Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pang of this deplorable disease.
In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfect, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

How we won the Title.

Down in the Southern States there is such a surplus of titles the stranger often grows weary hearing them. Not long ago a Chicago tourist, who had halted in a little Georgia town to have the mud washed off his touring car engaged the colored 'boots' of the only hotel in conversation.

'Everybody is a "judge" or a "colonel" or "major" down here, isn't he, Sam?' he queried.

'Yes, sah,' replied Sam, with a grin. 'Well, who is that angular gentleman with the white goatee?'

'Dat am Judge Chester, sah.'

'Judge, eh.' What was he ever judge of?'

'Oh, he's a jedge of a good cigah, sah. Dat's how he got de title.'—Chicago 'Daily News.'

A Reliable Remedy for Croup.

Mrs. S. Rosenthal, of Turner, Michigan, says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough Medicine for ourselves and children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." For sale by all dealers.

Forest Protection is Primary.

The pulpwood question will by no means be settled by any action Congress may take at President Roosevelt's suggestion. If the wood, the pulp and the paper are put on the free list there will still remain for us the duty of perpetuating our spruce areas. The situation of affairs makes it altogether likely that the American paper manufacturer will more and more look to Canada for his supply of raw material. So long as transportation rates are not prohibitive, self-interest would suggest to him the policy of saving his spruce lands for his supply of logs for the next few years in Canada. The fact that our mills would gain the privilege of selling paper in the United States would not be an adequate compensation for the spoliation of the spruce forests. Let it not be forgotten that the whole northern tier of the States over the border were dowered at one time with great spruce forests. Under the rule of unregulated commercialism they have virtually vanished, or become so depleted that a comparatively few years of the same rule will see them a negligible quantity.

Is there no lesson in this for us? Surely we should be a heedless people did we not profit by the experiences of our neighbors. The Ontario Government has adopted a regulation that on future concessions of pulp areas paper must be manufactured from the material. This is a preservative regulation but there should also be one limiting the girth of the trees to be cut. This is recognized to be important by all forest authorities. Whatever policy is adopted, whether prohibition of exportation or an export duty it must not be set down to a spirit of retaliation. Canada has never countenanced that policy, no matter what provocation was offered. The object aimed at is wholly forest protection, and the time to adopt it is now, while there is still something to protect.—Toronto Globe.

The Farmer Doing Well.

(Rochester Herald.)

Oil and wheat, by the way, furnish something convenient in the way of comparison. When Mr. Rockefeller was young and virtuous—before the octopus had sprouted to any extent—oil sold for 25 and 30 cents a gallon. The farmer was at that time getting $1 and $1.50 a bushel for his wheat. But he was realizing only from twelve to sixteen bushels per acre, and he was harvesting the crop by slow and laborious processes. The scythe and the cradle were used in cutting, and it was bound by hand. All is now changed. Though he receives but seventy-five or eighty-five cents for his wheat, he clears three times as much from every acre, and can sow and reap ten times as fast as he did then, and much more easily. Nor is it half the trouble to market his wheat that it was thirty or forty years ago. The record has been made up in the case of Mr. Rockefeller, and it is about time for the farmer to get his own straightened out. While it is true that he is imposed upon somewhat, he fares a good deal better than the rest of us, and is, on the whole, in a position where he is envied by those who understand how near he comes to filling the picture of independence. Let us hope that he will not be deluded into the notion that two wrongs make a right.

MARY BURKE.

I
Och, shure 'tis well I mind the day,
Whin out we set for Galway Bay;
The sun was shinin' on your brow—
I see it all as if 'twas now!
To Ballyvaughen off we went,
The gladdest day I iver spint—
Mary Burke, Mary Burke!

II
An' so we talked o' times to come,
An' how we'd have our little home;
The smile o' God was in your eyes,
An' thin the moon begin to rise
Your hand was lyin' close in mine,
As down I droopet the fishin'-line—
Mary Burke, Mary Burke!

III
An' whin we come to Galway town,
Childer was sleepin' safe and sound,
Your cheeks was like two roses bright
As home I went an' bid good-night.
An' all my dreams was thoughts o' you,
Till flow'rs shone bright wid mornin' dew—
Mary Burke, Mary Burke!

IV
But since you've reached the golden shore—
'Twas angels called you shure, asthore—
The lights looks quinch'd in Galway town,
But eyes from heav'n is beamin' down
To speed me on' on Galway Bay,
Util 'tis you an' God I'll see—
Mary Burke, Mary Burke!

The doctors of Hamilton, Ont., have decided to increase their rates, and hereafter will grade them according to the incomes of their patients. The charge per call to houses where the income is not more than $1,000 a year, will be $1.50; from $1,000 to $2,000 the charge will be $2, and from $2,000 to $4,000 the charge per call will be $2.50. Where the income exceeds $4,000 a year the doctor will make what charge he sees fit. The charges for examinations also will be graded according to the ability of patients to pay, and for office advice the minimum charge will be 50c. The same charge will be made for advice given over the telephone.

Few Here Know This.

When an eminent authority announced in the Scranton (Pa.) Times that he had found a new way to treat that dread American disease, Rheumatism, with just common, everyday drugs found in any drug-store, the physicians were slow indeed to attach much importance to his claims. This was only a few months ago. Today nearly every newspaper in the country, even the metropolitan dailies, is announcing it and the splendid results achieved. It is so simple that any one can prepare it at home at small cost. It is made up as follows: Get from any good prescription pharmacy Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. These are all simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism, as every one knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter which, if not eradicated, either in the urine or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes and forms about the joints and muscles, causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

This prescription is said to be a splendid healing, cleansing and invigorating tonic to the kidneys, and gives almost immediate relief in all forms of bladder and urinary troubles and backache. He also warns people in a leading New York paper against the discriminate use of many patent medicines.
