

Two Florenceville Men to be Professors of the University of New Brunswick.

In an interview with the Gleaner Dr. Inch announced that Mr. D. W. Hamilton, M. A., now principal of the McDonald Consolidated School at Kingston, Kings county, was the only person thus far to file an application for the position of professor of chemistry at the University. Others he said had been talking of applying for the position, but had not done so up to the present.

Another announcement that Dr. Inch had to make was that it was not unlikely that Mr. H. H. Hagerman, at present on the faculty of the Normal School, Fredericton, would succeed Prof. W. H. Salmon, who is returning to England, as professor of physics. Mr. Hagerman graduated from the U. N. B. in 1893, with the degree of B. A., and in 1899 took the degree of M. A., and since that time he has held a seat on the U. N. B. Senate, being appointed in 1904. Mr. Hagerman has been recommended for an increased salary at the Provincial Normal School, so as to bring his annual stipend there to $1,400, while at the University the salary paid for the position in connection with which his name was mentioned some time ago was $1,100 per year, with free rent, light and fuel. The University position, however, was the most desirable.

Both these men were born and received their early education in Florenceville, Carleton County. Mr. Hamilton was graduated from the U. N. B. in 1901 and received the degree of M. A. in 1903.

He superintended the erection of the Consolidated School building at Kingston and has been the principal of the school since its establishment.

He spent a year at colleges in the United States and Canada doing special work in chemistry, particularly agricultural chemistry.

Diplomatic Friendship.

A recent Associated Press despatch says it has been learned that there are wide differences of views between Secretary Root and the Canadians concerning the proposed settlement of outstanding questions, a thing that is very far from improbable. It is further stated that in almost every case the Canadians demand some national compensation in return for what they are asked to concede, which it will be owned is not unnatural on their part. Among these demands are mentioned not only the purchase of Canadian sealers engaged in pelagic sealing, in return for abandoning that industry, but also the concession of a port on the Pacific to give Canadian traders an entry into and outlet from the Yukon without passing through United States territory. The first of these demands goes without saying, and will, no doubt, be admitted. The other is reasonable. The exclusion of Canada from the sea was the unfriendly purpose of the purchase of Alaska at the first. Its continuance now, is simple unfriendliness. On the one hand it may be claimed that to give up the sealing rights would do Canada no harm and the United States a great deal of good; so on the other hand for the United States to give Canada access to the sea would do the United States no manner of harm and would do Canada enormous good. To refuse this would be simply to declare a fixed and immovable determination to pen us in for our harm and for no good to the United States. The policy of the United States has always been to obtain what she wanted from Canada through Great Britain and give practically nothing in return, her assumed friendliness being regarded by Washington politicians as sufficient compensation. But Canadians, having a hundred and thirty years experience of this sort of diplomatic friendship, are of opinion that the time has come for what President Roosevelt calls a "square deal." Mr. Root will have to realize the justice of this Canadian view of the questions between us if he really desires to arrive at a good permanent understanding with Canada.—Witness.

Where Saskatchewan Legislators Meet.
(From The Canadian Connoisseur.)

The second session of the first Legislature of the Province of Saskatchewan was pro-nounced by Lieutenant-Governor Forget during the first week in April. The "parliament" has been meeting in Regina, in the hall formerly used by the assembly of the North West Territories. This is a small, dark room, with a gloomy appearance, ill-fitting the important and lively debates carried on by the members of the Saskatchewan House. In the middle of the room is a small stove, with stove-pipes radiating in all directions. There is also a stove at the back to keep the spectators warm. This system of heating has many drawbacks, not the least of which is the unfortunate habit which one of the stove-pipes has of slipping out of place. During one of the sittings of the House, when the Speaker, calling for a division, had asked for the "yeas," he was interrupted by the clatter of falling tin. With such a portent the motion was carried unanimously. On this particular afternoon, a monocolored visitor from England happened to be present, and we can imagine what he will have to say when he goes back "over home" about the barbarity of our legislative assemblies.

The Body of Lawson Found.

The body of Henry Lawson was found in a field near the South Gordonsville road on Thursday last. It will be remembered that he left his home, near Oakland, in January, to go to Glassville, and was last seen on an old lumber road leading to Gordonsville. It was some time before it was known that he had not reached his destination, and in the meantime heavy snow had fallen, consequently search was not made. Recently, however, stories have been circulated implying that he may have been foully dealt with, and Sheriff Foster spent some time in investigating the matter. The finding of the body, however, clearly established the fact that the unfortunate man became exhausted and perished in the snow. It must have been night when he reached the place, where he was found, for it was not more than 50 rods from Mr. Burlock's house and in the open field. Lawson was about 50 years old and leaves a wife.

The Penalty of Crime.

In this "age of the child" such a situation as is described below seems incredible. Yet it is vouched for by Mr. Henry Blake in "Chronicles of New Haven Green." The adult of today might not regard the small offender as wholly lost to a sense of right, and even if he did, his sympathy would not be with the sentence pronounced.

A little girl was tried in New Haven, in 1651, before the magistrates' court. Her offense was "prophane swearing." The language with which she was charged was the fiendish expression of "As I am a Christian." The child's mother, by way of extenuation, suggested that her little daughter "learned her ill-carriage at Goodwife Wickham's, where she went to school."

One cannot wonder that the frightened little culprit denied the charge. But even the childish terror did not soften the hearts of the righteous judges. The denial made matters all the worse.

The tiny delinquent was found guilty, lectured with lurid warnings, fined ten shillings for "profanity," and ordered to be "whipped according to her years" for telling lies to the court.

Hunt Their own Thieves.

It is understood that the Canadian Pacific Railway is establishing its own private detective agency to cover every part of the Dominion of Canada. The reason for this is believed to be the very heavy expense accounts which the railway company has had to pay private detective agencies in cases where the railway is interested. Cases have been known where the railway has had to chase defaulters around the world more than once, and in order that there may not only be a saving in expense, but that the railway will be able to secure the services of the best men in the detective profession. It is understood that it will now conduct its own detective agency. This, it is believed, is being done under the name of the Canadian Detective Bureau, Limited, which was recently established in Toronto, with Mr. Walsh, formerly of the Northwest Mounted police, as superintendent.

Music and Fun.

These qualities are the chief charms of "The Toymakers."

Music and fun—this is what everyone enjoys, providing, of course, that the fun is clean and wholesome and that the music is bright and catchy.

In "The Toymakers," a new musical absurdity, written by Charles Felton Pidgin, author of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" these two qualities are so successfully blended, that the result is 150 minutes of unalloyed pleasure, on Saturday May twenty-fifth. "The Toymakers," produced by a clever company of actors, singers and dancers, known as "The Jollities," will come to the Opera House, Woodstock, N. B. for one night only and every one, no matter whether they are old or young, should not fail to see it.

It is an elaborate production and "The Jollities" bring all their own scenery and costumes. The scene is laid in a typical old English toy-shop. "John Senior Stubbs," an old toy maker, has invented a mechanical doll, which through the aid of electricity, comes to life and then arises innumerable shriekingly funny situations. This is in brief, the plot of the piece, there is just enough to hold the attention and not too much to tire anyone.

Those who have read Mr. Pidgin's "greatest New England story," "Quincy Adams Sawyer," will want to see "The Toymakers" and to read the book from which it was taken, for it has that same bright, cheerful style which characterizes Mr. Pidgin's writings.

Joseph's Program.

The mistress of the house is a cultivated Bostonian of much musical taste, and the whistling of the footman, who believed himself alone in the house, fretted her artistic soul.

"Joseph," she called at last, from the head of the back stairs, "please don't whistle those vulgar rag-time things!"

"Yes, mem," he continued, with unexpected spirit, "but you can't expect a rhapsody of Liszt with cleaning the knives. That will come later, when I'm polishing the silver."

Do'st thou think, because thou art virtuous, there shall be no more cakes and ale?

CRIPPLED BY SCIATICA.

Made Well and Strong by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills After Doctors Had Failed.

Mr. H. W. Awalt is one of the leading merchants of Hainford, N. S. A few years ago he was a great sufferer from that most excruciating trouble sciatica. He says: "At the time I was afflicted I was living at Baker Settlement. The attack was so severe that I had been off work for some time. The cords of my leg were all drawn up and I could only limp along with the aid of a stick. The pain I suffered was terrible. I was in misery both day and night. Every moment caused me such pain as only those who have been tortured with sciatica can know. I was treated by several doctors, but they did not help me a bit. In fact I almost began to feel that my condition was helpless, when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought to my attention. I got a half dozen boxes. I had used about the entire quantity before I found any benefit. But I was encouraged and got a second half boxes and before these were all gone every vestige of the trouble had disappeared. Not only this, but I was improved in health in every way, as it will be readily understood that the long siege of pain I had suffered had left me badly run down. I can't speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I can't recommend them too strongly to other sufferers."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure sciatica simply because they make the rich, red blood that soothes and strengthens the jangled aching nerves. That is why they cure such nerve troubles as neuralgia, St. Vitus dance and partial paralysis. That is why they cure all ailments due to poor watery blood. That is why they make weary, despondent, broken-down men and women bright, active and strong. But only the genuine pills can do this, and they have the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People on the wrapper around every box. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Resolution of Condolence.

This resolution was passed at a session of the Woodstock Deanery at Centreville, April 25, 1907:

WHEREAS it has pleased Almighty God in His good Providence to take to Himself the soul of our dear brother, Thomas Neales, priest, master of arts, rector of Woodstock, archdeacon of Fredericton, and rural dean; therefore,

RESOLVE, That we, the clergy of the Deanery of Woodstock, in chapter assembled, desire to hereby place on record our appreciation of the noble character of our departed brother and our sense of the great loss sustained by the church at large in his death, as well as by ourselves and by the church members of his own parish.

"We gladly bear witness to the untiring zeal, wide learning and marked ability which he brought to the service of the diocese of Fredericton, and of the Canadian church. Still more strongly do we testify to the reverent care and constant diligence with which he performed his parochial duties, to his pure and blameless life, and to the influence for good which he exercised upon all with whom he was brought in contact."

Chapman Festival Concert.

The Chapman Concert to be given in our town on May 17th, 1907, is sure of a fine audience. Prof. W. S. Wight, who is managing the same, reports that there is more enthusiasm for this tour than any he has ever managed. It is needless to say more about such artists as Mr. Kronold, Mr. Henderson, Miss Aline Glass, and Mr. Chapman at the piano. This will easily be the musical event of the season, and anyone missing this concert will more than regret it. Excursion trains and low rates will be given on all the railroads. Prof. Wight has prevailed on Mr. Chapman to present a beautiful souvenir picture of the great Madame Calve to all that expect to attend the Festival at Bangor next October. Madame Calve, today is the greatest attraction in the world. Her two appearance at the Festival this fall will cost the Festival management $6000. This will be her first and only appearance that she will make in the State of Maine. Tickets are on sale May 4th for the Chapman concert to be given at Graham's Opera House May 17th. Dont fail to secure your seats at once.

JOHN E. SMITH a well known farmer of Upper Kent died last week after a few days illness of pneumonia. He leaves a wife and family.
