Death of the Rev. Dr. Dobson.

The Rev. Dr. Wm. Dobson, president of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Methodist Conference, and pastor of the First Methodist Church, Charlottetown, since 1904, died Sunday afternoon Oct. 27th, from pneumonia, aged 61. The deceased clergyman was born at Bedouque, P. E. I., and was ordained in 1870. He had been stationed at Sheffield, N. B., and Jacksonville N. B., Portland, and Centenary Churches, St. John; Fredericton, Woodstock, N. B.; Bermuda, W. I.; Windsor, N. S.; Halifax, N. S. He represented the Methodist Church, of Canada at the General Conference which was held in California five years ago. His address on that occasion attracted widespread attention in the United States and in Canada. He was considered one of the ablest Methodist preachers in the conference, ranking high among the clergymen of Canada. The funeral was held at Charlottetown.

The late Rev. Mr. Dobson had many friends in Woodstock, who will hear with deep regret of his death. The deceased was a native of Bedouque, P. E. I., and was the second son of William Dobson, who came from Yorkshire, England, in 1821. His mother was a Miss Moys of Bedouque. He entered the ministry of the Methodist Church in 1870, since which time he has filled some of the most important churches in this province, P. E. Island, Nova Scotia, and Bermuda, among which were Centenary, Portland and Fredericton, Halifax, Digby and Charlottetown. He was elected to the chair of the Conference in 1906, and had accepted an invitation to Wesley Memorial, Moncton. His wife was a Miss Morehouse of Digby, whose parents were of Loyalist stock and came to Nova Scotia at the close of the Revolutionary War. He leaves three children, two sons and a daughter.

Green-Thomas.

On Wednesday October twenty third, Rev. H. A. Bonnell performed the marriage ceremony of Elmer Winfield Green and Evelyn Adelaide Thomas at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Thomas, Centerville. The bride, dressed in white organdie, daintily trimmed with lace and white ribbon, with ornaments of gold and lillies of the valley, of course looked her very best on the important occasion. She was attended by little Edna Woolverton as flower girl with a basket of lillies of the valley.

The gifts embraced the useful and ornamental and gave expressions to the kindly wishes for the future happiness of the young couple. After about sixty had partaken of a bountiful supper, the old-fashioned country band arrived, consisting of cow-bells, tin-horns, circular saws, horse fiddles, guns with blank cartridges, tin-ware of all kinds in the hands of the small boy, who on the joyous occasion improved the opportunity to exercise the wonderful lung power bottled up in all of his species.

The variously expressed joy gives one the impression that a well-conducted county charivari such as was this one, gives more real fun than a half dozen dignified town serenades with its local band in attendance.

Upon the appearance of the young couple congratulations are followed by a generous treat of candy, nuts, cake, etc. and then the crowd is invited into the house to see the gifts, orderly and friendly, since they are the schoolmates of the contracting parties usually. Upon reaching the dooryard again a parting salute prolonged and vigorous closes the affair.

The following is a partial list of the gifts:—Groom's gift to the bride, black astrachan muff. Groom's gift to the little flower girl silver napkin ring. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas parents of the brides, bedroom suite. Harley Thomas $2.00 cash. Mr. John Green case $6.00. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Belyea, linen table cloth. Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Wiggins, cold water set. Everett and Barry Thomas cold water set. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Knox dining room picture. Edna Woolverton framed picture. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Reid handsome parlor lamp. Mr. and Mrs. John Warrington silver pickle dish. Mrs. T. A. Jones and son table cloth. Lyn Jones bedroom lamp. Mr. and Mrs. Burns Duffield and Miss Addie Craig commode set. Misses Cora and Hazel Perkins and Messrs Thos. G. and Murray J. White commode set. Mrs. Maria Orcharl pair towels. Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Perkins silver bread tray. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McGrath glass pitcher and 1/2 doz. tumblers. Mr. Jas. White and Miss Foren silk mantle drape. Mrs. Wm. McGrath and family pair towels and tablecloth. Mr. Robert F. Jones 1/2 doz. oyster bowls. Misses Laura and Carmody Wilkinson 1/2 doz. china preserve plates. Mr. and Mrs. Orin Thomas pair blankets. Frank Thomas and Irvine Jones tooth pick holders Dean Jones milk pitcher. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Waade 1/2 doz. sterling silver teaspoons. Mrs. H. A. Bonnell cash $1.00. Mrs. Dalbeck cash $5.00. Mrs. Belle F. DeLong centerpiece. Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Tweedie china preserve sett. Mrs. J. T. Green Sugar bowl and pitcher.

A Possible Industry for Hartland.

While on his recent visit to Albert County J. K. Flemming M. P. P. had the opportunity of visiting the Hillsboro Hardwood Flooring Company's mill and his former belief that such an industry at some point between Woodstock and Andover would be profitable is strengthened. He thinks the matter of location unimportant so long as such a mill be situated convenient to both the river and the railway, but as the old woodworking factory in Hartland can be purchased on easy terms and could easily be converted into a flooring mill, this village offers the best location.

Mr. Flemming is of the opinion that a mill identical with the one at Hillsboro could be successfully run here. The mill in question has a yearly capacity for converting 1,000,000 feet of hardwood boards into finished high-grade flooring, and the demand for the output far exceeds the supply. The hardwood lumber costs $16.00 per 1000, and it costs $8.00 per 1000 to finish it, making the total cost of manufacture about $24.00. The product loaded on the cars sells for an average price of $35.00. This shows a profit to the investors of $10.00 per 1000 or $10,000 on the year's output.

Hartland has all the facilities for such an industry, the required lumber is easily available, and the markets, both Canadian and British call loudly for the product.

The mill at Hillsboro cost about $12,000, but one similar could be built at Hartland for considerably less as a suitable building and access to the railway can be got more easily. It would give employment to fifteen men in the mill itself, beside the men required to cut and haul and the market afforded for the raw birch, beech and maple. Hardwood slabs sell readily for fuel and the sawdust is used to fire the furnace. Every scrap of the tree is turned to profitable account. Every laborer is employed at good wages, the men who saw up the logs get a good profit, while the promoters of the mill for making the finished product stand a good show for making dividends.

It would be a good plan if some of Hartland's financiers would join together and form a company for promoting this project. There are quite a number here who have invested freely, and more or less blindly, in Northwestern lands that might get as fair a profit from their money by going into an enterprise like this and help to make the village a place where there is something doing.

THE MARKETS.

Potatoes and Oats Weaken but Everything Else is High.

The result of last week's heavy frosts was more disastrous to potatoes than the rot. A third of the crop is still in the ground, all more or less frost bitten. Dealers throughout the county now refuse any stock that has been subjected to the frost, either those lately dug or those stores in barns and out-houses. They are determined to ship only prime stock and will not handle any but "cellar stock" until those dug since the frost have been carefully culled and all the softened ones thrown out. The price is a little wobbly in view of the danger of getting potatoes of doubtful grade.

The oat market is unsteady and many who are in a position to judge accurately say the price struck its highest point last week. Since then there is a decided decline in the demand. This is accounted for principally by the in-rush of acts from Prince Edward Island where the crop is unusually good, and must be brought over before navigation closes. It is not probable that oats will go above 40 cents again this year, although at Florenceville they were paying 45 cents as late as Monday.

There seems no limit to the possibilities for hay going up. It seems a scarce article everywhere but in Carleton county.

On account of the high price of fodder, beef cattle are freely offered the buyers, but the stock averages an inferior grade, the animals being young and not properly fattened.

The demand for eggs and butter is brisk, but poultry is not sought after, it being rather early in the season.

There is more than an average amount of pork in the county as the farmers in most cases kept the pigs they intended selling on foot to eat up the unmarketable potatoes.

On Monday dealers at most points were paying prices as follows:

Hay, loose.....	$8.00 to $ 9.50
Hay, pressed.....	9.50 to 10.50
Eggs.....	23 to 25
Butter.....	22 to 23
Beans.....	2.50
Dressed pork.....	08 to 08 1/2
Oats.....	40
Buckwheat meal.....	1.50
Potatoes.....	85 to 1.00
Chickens.....	10 to 12

In some cases, for local consumption, higher prices than these have been paid, especially for eggs and butter; while single loads of loose hay have brought as high as $12 per ton. But such instances are only where advantage has been taken of the consumer's necessity.

William T. Kerr

The death of William T. Kerr, which was briefly referred to in your last issue, occurred at his home in Boston on the evening of Saturday, the 19th. instant, of apoplexy. Thought he had been ill for many years yet death came suddenly, and, to his friends, unexpectedly.

Mr. Kerr was born at Campbellton, Restigouche County in 1854, of Scotch parentage. He came to this part of the province in 1876, and was engaged as teacher of the school at Grafton. He afterwards taught the Superior school at Upper Woodstock; and subsequently was principal of the Broadway schools.

He had a fair prospect of attaining great eminence in his profession; but his career in that respect was quite suddenly diverted by failing health, which, in a few years compelled his retirement from his chosen course in life. He was then a young man of clear and brilliant talents; and his forced retirement from active life was a rather weary task for his finely sensitive nature. Of fine mind and zealous temperament, he was fast attaining a wide range of knowledge as well as a high degree of proficiency in his profession. His warm hearted, generous disposition won him many friendly attachments during his years of residence in this vicinity; and many will learn with pain of his sudden decease.

Some twelve years ago he took up his residence in Boston, where he has since lived. He married Ella F. Hovey, second daughter of the late George W. Hovey Esq. of Grafton, who survives him; and whose faithfulness and care through his many years of illness was a most beautiful illustration of the nobility of womanly character.—Com.
