Statistics show that in New York City alone over 200 people die every week from consumption.

And most of these consumptives might be living now if they had not neglected the warning cough.

You know how quickly Scott's Emulsion enables you to throw off a cough or cold.

Her Little Prayer.

Former Comptroller Edward M. Grout of New York city tells a pretty little Christmas story.

He said that a little girl relative of his was visiting her grandmother on Thanksgiving day. Already the child had begun to speculate on what Santa Claus was to bring her at Christmas time, and, as children—especially girls—will do when they are at the home of an indulgent friend, she began to rummage through closets and drawers.

In the course of her investigation she came upon a brand new white muff. It was the very thing she had wanted, and she knew that Santa Claus' chief purchasing agent—grandma—had obtained it for her.

Taxed with it, grandma admitted the truth. "But," she said, "you must forget all about it until Christmas day."

That night as she was being put to bed the child astonished her mother by adding this to her evening prayer:

"Please, God, make me forget all about the little white muff Santa Claus is to bring."—New York Times.

Stomach Troubles of Long Standing.

WHEN DOCTORS' TREATMENT FAILED, THIS SEVERE CASE WAS ENTIRELY CURED BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Doctors failed to cure Mr. De Courcey because they were satisfied to treat the stomach instead of getting at the cause of trouble in the liver and bowels.

The most complicated and deep-seated digestive troubles yield to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels. We are continually receiving such letters as the following in regard to the failure of mere stomach treatment:

Mr. Patrick De Courcey, Midgell, lot 40, P. E. I., writes:—"For some time I had stomach trouble, and was scarcely able to do anything at all. I was treated by doctors, but they did not seem to do me any good. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I did so, to very great advantage, for my old trouble has disappeared, and, though past middle age, I feel young and hearty again. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's medicine."

Another interesting case of liver derangement and stomach troubles is that described in this letter:

Mrs. James Monteith, Saurin, Simcoe county, Ont., writes:—"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for liver complaint, biliousness and terrible sick headaches, and have found that they are more effective than any treatment I ever tried. They cleanse the system thoroughly, remove the cause of pains and aches, and make you feel fresh and strong again. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are also excellent for stomach troubles."

By means of their direct and specific action on the liver—causing a healthful flow of bile—they regulate and enliven the action of the bowels and insure good digestion in the intestines. At the same time they stimulate the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.

The Distribution of the Toys.

Mrs. Styles Van Brocklyn, whose time was divided among her twelve women's clubs and away from her children, took an off-day, at Christmas, to visit a toy shop in the interest of her six offspring. Loaded down with her gaudy purchases, she had reached her front yard, where the children were making a snow-man, when an elegant equipage jingled up to the curb and stopped.

"Oh, Mrs. Van Brocklyn!" cried a lady from the coach, "come with me to the Social Problem meeting."

Exclaiming that she had forgotten all about this meeting, the mother quickly approached the oldest of the children about the snowman, and pressed the toy packages in his arm.

"Take these inside and distribute them among your brothers and sisters," she said; and the next moment she was whisked away in the friend's coach.

That night, when she returned home, she was struck by the surly and tear-stained faces of her children.

"Put the dears right to bed," she ordered the nurse, taking in the situation with the quickness and accuracy of the average club-woman. "I can see they're tired out and sleepy after so much excitement with their new toys."

"It ain't that, ma'am," returned the nurse. "You—"

"I didn't bring them just what each wanted, perhaps? Well, it's hard to please so many"

"It ain't that, either, mum; but you gave all the toys to the boy next door!"—[Judge.

The Call Money.

It is not a fact that the money our banks have in New York could be withdrawn at a few hours' notice. The sixty million dollars or more that our financial institutions have there were loaned on securities which today could not be marketed without serious loss, if at all. Think what it would mean throwing sixty millions worth of stocks on the market, and especially under present conditions. To do so would ruin the chances of selling. One million of any stock put upon the New York market to-day would cause another panic.

The greater part of Canadian money in Wall Street is there because the banks want higher interest, and in the meantime Canada suffers. Whatever the inducement for higher interest may be, Canada has first claims upon the operations of the country's chartered banks. What would we think of such a proposition as our Canadian street cars being sent to St. Paul or Chicago because there there they could collect more fares? The street railway companies are chartered operate here for the convenience of the public. On the same principle the banking institutions are chartered to accommodate the Canadian people.—Contract Record.

Six Simple Rules For Good Letter Writing

Dr. Edward Everett Hale in the Woman's Home Companion refers to the subject of "Letter Writing."

He calls the attention of his readers to six simple rules that everyone will do well to remember:

1. Know what you want to say.
2. Say it.
3. Use your own language.
4. Short words are better than long ones.
5. The fewer words, the better.
6. Leave out all fine passages.

As one of the judges in a recent Prize Letter-Writing Contest, Dr. Hale had an exceptional opportunity of examining letters from over 30,000 women. Many of these, he says, were ruled out at once because the handwriting was not good.

The great besetting sin, however, of letter writers seems to be that they do not know what they want to say when they begin their letter, and flounder about, to the disgust of the reader, until they hit upon a subject. A few minutes spent in thought upon a letter before you begin to write will enhance its interest to the reader many fold.

A Home Made Happy By Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

About two months ago our baby girl had measles which settled on her lungs and at last resulted in a severe attack of bronchitis. We had two doctors but no relief was obtained. Everybody thought she would die. I went to eight different stores to find a certain remedy which had been recommended to me and failed to get it, when one of the storekeepers insisted that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did so and our baby is alive and well today.—GEORGE W. SPENCE, Holly Springs, N. C. For sale by all dealers.

When Christmas Comes Back.

When Christmas comes back, I wish they were here,
The little lost children whose laughter is still,
And I look through the mist and the shade of a tear,
To the little green mounds on the slope of the hill.
I know there are mothers who wish they would come,
To play with the toys that are tarnished with rust,
And blow the tin trumpet, and beat the wee drum,
And take down the dollies that sleep in the dust.

When Christmas come back with its joy and its song,
It seems all the little lost children should rise
And come from the mounds on the hill in a throng
With the glow of all-beautiful joy in their eyes.
I know there are fathers who call them by name,
And wish for them dearly, and dream of them sweet
And list for their laughter in revel and game,
With the ring and the patter of dear little feet.

I wish they were here when Christmas time comes,
The little lost children who wandered away,
Leaving the trumpets and engines and drums
Under the dust and the shadows of gray,
God loveth them all, and they sleep His own sleep,
But somehow we long for them—would they were here
When shadows of memory over us creep,
And we sit in the dusk with a dream and a tear!

Cashmere For Girls.

For a good dress for a child, and this means something for church or party wear, nothing is more girlish than a dress of soft cashmere in a dainty blue. The skirt may be with a double ruffle, the upper one being the width of the lower one, the two forming the skirt length. The waist is made full, with a rounded berth a suit about every six inches, and neatly trimmed with an edging of knife-plaited blue silk ribbon. The yoke will be dainty if fashioned of allover Swiss embroidery; a touch of it should also be seen below the puffed cashmere sleeves. Hand embroidery will give a neat finish, though the simple style will be pretty without extra trimming.
