REV. RICHARD BOLT, curate of St. Ann's church, was ordained to the priesthood at the cathedral Fredericton Sunday morning, and his brother, Ernest Bolt, of Woodstock, was ordained a deacon. Bishop Richardson conducted the service, assisted by Canons Montgomery and Cowie and Sub- Dean Street.

WORD has just been received that Dr. Edward A. Welsh, formerly of Glassville died on Dec. 8th at Los Angelea (Cal.), aged 69 and was a native of Bristol, Eng. For many years he was a surgeon in the British Army.

arrested on Dec. 6 in St. Stephen at the instance of M. Brewer, manager of the St. John office of the Singer Manufacturing Company, on a charge of fraudulently obtaining possession of a number of sewing mechanics. sion of a number of sewing machines, was sentenced to three years in Dorchester peni-tentiary with hard labor. He was taken to Dorchester on Thursday, St. John Globe.

THE employes of the Woodstock Wood-working Co., felt it fitting at this festive season to show their appreciation of the management of that busy manufactory by giving to Ald W. S. Sutton and Hubert Seely a complimentary supper, which was held in the popular Royal Cafe on Thursday evening. F. W. Risteen was toast master and he ably performed the duties attached to that office. Thirteen of the employes were present and a good time was had by all.

THE set of buildings situated on the Woodstock road at the boundary line, known as the Thibadeau stand, was totally destroyed by fire Monday night. They have been for years a favorite place for various dispensers of the ardent, and the occupants have made lots of trouble for the officers of both sides of the line. The value of the buildings was small and they will probably not be allowed to be rebuilt on their former location .-Houlton Pioneer.

MR. FRANK BULL of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bull residing near the C. P. R. has been lost in the woods or drowned. Mr. Bull went to Benton about two weeks ago to visit relatives. Saturday, December 7th he started out from his Uncle's home to go around the lake (Skiff) to visit a sister. He was warned not too cross on the ice and said he would not do so but would follow the shore around. That was the last seen of him. When it was learned, three days later, that he had not reached his sister's home, searching parties were organized and the woods were searched but no trace of him could be found. It is thought he attempted to cross the lake on the ice and went through. He was about twenty-five years of age and was highly respected by all his associates and acquaintances here.—Houlton Pioneer.

R H. Winslow, of Fredericton, who is a student in engineering at McGill College, flocking to the People's Cash Market to buy Montreal, spent Sunday in town, the guest of the Rev. George D. Ireland and Mrs. Ireland.

> THE Rev. Prof. D. J. Fraser, LL.D., of Montreal, preached in St. Paul's church Sunday. A few paragraphs of this excellent discourse are printed under the caption of the Divinity of the Human in another place of this issue. At the close of the morning service Mr. and Mrs. Ireland's baby was baptized. She was named Margaret Sherrard

James Sanderson, a painter by trade, and field intend having a pie social at the home a well known citizen of the town, came to his death on Monday evening last by falling down stairs. Saunderson had been drinking during the day and in the evening went to his son's home where he became unruly and drove them all out of the house, breaking furniture and lamps in his drunken fury. After stumbling around in the dark he finally fell down stairs. When picked up by his son and others who were called, life was extinct. There were several cuts on his head and it is said that his neck was broken. Coroner Hay was called but decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

At Florenceville on Monday a meeting called for lumbemen from the various villages between Woodstock and Hartland, was held to discuss the flooring mill project. J. K. Flemming, M. P. P. who has been studying the matter up gave a good deal of information to those present, and all were of the opinion that the industry would be a paying years. He leaves a widow, three sons, four one. Each man present agreed to put up daughters and four grandchildren. Dr. Welsh his share of money, although the organization is very well known throughout the county of the company is still in the primary stage. On Thursday Mr. Flemming will visit Hartland and try to encourage those interested in the old Woodworking factory to take

> The Reformed Baptist parsonage was invaded and taken by surprise at 8 o'clock Monday evening by about sixty of the members of the church and congregation, armed with cake, coffee and cream, and after laying aside coats, hats, rubbers, and umbrellas, they immediately surrounded their pastor and his wife and carried them by force into their parlour, where they chose Rev. B. Colpitts, who is expert in making it warm for fellows who are forcibly brought into his presence, and it was soon learned that he held in his hand sixty five (not cases) but dollars, which he in a well chosen speech informed the pastor was to be expended by him in a fur lined overcoat. Pastor Baker was soon in possession of the well fidled purse, and thanked the people for their kindness, and said he appreciated it the more as they had already given so heavily in clearing their church building from debt, and also being in a time of general financial depression. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all, the company breaking up at 10.30. Pastor Baker also received through the mail a nice persian lamb cap on the same evening, and he sincerly wishes that all pastors may receive like generous treatment.
