition of such trouble has begun this year, causing much apprehension in certain sections of the orange belt.

Orange picking has not yet fairly begun, nor will it begin fully until after the holidays.
Nevertheless, there is incipient trouble already concerning the pickers, notably in the Highland district, east of San Bernardino, and in the continuous Redlands district.
Last week, for instance an orange grower in East Highland was hanged in effigy because he employed Japanese pickers. The act was attributed to white pickers who are supposed to be associated in a union.

The situation causes fear that the orange crop may suffer for lack of labor when the marketing season begins at full force. It is conceded that it will be impossible to harvest the crop without resort to Japanese labor, and the San Francisco agitation is likely to influence prejudice when Japanese and white labor are brought together.

A prominent orange grower says: "The coming in of this transient labor from some source is a necessity; there is help enough available here for all the year, except the picking and packing season, then we have to import outside help." It also is said on behalf of the growers: "If the Japanese took away employment from one man, or reduced the wages a penny, there might be reason for fault-finding, but they do neither."

Last year Japanese were subjected to frequent insults where they were employed in the orange groves, and in some cases to brutal attacks by white ruffians. This year a much larger number of Japanese probably will be employed, and it will not be strange if they resent such outrages when they happen to be in sufficient numbers.—[Los Angeles Herald.

The Engineer Cried.

"Yes indeed, we have some queer little incidents happen to us," said the fat engineer.
"A queer thing happened to me about a year ago. You'd think it queer for a rough man like me to cry for ten minutes, and nobody hurt, either, wouldn't you? Well, I did, and I almost cry every time I think of it.

"I was running along one afternoon pretty lively, when I approached a little village where the tracks cut to the street. I slacked up a little but was still making good speed, when suddenly about twenty rods ahead of me a little girl, not more than three years old, toddled onto the track. You can't even imagine my feelings. There was no way to save her. It was impossible to stop or even slack much at that distance, as the train was heavy and the grade descending. In ten seconds it would have been all over, and after reversing and applying the brake, I shut my eyes. I didn't want to see any more.

"As we slowed down my fireman stuck his head out of the cab window to see what I stopped for, when he laughed and shouted to me, 'Jim, look here!' I looked, and there was a big, black Newfoundland dog holding the little girl in his mouth, leisurely walking toward the house where she evidently belonged. She was kicking and crying, so that I knew she wasn't hurt, and the dog had saved her. My fireman thought it funny and kept laughing, but I cried like a woman. I just couldn't help it. I had a little girl of my own at home."—The Young Catholic Messenger.

Bishop Potter on Dancing.

The Right Rev. Henry C. Potter, Bishop of New York, is writing a series of articles for Harper's Bazar in which he takes up the current questions of the day in their relation to women. In his remarks on dancing, published in the January Bazar, the Bishop says some really startling things. For example: "Some such homely proverb as 'What is one man's meat is another man's poison,' is,

WOODSTOCK, N. B., JAN. 9, 1907.

in truth, the most philosophic statement of a great many questions which human society, the church, the state, the municipality, the family, are striving to settle in some other way. And of nothing is this more true than of what are known as 'round dances'. In other words, you cannot generalize about them, and say that they are invariably 'bad' or invariably good. There are e. g. a great many persons whom a 'round' dance makes speedily dizzy, and if so there ought not to be any question about the wisdom of their avoiding them. And, just so, there are others upon whom, in quite a different way, the effects of such dances are equally mischievous and unwholesome; but, my reverend brother, you must not take your dirty imagination into the pulpit and denounce as invariably dis-soluble and degrading that which many a decent young girl who hears its description from your lips knows of absolutely in no other way. In a word, what may be quite true of some coarse natures, and of some low masculine minds, is by no means universally true, and may not, except with insolent presumption, be universally predicted."

Piles get quick relief from Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Remember it's made ALONE for Piles —and it works with certainty and satisfaction.
Itching, painful, protruding, or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Try it and see. All

An English Classic.

"Constant Reader" asks (1) who was the author of "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star?" and (2) what are the words of this poem?

(1) Jane Taylor, the authoress of "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," was born in Holborn, London, in 1783, and although cut off by consumption at a comparatively early age, came to be known on four continents, and to take rank in the eyes of such a critic as Sir Walter Scott as "among the first women of her time." Among her principal works are: "Contributions of Q. Q.," "The Display," "Poetry and Reality," "Essays in Rhyme." Her brothers and sisters also rose to some eminence in the world of letters.

(2) The words are:
Twinkle, twinkle, little star, How I wonder what you are;
Up above the world so bright, Like a diamond in the night.

When the blazing sun is gone, When he nothing shines upon,
Then you show your little light, Twinkle, twinkle, all the night.

Then the traveler in the dark, Thanks you for your tiny spark;
He could not tell which way to go If you did not twinkle so.

In the dark blue sky you keep,
And often through my curtains peep;
For you never shut your eyes Till the sun is in the skies.

As your bright and tiny spark Lights the traveler in the dark, Though I know not what you are,
Twinkle, twinkle, little star.

"Yes, ma'am" said Bridget, "I'll be havin' ye. I don't like that snip of a dude that does be callin' on Miss Mabel." "The idea!" exclaimed her mistress. "He doesn't call to see you, so what—" "I know he don't ma'am, but I'm afraid some of the neighbors might think he does."—[Philadelphia Press.

RANGES, COOK STOVES AND HEATERS.]

Did it ever strike you that when you buy a Stove from Connell Bros., that if by any chance it does not WORK RIGHT, they are at hand to MAKE IT WORK RIGHT. They cannot afford to let the stove do anything else but WORK RIGHT.
Their stoves are all built to WORK RIGHT, made from good patterns; of the best material, and by good workmen. Another thing, too, they have all pieces for the stove, so you don't need to get rid of a good stove that was made by them because you can't get the repairs for it. We have repairs for stoves sold 25 years ago.

So intricate is the mechanism of the modern piano that only an expert can properly understand it. The average person thereon their faith in the word of the dealer and the reputation of the piano. There are two reasons why you should buy your piano from me. FIRST,—I am always here to stand back of every statement I make about a district for some of the best pianos on the
