

SAYS THIS IS BEST

A leading health journal in answering the question, "What is the best prescription to clean and purify the blood?" prints in a recent issue the following:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce;
Compound Salatone, one ounce;
Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, four ounces.

Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

A well-known physician states that these are harmless vegetable ingredients, which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy.

This mixture will clean the blood of all impurities. In just a few days the skin begins to clear of sores, boils and pimples. It puts vigor and energy into run-down debilitated men and women. For many years Sarsaparilla alone has been considered a good blood medicine. But while it built up and made new blood, the impurities remained within and the good accomplished was only temporary. Sarsaparilla, however, when used in combination with Compound Salatone and Extract Dandelion, works wonders. This combination puts the kidneys to work to filter and sift the waste matter, uric acid, and other impurities that cause disease. It makes new blood and relieves rheumatism and lame back and bladder troubles.

Preserve the Forests.

(Montreal Witness.)

Pennsylvania was once a heavily timbered country, with mountains clothed by magnificent forests and traversed by majestic rivers, the even flow of which was of inestimable value to industry and navigation. But with reckless disregard of the public welfare, the state government permitted the destruction of the forests. The Appalachian Mountains were laid bare and, for many years past, floods of tremendous volume and violence have desolated the valleys of the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, in western Pennsylvania, particularly. The annual loss in life and property is so enormous that the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce has started a movement for reforesting the mountains as the only means whereby it can be prevented. The plan is to plant trees on the watersheds at the head waters and rear immense forests, which will retain large quantities of moisture and prevent sudden thaws of vast areas of snow. It is estimated that to carry out this project no fewer than two thousand million trees must be planted. The labor and cost will be gigantic and fifteen years at least must pass before the desired object will begin to be realized. The region affected covers twenty thousand square miles in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, western New York and Maryland. The federal government, as well as these states, will be asked to assist in the work, which the projectors declare is absolutely necessary for the strongest of all possible reasons. There are other parts of this continent where the destruction of the forests has been followed by the same desolating effects, and the enormous extent of the task proposed in Pennsylvania should impress our federal and provincial governments with the wisdom of preventing excessive forest denudation.

Bad Burn Quickly Healed.

"I am so delighted with what Chamberlain's Salve has done for me that I feel bound to write and tell you so," says Mrs. Robert Mytton, 457 John St., Hamilton, Ontario. "My little daughter had a bad burn on her knee. I applied Chamberlain's Salve and it healed beautifully." This salve allays the pain of a burn almost instantly. It is for sale by all dealers.

What is The Cause.

Toronto Sun.

For years there has been in this Province such a steady and heavy flow of labor from country to town that today there is not sufficient native-born help on the land to provide for its proper tillage. It was at one time hoped that the inflow of immigration from Great Britain would provide a substitute for that loss. In some slight measure that hope has been fulfilled. The newcomers are, however, not only lacking in efficiency, but latterly they have shown a noticeably increasing disposition to follow the example of the native laborers, and congregate in towns. If this tendency continues the famine in farm help in Ontario will, in a year or two, be as great as it was before the recent turn in the tide of British immigration towards Ontario began.

What is the cause of the inability of the agricultural sections to retain either home-grown or imported labor? More than one cause is making itself felt. The fact that bounty-fed and tariff-sided manufacturers are able to out-bid agriculture in the matter of wages, is a potent factor in bringing about the conditions under consideration. The additional fact that so many lads born in the country have a natural talent for mechanics or other pursuits also has its influence. In some, again, there exists that mysterious longing which can be satisfied only by an existence amid the crown and throng of a great city.

But is there not another cause—one which makes its influence felt not only in determining the supply of help for work on the farm, but for domestic service as well? In farm work, as in domestic service, the one employed is practically under surveillance every hour of the day. The toiler in the factory or the laborer on the streets, on the other hand, has to work hard during certain fixed hours, but for the balance of the day he is completely his own master. In the case of the hired man on the farm, as in that of the domestic servant, not only are the hours of actual labor longer than those of other employees, but even at noon and in the evenings there is necessarily a feeling of restraint where master and servant live under the same roof. It is not intended in this article to even suggest a means of changing existing conditions. All that is proposed is to point out some causes which seem to be effective in creating these conditions.

Late Seeding All Over Canada.

Mr. G. H. Clark, seed commissioner, Ottawa, has received reports from the inspectors of his department on the condition of cereal crops. There are seven inspectors, four stationed east of Port Arthur and three west of that city. All of the reports say that seeding is from three to four weeks later than last year, and in some districts seeding has not even started yet. Mr. Clark said that the least affected part of Canada was Southern Ontario, while Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan were the worst affected. Seeding in Ontario was three weeks late. However, he pointed out that though seeding was so late it did not mean that harvest would be correspondingly late. He expected that it would only mean ten days late, and perhaps not even that. As an evidence of the serious situation in the West he remarked that he had a letter from a farmer at Davidson, Sask., dated May 21, who had sown no grain, as snow was still on the ground, and he thought it would be several days before he could begin.

Shakespeare and Cervantes.

(From the London Chronicle.)

It is perhaps one of the most remarkable coincidences in all literary history that April 23, 1616, should have been the death day of the two greatest geniuses of their time, or, indeed, of any time—Shakespeare and Cervantes. But it is doubtful whether they ever heard of each other, just as Burns and Schiller, who were born in the same year, twinkled, to us Carlyle's fine phrase, like bright particular stars in opposite firmaments and never mingled their rays. It does not appear that Shakespeare knew any Spanish, and as the earliest translation—Shelton's—of 'Don Quixote' began to appear in 1612, after the author of 'Hamlet' had retired to Stratford, and was finished in 1620, he is not likely to have come under its influence. It was 'The Knight of the Burning Pestle' which first betrayed this.

A Question of Economy.

What becomes of the cab horses of London? After three or four years they are prematurely aged and sent away, apparently worn out. Some go to the 'Zoo,' where every day a horse is eaten by the animals. Others go into the country; are blistered and turned out for a couple of months, then go to work as fresh as daisies. Tons upon tons of strawberries will come up to Covent Garden this summer drawn by excellent horses whose early days were spent between the shafts of London hansoms. There are very few old horses in the cabs of the metropolis. The bulk of them need rest, that is all. The marvel is that cab proprietors do not more generally patronize the Home of Rest for Horses. The policy of the majority is, as soon as the horse shows signs of wear, to work it as hard as possible, then sell it at cat's meat price. Such a horse, with a few weeks' rest, quadruples its value for work or for sale.—St. James's Gazette.

How to get enough qualified teachers for its schools is a problem which continually perplexes New York City. A member of its board of education, at the meeting last month, introduced a resolution instructing the superintendent to ascertain if teachers cannot be obtained from other cities. He said that there are three hundred vacancies. With salaries beginning in the lowest grades at six hundred dollars a year, and increasing at the rate of forty dollars for each year of service, the pay is much better than that offered in smaller towns; but it costs more to live in New York, and one does not get so much for one's money in the way of pleasant human intercourse as in the country.

In the Jury Room.

(From the Philadelphia 'Inquirer.')

The second day drew to a close with the twelfth jurymen still unconvinced. 'Well gentleman,' said the court officer, entering quietly, 'shall I, as usual, order twelve dinners?' 'Make it,' said the foreman, 'eleven dinners and a bale of hay.'

Lord John Russell, when on a visit to Queen Victoria at Balmora, asked Her Majesty's own piper to have some one play in his presence.

"What kind o' a piper do you want?" asked the man.

"Just such another as yourself," said the English statesman.

Drawing himself up, the musician said, grandly: "There's plenty o' lords like yoursel', but very few pipers like me."

When Nelson's famous signal, "England expects every man to do his duty," was given at Trafalgar a Scottish sailor complained to a fellow-countryman:

"Not a word o' pair auld Scotland."

"Hoots, Sandy," answered his friend, "the Admiral kens that every Scotsman will do his duty. He's just giving the Englishers a hint."—Independent.
