Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these Nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

"A good full-grown elephant costs at least two hundred dollars more than it did a year ago."—Newspaper item.

Beats all how 'spensive livin' is—
'Most everything a-goin' up
Sky-high in price, till common folks
Can scarce afford to eat or sup.
I do not mind that I must scrimp—
Alas! I've oft done that before,
But now the price of elephants
Has riz two hundred plunks or more.

I may not want an elephant—
In fact, I do not s'pose I do,
Yet when I think a while, I am
Not sure but what I need a few!

Dear me!—this upward tendency
Of all things that you want to buy,
And spotters in the custom house
That ever keep a watchful eye
Lest tourists might economize
In interest of their private biz,
And with all else, I must deplore
The price of elephants has riz!
Ella K. Dearborn, in Woman's Home Companion for August.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Hears, or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the CAUSE. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for samples and free book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by All Dealers.

Origin of the Tooth-Brush.

Colonial diaries and letters make it plain that our unfortunate ancestors suffered much from jumping toothaches, swelled faces and the early loss by forcible extraction of teeth which at a later period might have been saved to render their owners many years of further service. No wonder, since the care of the teeth was little understood and that little often but negligently practised.

Toothpicks were known, tooth-brushes were not, although rough substitutes were employed, made of flattened sticks, split and pounded at one end to a stiff fibrous fringe. Tooth-brushes when first introduced were regarded as by no means important accessories to the toilet, but rather as minor luxuries and suitable for women only.—Baltimore Sun.

Bad Burn Quickly Healed.

"I am so delighted with what Chamberlain's Salve has done for me that I feel bound to write and tell you so," says Mrs. Robert Mytton, 457 John St., Hamilton, Ontario. "My little daughter had a bad burn on her knee. I applied Chamberlain's Salve and it healed beautifully." This salve allays the pain of a burn almost instantly. It is for sale by all dealers.

Ambitious Clergymen.

The bridegroom of one of the late summer weddings received letters from five country clergymen asking that they be allowed to officiate, even in a minor capacity.

"They are all," said he, "the pastors of country churches where either my wife or I have attended service during the past summers. As we are both interested in church work, we naturally get pretty well acquainted with the ministers. With the announcement of our engagement they fancied they saw an opportunity to reach a field of wider usefulness. It is a known fact that of all persons who are anxious to secure a New York appearance of some kind none resort to more ingenious means to gain that end than country ministers. To officiate at some fashionable wedding seems to be a favorite plan at present. They seem to think that even that brief appearance will serve to introduce them to New York congregations and possibly ultimately result in a call to some metropolitan pulpit. Hence all those letters."

When they enter a theatre, women ought to check their hats and men their thirst, suggests The Chicago News. In addition to this it might be a good thing for some of them to check their flow of conversation.

Characteristically British.

(New York Sun.)
A thoroughly British bit of political procedure is the pardoning of Col. Lynch, who, after leading the Irish brigade against England in the Boer war, was elected to Parliament from an Irish constituency, was tried for high treason, sentenced to death, had his sentence commuted to a term of imprisonment, and was released under conditions after a few months of captivity. That is why Britain may resort to the mailed fist when she deems it necessary, as in Zululand, and to a minor degree in India at the present time, without incurring the charge of odious tyranny, from which Germany, for instance, continues to suffer. Great Britain does not nag, does not set up foolish little hedges about royalty and government, and whip bad little boys for pitching stones over them; and when the case warrants it, will indulge in a striking act of magnanimity, as in the Lynch affair. It may be only an appeal to the groundings, but it is effective in maintaining an historical reputation for unexampled broad views in politics. Col. Lynch will probably enter Parliament now, which is as if Samuel Mahero, late of German South-west Africa, were to be elected to the Reichstag. Taine used to wonder if France would ever show the traveler a scene such as he had witnessed in England—an anarchist orator denouncing Queen Victoria in the foulest terms, and two policemen by his side to protect him against the fury of the mob.

Constipation.

For constipation there is nothing quite so nice as Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They always produce a pleasant movement of the bowels without any disagreeable effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free. All dealers.

Preserving Meat.

(Gerald McCarthy, Department of Agriculture, N. C.)

The old method of pickling meat in a strong saltpetre brine is still very generally used by farmers in putting up their annual supply. This method produces a strong flavored, rather dry and indigestible product. There is a popular impression that saltpetre is a very powerful preservative and that salted meat will not keep without it. In fact, saltpetre is not a preservative at all. It is a strong astringent, hardening the meat fibres, expelling the natural juices and decreasing the nutritious qualities of the meat. When taken into the human body in quantity, it acts as a powerful irritant to the mucous membranes of the stomach, bowels and kidneys. The use of saltpetre upon meat is unnecessary and undesirable. A much better and safer substitute is cream of tartar.

To make a good, mild and wholesome meat pickle take the following materials for each one hundred pounds meat: Common salt eight pounds, brown sugar two pounds, cream of tartar two ounces, water four gallons. First boil the water for fifteen minutes and then stir in the salt, sugar and cream of tartar. Keep hot until all dissolved. Let the pickle cool before using.

Pack the cut meat as solidly as possible in a clean barrel. Place the larger pieces at the bottom. No piece should measure over six by twelve inches. Pour on the cooled pickle and completely cover the meat. Cover the barrel tightly and set away in a cool, dark, dry place.

An ex-Governor of Wisconsin, a famous story-teller, thus reported his experience at a New Jersey clam-bake. "I started my speech," said the ex-Governor, "by stating that I had been enjoying their low-necked clams. A long-faced old man across the table scowled and said in a stage whisper, 'Little necks, not low-necks.' I paid no attention to him, but after dinner he followed me out of the hall. 'You don't have many clams in Wisconsin, I reckon' said he. 'Well' I said, 'we have some, but it's a good way to water, and, in driving them across the country, their feet get sore and they don't thrive very well.' 'Why, man alive,' said he, 'clams haven't any feet!' Soon after that he buttonholed one of my friends. Is that fellow Governor of Wisconsin?" he demanded. My friend admitted that I was. 'W-a-l,' said he, 'pr'raps he may be a smart enough man for Wisconsin, but he's a good deal of a fool at the seashore.'"
