Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else. It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

Combating The Plague in India.
Lord Curzon, former Viceroy of Indian, shows in a recent letter to a Socialist how difficult it is for the Government to combat the plague. He says:

In reply to your letter of July 24th, citing the statements of a Socialist speaker to the effect that the British Administration in India is responsible for the plague, and that the India Government has only exerted "puny efforts" in combating the scourge, I have to say that any such statements are both grossly mendacious and ignorant.

It cannot be to the interest of any Government to see its people harassed, decimated, and dismayed by so fearful a visitation, with its deplorable loss of life, and the terrible strain imposed upon its administrative organization. For nine years the Government of India have conducted an unrelenting campaign against the plague, by inoculation, by ovacuation, by segregation, by the destruction of rats, by the employment of an immense medical staff, by every method, in fine, that science or experience could suggest.

But they have been confronted throughout with the appalling ignorance, the strange superstitions, and the almost incredible suspicion of the native peoples, so that the question often resolves itself into one not of scientific method, but of administrative expediency. In the early history of the present visitation, the energetic campaign against the pestilence conducted by the Government on strictly scientific lines led to tumults, raisings and the murder of European officers. I have myself known a native crowd seize and burn alive a subordinate medical officer of their own race who was enforcing the simplest precautionary measures.

These are the difficulties that have to be confronted in India, and their solution cannot, unfortunately, be bought about by heroic measures there any more than it is likely to be assisted by wild and random language in this country.

HAD AN AWFUL TIME

But Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Cured him.

It is with pleasure that I give you this unsolicited testimonial. About a year ago when I had a severe case of measles I got caught out in a hard rain and the measles settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy.—Sam. H. Gwin, Concord, Ga. For sale by all dealers.

A Satisfactory Audience.

The Rev. Lyman Beecher was once engaged to preach, by way of exchange for a country minister, and the day proved to be very cold and stormy. It was mid-winter, and the snow was piled in heaps all along the roads, so as to make passage difficult. Still the doctor urged his horse through the drifts, till he reached the church, put his horse into a shed, and went in. As yet, there was no person in the house, and after looking about, he took his seat in the pulpit. Soon the door opened and a single individual walked up the aisle, and took a seat. The hour came for opening the service, but there were no more hearers. Whether to preach to such an audience or not, was only a momentary question with Mr. Beecher. He felt that he had a duty to perform, and that he had no right to refuse to do it because one man only could reap benefit; and accordingly he went through all the services, praying, singing, preaching, and benediction, with one hearer. And when all was over, he hastened down from the desk to speak to the "congregation, but he had departed. So rare a circumstance was, of course occasionally referred to, but twenty years after, a very delightful discovery came to light in connection with this service. Doctor Beecher was traveling in Ohio, and on alighting from a stage in a pleasant village, a gentleman stepped up to him and called him by name. "I do not remember you," said Doctor Beecher. "I suppose not," said the stranger, "but we spent two hours together in a house alone, once, in a storm."

"I do not recall it, sir," replied the old minister; "pray where was it?"

"Do you remember preaching twenty years ago, in such a place, to a single person?"

"Yes, I do indeed; and if you are the man, I have been wishing to see you ever since."

"I am the man, sir; and that sermon made a minister of me, and yonder is my church. The converts of that sermon are all over Ohio."

In telling the story Doctor Beecher would add, "I think that was about as satisfactory an audience as I ever had."

The Miller's Song.

(Pamela Tennant in The Academy.)

Full many a night in the clear moonlight
Have I wandered by valley and down
Where the owls fly low and hoot as they go
The white winged owls and the brown.
For it's up and away ere the dawn of day
Where the glowworm shines in the grasses
And the dust lies cool on the reed-set pool
And the night wind passes.

Full many a day have I found my way
Where the long road winds round the hill
Where the wind blows free on a juniper leaf
To the tune and the clank of a mill.
For a miller's a man that must work while he can
With the rye and the barley growing
While his slow wheels churn, and the great
sails turn,
To the fair wind blowing.

For an Improved Appetite.

De Sheepfol'.

De massa ob de sheepfol',
Dat guards de sheepfol' bin,
Look out in de gloomerin' meadows,
Wha'r de long night rain begin—
So he cal to de hirelin' shepa'd
"My sheep, is dey all come in?"

Oh den says de hirelin' shepa'd :
"Dey's some, dey's black an' thin,
And some, dey's po' ol' wedd's's;
But de res' dey's all brung in."

Den de massa ob de sheepfol'
Dat guards de sheepfol' bin,
Goes down in de gloomerin' meadows,
Wha'r de long night rain begin—
So he le' down de ba's ob de sheepfol'
Callin' sof', "Come in! come in!"

Is the Banker Fair?

(From The Canadian Courier.)

The banks are complaining of a shortness of funds and they are not able to give the accommodation thought necessary by the business community. Various reasons have been assigned. Some declare that the bankers are trying to raise the discount rate so as to increase their profits. This surely is untrue, since bank profits are so high now as to create a feeling of unrest among those who are always looking for an opportunity to criticise financial interests. Some claim that the bankers are hoarding money so as to check extravagance in living and investments. This is a more reasonable view, but taken by itself, it is improbable. Such a reason might be one element in the situation but it would not be the only one.

There is one feature which deserves mention in passing. The call loans outside Canada, to wit in New York, increased by seven millions between April and June of this year. That is, at a time when Canadians were being told that money was scarce, the bankers sent seven million dollars to help the speculators across the border. This is a feature of bank policy which cannot be highly commended. Possibly there is an explanation, but it has not been given. When these venerable bank managers talk at all, it is usually to harangue the people to be careful and go slowly and not take any risks; they must meet commercial needs and conditions and meet them quickly if the country is to make headway.

It would seem but reasonable that the banks should be asked to recall some of that fifty-five millions they have in New York and use it to keep the legitimate industries and activities of this country supplied with the necessary funds for prompt transaction of business.

REMEDY FOR DIARRHOEA NEVER KNOWN TO FAIL.

"I want to say a few words for Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have used this preparation in my family for the past five years and have recommended it to a number of people in York county and have never known it to fail to effect a cure in any instance. I feel that I cannot say too much for the best remedy of the kind in the world."—S. Jamison, Spring Grove, York County, Pa. This remedy is for sale by all dealers.
