

Minister Speaks to Mothers

Tells His Wife's Experience for the Sake of Other Sufferers.

The following letter has been sent to Dr. T. A. Slocum, Ltd., for publication.

Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited.—Dear Sirs: Within the last two years my wife (who is of a delicate constitution) has had two severe attacks of La Grippe, both of which have been speedily corrected by the use of Psychine. We have such faith in the efficiency of your remedies that as a family we use no other. For toning up a debilitated system, however run down, restoring to healthy action the heart and lungs, and as a specific for all wasting diseases, your Psychine and Oxonolium are simply peerless. Yours sincerely, Rev. J. J. Rice, 51 Walker Avenue, Toronto.

PSYCHINE, Pronounced Si-keen, is a scientific preparation, having wonderful tonic properties acting directly upon the Stomach, Blood and weak organs of the body, quickly restoring them to strong and healthy action. It is especially adapted for people who are run down from any cause, especially Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, LaGrippe, Pneumonia, Consumption and all stomach or organic troubles. It has no substitute.

No Such Thing as Mind Reading.

Kellar, the famous magician, was questioned recently regarding his views in mind-reading and other apparently supernatural experiences. Mr. Kellar said: "There is no such thing as mind reading. Sensational drives through crowded streets in search of hidden objects are based on the natural principle that a person cannot concentrate his or her mind on the location of a given subject, keep in motion, and not go toward it. This sort of mind reading is muscle reading. Bishop's feats were based on such principles. I do believe, however, in telepathy, as the manifestations of it are so numerous as to compel belief. But telepathy is involuntary. Aside from these involuntary expressions, the mind is a castle in which no person may penetrate.

'Fortune telling,' to use a favorite Washington expression, is "bunk," because we are sometimes told things that we know to be true, and the knowledge of which is in the possession of another person who cannot explain, we come to give fortune telling half credence. Once in Manila I was caught with my company in a hotel during a hurricane that took the roof off and left us in total darkness. Next to me was a man I could not see but he introduced himself to me as Mr. Rose, who travelled for an American iron foundry. He said incidentally that he knew some theatrical people then in Hongkong, and told me they were the Victoria-

In a Class by Itself

It is quite true FERROL is an emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and a particularly good one at that. But it combines Iron and Phosphorus with the Oil, and these are just what are needed to make the emulsion perfect and they are just what all other emulsions lack.

FERROL

is unique because It combines Iron and Phosphorus with Cod Liver Oil. It is pleasant to take and easy to digest. It holds the record for increasing the weight (9½ lbs from the use of 25 bottles).

The formula is freely exposed and its bona-fides are vouched for by eminent analysts in Canada, the United States and Great Britain.

It is endorsed by prominent physicians of all schools.

It is used in all the leading Hospitals, Sanitariums and other Public Institutions.

The London (Eng.) Lancet, after careful analysis in its own laboratory, fully endorses it.

We are prepared to substantiate all the above statements. FERROL is the embodiment of health, strength and vitality, and Loftis troupe. With this company was a man who had a somewhat sensational career, enough so, in fact, as to cause him to change his name. Rose told me his history, and it chanced when I arrived in Hongkong a little later and met a member of this particular theatrical troupe that this particular man saw fit to make a slighting remark concerning my professional ability.

Instead of resenting it, I proceeded to demonstrate to him that I had superhuman powers. I told him his past life while in a "fake" trance, and openly told him his real name. He declared that several things that I told him no one knew except himself. He forgot about Mr. Rose, and probably many other Americans. Unless he was to see this explanation to power could convince this man that I was merely an ordinary American.

WORKS OF A WATCH.

To one who has never studied the mechanism of a watch, its mainspring or the balance wheel is a mere piece of metal. He may have looked at the face of the watch, and while he admires the motions of its hands and the time it keeps he may have wondered in idle amazement as to the character of the machinery which is concealed within. Take it to pieces and show him each part separately, and he will recognize neither design nor adaptation nor relation between them, but put them together, set them to work, point out the offices of each spring, wheel and cog, explain their movements and then show him the result. Now he perceives that it is all one design; that, notwithstanding the number of parts, their diverse forms and various offices and the agents concerned, the whole piece is of one idea. He now rightly concludes that when the mainspring was fashioned and tempered its relation to all the other parts must have been considered; that the cogs on this wheel are cut and regulated—adapted—to the ratchets on that, etc., and his final conclusion will be that such a piece of mechanism could not have been produced by chance, for the adaptation of the parts is such as to show it to be according to design and obedient to the will of one intelligence.

HOME WORK OF WOMEN WHICH SHOULD HAVE THE BEST MATERIALS TO INSURE SUCCESS AND PROFIT.

The woman who attempts to color any fabric or article of wearing apparel with the weak and adulterated package dyes sold by some merchants for the sake of big profits, is in the position of the portrait painter who uses common and rough brushes in applying his colors to his pictures; both meet with the same result—utter failure.

The DIAMOND DYES, are used every day by wise and prudent women and girls when they desire new and fashionable shades, and a new life for the old, faded and dingy looking suit, dress, skirt, blouse, jacket, cape and shawl.

The use of any of the crude dyes for home coloring means complete ruin of good materials. Never be misled by the stories by some merchants about their weak and common dyes being as good as the DIAMOND DYES. If your dealer cannot furnish you with DIAMOND DYES, send to us for them; the price is 10 cents each.

Wells & Richardson Co, Limited, Montreal, Que., will send free to any address Booklets on Home Dyeing and Card of 50 Dyed Samples.

Buffalo Bones.

(From 'Forest and Stream.')

Time was, only a dozen or twenty years ago, when the western prairies where the buffalo used to range were strewn with its bones. Earlier than that it was a common sight for the traveller to ride over a little hill and see below him the carcasses of half a dozen of the great brutes that had been shot down for the amusement of some passer-by; sometimes these were skinned, sometimes they were untouched, not even the tongues being taken. After that came an era of skeletons covered with dry hides to which the sun-bleached hair still clung, but a year or two destroyed the hide and there remained only the naked skeleton—the great skull, the complete line of vertebrae with their tall dorsal spines, and the leg bones lying almost in place except where they had been pulled free and dragged about in the play of wolf, coyote, fox and badger. The black horn sheaths still stood on their cores, and sometimes the skulls were tilted in such a fashion as to make the horn look larger than it really was, and at a distance one imagined that some great dark bird was perched on the skull.

These bones are almost all gone now; for of all the relics left by the buffalo they are the least enduring. The weather of twenty-five years has destroyed everything except the skulls, the neck vertebrae, the bones of the limbs and of the pelvis, and it is now very unusual to come upon a buffalo skull that retains the loosely articulated parts—nasal and premaxillary bones. Besides, in many localities along the railways the buffalo bones have been gathered up and shipped away by the car load to eastern manufacturers to be used for a variety of purposes. The handle of the tooth-brush which you use may be made from the leg of a buffalo.

Try This For Your Cough.

To relieve a cough or break up a cold in twenty-four hours, the following simple formula, the ingredients of which can be obtained of any good prescription druggist at small cost, is all that will be required: Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), one-half ounce; Glycerine, two ounces; good whisky, a half pint. Shake well and take in teaspoonful doses every four hours. The desired results can not be obtained unless the ingredients are pure. It is therefore better to purchase the ingredients separately and prepare the mixture yourself. Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), should be purchased in the original half-ounce vials, which druggists buy for dispensing. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case which protects the Oil from exposure to light. Around the wooden case is an engraved wrapper with the name—"Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)"—plainly printed thereon. There are many imitations and cheap productions of Pine, but these only create nausea, and never effect the desired results.

Full Satisfaction.

A musician and a young banker were dining at a continental restaurant, and a dispute ran high between them. At last the musician, a music hall "star", sprang up and pulled out a card, which the banker at once accepted and put in his pocket. Two days later they met in a public park. At once the musician explained: "Sir, you have not yet given me satisfaction!"

"That I have, and to the fullest extent," was the cool answer. "You gave me a ticket to your concert last night, and I went and sat out the performance to the end. What more do you want?"—London Answers.

In Memoriam.

"In the midst of life we are in death." Death has visited our Auxiliary at DeBec and taken from us a loved member.

On December 7th, 1906, Mrs. Sophia Mills, after months of intense suffering, passed peacefully to her reward.

Owing to delicate health our sister was but seldom able to be present at our monthly meetings, but she always evinced the greatest interest in everything pertaining to the furtherance of Christ's kingdom, and it afforded her much satisfaction to be able to assist in our missionary work. In the preparation of our box of clothing, etc., for distribution each year it gave her great pleasure to contribute something wrought by her own hands. One of her last requests was that her sister pay to the treasurer of our Auxiliary her annual membership fee for the present year.

We miss her prayers and loving messages, but trust that her example may be an inspiration to us, and that we may be enabled to exhibit in our lives the faith and Christian fortitude which sustained her in her hours of affliction.

While we think with sadness of our broken circle, we rejoice that in the land to which our sister has gone all the faithful ones will unite to form an unbroken band in our "Father's house of many mansions."

A Help to Economy

Steam or Hot Water Heating will prove economical after the pipes are in. The fittings cost a little more than stoves or a furnace, but the advantage is greater. You operate a hot water system for almost nothing—it is almost no bother—it is the most perfect method. Let us take measurements and tell you the cost.
