Dr. Griffin was with her the last few days constantly, she is survived by four sons, Thomas, Ernest, Howard and William, three daughters, Susie, Laura and Ida, one sister Mrs. Crawford, one brother John Speer, of Oak Mountain beside numerous other relatives to mourn their sad loss, deceased was a staunch member of the Presbyterian church and her house was open several times for mission meetings; we are quite sure she was a member of the W. F. M. Society in Maxwell. She was a woman of kind and gentle disposition, a loving wife and mother, a very charitable neighbor, she endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

Rev. Mr. Anderson attended the services. Mrs. C. W. Dickison from Debec played "Our loved ones in Heaven" very sweetly at the home of deceased. The floral wreaths were handsome, Dr. Griffin presented a wreath of white flowers, Miss Ethel and May Harroon wreath of flowers, Ella Graham wreath, and flowers from other kind friends. The pall bearers were the four sons of the deceased. Over 40 teams followed the hearse to the cemetery. The church was filled to its utmost capacity. Miss Ethel Dickison played very nicely, "I know the hour of my departure has come" and other pieces. The casket was opened and the congregation viewed the remains of their old neighbour and friend, whose husband keeps the large store in Maxwell.

He Should Have Been Fenced.

(Harper's Weekly.)

Not long ago a woman appeared at the office of the claims agent of an Aankansas railroad.

"Yo' steam kars is dons kilt my mule Molly," she announced, tragically.

"Well, madam, if it was the fault of the company you will be recompensed, you may rest assured," the agent said, soothingly.

"What were the circumstances, and what was the mule worth?"

"Molly was the best mule Ah ever seed," the woman said, wiping her eyes with a bonnet string. "Ah done plowed that mule for seven years, an' thar warn't nothin' the matter with her, 'ceptio' she was kinder lame in her right hind laig, an' blind in one eye Ah give $40 and two bed quilts an' three secks of dried peaches for her, an' she war as good as the day Ah got her."

"Where was the mule killed?" the agent asked.

"Hit war at the crossin', an' yo' fast mail train jest knocked her plumb over ther fence an' inter a gully."

"The mule strayed upon the track, I presume?"

The woman looked at him indignantly.

"Oh, no; Molly never would 'a' been fool enough to walk in front of a train—my old man war ridin' her," she said. "Do yo' think yo' kin 'low me $40 for her?"

THEY'RE a happy looking crowd who visit the People's Cash Market every day. That's because they feel assured they can get the "meat that satisfies."

A Sensitive Soul.

Owen Mudge was a very sensitive man. More than once at a harsh word he had forsaken profitable work and gone home for sympathy to his wife. One morning Owen started out to help Glenn Butler, who had bought a new stump-pulling machine and was preparing to clear a field.

Toward noon Owen came back. Mrs. Mudge sighed and waited sympathetically for the explanation.

"I just couldn't stand it," said Owen, rubbing his jaw. "When I see that stump-puller twist them roots out, it reminded me so of the times I went to the dentist to get back teeth extracted. The first thing I knew I was limp as a rag, and I just ached all over and had to quit."

Schubert Concert.

The concert given in the Opera House on Monday evening by the Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette, under the auspices of the choir of Collier St. Methodist Church, was of the highest order. The singing of Quartette was greatly appreciated, the voices harmonizing admirably. One of the most pleasing numbers was the medley of grand opera selections. Miss Marie Teresa de Grasse in dramatic and humorous recitation proved exceptionally clever and entertaining. A hit of the evening was "The Bandmaster March" (Stauffer) played by the Symphony Club in which Mr. Purcell introduced some novelties in mandolin playing. Mr. Purcell on the violin was particularly fine, while as an artist on the mandolin he is equal to the best. His playing of the "Pilgrims Chorus," arranged by Stauffer, was unique. The vocal selections of Lovie Zandt Purcell, contralto, and Vera Edith Young, soprano, were well received.—The Advance, Barrie, Ont.

MISS MILDRED KELLER.

RESTORED TO HEALTH. THANKS TO PE-RU-NA.

Friends Were Alarmed—Advised Change of Climate.

Miss Mildred Keller, 718 13th street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes: "I can safely recommend Peruna for asthma. I had it for years and it would respond to no kind of treatment, or if it did it was only temporary, and on the slightest provocation the trouble would come back.

"I was in such a state that my friends were alarmed about me, and I was advised to leave this climate. Then I tried Peruna, and to my great joy found it helped me from the first dose I took, and a few bottles cured me.

"It built up my constitution, I regained my appetite, and I feel that I am perfectly well and strong."—Mildred Keller.

We have on file many thousand testimonials like the above. We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements Dr. Hartman is receiving.

An Artist.

Lovers of the violin should not fail to hear Tom Purcell who assists the Schubert's on Nov. 21st. Although he renders the highest class of concerts with ease, he is far more modest than many artists of much less ability.
