Your Doctor

Can cure your Cough or Cold, no question about that, but—why go to all the trouble and inconvenience of looking him up, and then of having his prescription filled, when you can step into any drug store in Canada and obtain a bottle of SHILOH'S CURE for a quarter.
Why pay two to five dollars when a twenty-five cent bottle of SHILOH will cure you as quickly?
Why not do as hundreds of thousands of Canadians have done for the past thirty-four years; let SHILOH be your doctor whenever a Cough or Cold appears.
SHILOH will cure you, and all druggists back up this statement with a positive guarantee.
The next time you have a Cough or Cold cure it with

IN THE SAME FAMILY, YET STRANGERS.

It is one of the most startling of facts connected with human life than men and women—and children—in their deepest experiences are so much isolated. There are many persons whom we have met every day for years, and yet we do not know them. We suppose we do, but we are quite mistaken. It is only the external that we know, not the real persons.

There are brothers and sisters who grow up together, but who never know each other except in the most superficial way, who never come close enough to each other to be sharers in each other's deeper joys and sorrows. What an irreparable loss is this!

There are husbands and wives who always remain strangers. Read Thomas Carlyle's pathetic, almost heartbreaking confessions concerning his wife, made after her death. I think this is just what such confessions mean. In his intense absorption in his literary work he lived a self-centered and isolated life. This left her to live alone an isolated life—so isolated and lonely that her heart almost broke. When she was dead, he saw the wrong he had done her. But it was too late. He could only pour out his heart in unavailing tears. If we would know how bitterly he repented, we must go and watch him as in age and infirmity he makes his regular pilgrimage to her grave and there, in the quiet village churchyard kneels with his hands clutching the grass in the passion of his grief, and kisses again and again the dear spot where she sleeps. How great the pity that a heart which so truly loved should have allowed the very object of his love to starve and pine away and die for want of sympathy and heart companionship!

There are parents who never become acquainted with their children, and children who never at all deeply know their parents. O, the pity of that! and the loss to both, greater than words can tell. There are many parents who are never able to influence their children. As soon as the children grow up they are off into the wild and thoughtless, and often evil, ways, with no regard for the wishes of those whom they ought to honor and love and heed. Why is this? Oftener than otherwise it is because throughout all their childhood years they had been allowed to live so far from their parents as regards their thoughts, their sympathies, their ideals, their real heart interests. And so, because the father and mother did not get near them in their young years, when it would have been so easy, so beautiful and so helpful, they now find themselves separated by a gulf which they do not see how to bridge.

O, mothers, spare some time from your "much serving" in outward things, or from your "social" life, much of which is so superficial and barren, and give it to your children! Not to their clothes—they have hats and dresses enough. These are not the important things. Give your time and thought to their eager minds and starved hearts.

Fathers, spare some time—more than you do—from the rush and drive of your work, to get acquainted with your children—to walk with them, to play with them, to talk with them real heart-talks about the things that deeply interest them, to find out their deep, earnest thoughts, to get into their confidence, to become their close and trusted friend. Believe me, it will pay. It will be worth infinitely more to you than money. It will be worth more to your children than anything else in all this world. It will make them yours as otherwise they can never be. It will fasten them to you with hooks of steel.

Perhaps there has never been a more significant sentence written in regard to parental relations and child-training than that great word of Froebel—"Come, let us live with our children." Not for them—to make money for them, to provide endless things for them, not that! All that is utterly superficial. Come let us live with them; that is the deep, the vital, the absolutely essential thing.—Rev. J. T. Sunderland in Christian Register.

An Irishman was recently travelling in a train accompanied by a minister, when two very stout ladies entered the compartment. They placed themselves one on each side of Pat, who was, of course, much crushed.

The minister, on seeing him so placed, said: "Are you sure you are comfortable, Pat?"

To this question Pat quickly replied: "Sure, your honor, I haven't much room to grumble."

To stop a Cold with "Preventics" is safer than to let it run and cure it afterwards. Taken at the "sneeze stage" Preventics will head off all Colds and Grippe, and perhaps save you from Pneumonia or Bronchitis. Preventics are little toothsome candy cold cure tablets selling in 5 cent and 25 cent boxes. If you are chilly, if you begin to sneeze, try Preventics. They will surely check the cold, and please you. Sold by All Dealers.

The Use of "Mrs."

There is one little etiquette of letter writing which many women who ought to know better are forever transgressing. This is the use of "Mrs." in the signature.

A married woman ought never to sign herself other than "Mary Catherwood Pitcoe." This is imperative if she is writing to an acquaintance. If it is a business letter or to one who would not know her position and married title, she writes under this signature "Mrs. William Pitcoe" in parenthesis.

This is a simple enough rule, but the number of ladies who appear to think they must perpetually inform even the best informed of their married state is truly astounding.

One woman had a little shock the other day on receiving a letter from a social acquaintance whom she admired hugely at a distance. It was a very nice letter, but it was signed "Mrs. William Pitcoe" and gave its recipient a distinct chill of disappointment.

Numbers of women do it. Also many misguided unmarried ladies blazon "Miss" before their names when signing letters to acquaintances. The only use of "Miss" in a signature is in brackets before the name in writing to a stranger who will need to know how to address his reply.

These are little things, but they mark the mistress of the gentle art of letter writing by their omission or commission.

RANGES, COOK STOVES AND HEATERS.

Did it ever strike you that when you buy a Stove from Connell Bros., that if by any chance it does not WORK RIGHT, they are at hand to MAKE IT WORK RIGHT. They cannot afford to let the stove do anything else but WORK RIGHT. Their stoves are all built to WORK RIGHT, made from good patterns; of the best material, and by good workmen. Another thing, too, they have all pieces for the stove, so you don't need to get rid of a good stove that was made by them because you can't get the repairs for it. We have repairs for stoves sold 25 years ago.

So intricate is the mechanism of the modern piano that only an expert can properly understand it. The average person therefore buys a piano on faith, that is, they rely on their faith in the word of the dealer and the reputation of the piano. There are two reasons why you should buy your piano from me. FIRST,—I am always here to stand back of every statement I make about a piano. SECOND,—I have control for this district for some of the best pianos on the market

"QUEEN" Top Draft Heating Stoves.

Come in and see it at our store. It would astonish you. Absolutely air tight and the cleanest stove in the world, no ashes, dust, &c., can get out, and you never require to remove the ashes more than once or twice a month. It saves the expense of splitting wood as it burns it in large chunks. It makes a regular heat and lasts longer than any stove on the market. Made in different sizes.
