Short Neter Sermons.

The graces do not grow in gloom.
A growing faith will shatter many forms.
Dishonest thinking does not lead to holy living.
It takes a strong man to stop doing weak things.
The religion that produces no sunshine is moonshine.
A greedy hand never gathered enough to feed its needy heart.
Half of success is in the significance of small things.
To set a child's face toward gladness is to incline him to God.
You must master your own moods before you can master men.
Salvation often means making man over according to one's pattern.
Red letter days are not made by looking on the blue side of things.
Many a preacher says he is seeking souls when he is chasing statistics.
You cannot wield folks to the good by a frosty smile at the church door.
When your face is an advertisement of failures it's no use talking of the glory of your faith.
The important thing about a sermon is not the impression it makes on you but the expression you give to it.

Eczema is Baby's Enemy.

CAUSING KEEN DISTRESS FROM THE DREADFUL ITCHING—SOMETIMES LASTS FOR YEARS—CURE EFFECTED BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The first indication of eczema is a red pimple, or blister-like eruption. The points run together, making a moistened patch, which "weeps" at first, and then dries into a crust. The intense itching of eczema of the face and scalp is very hard for the little one to bear, and the result is scratching until free bleeding takes place, and recovery is further retarded. Besides the suffering from the distressing itching, the child is restless and sleepless.

When left to itself, eczema runs on indefinitely, covering the body with sores, but fortunately there is positive cure in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation which, by its marvellous soothing and healing powers, brings quick relief from itching and heals up the sores.

Mr. Wm. Craft, jr., Burk's Falls, Ont., writes:—"Our little boy, aged three years, broke out with eczema all over his face, hands and back and we had a terrible time trying to relieve his suffering. It was so bad that when he scratched it would almost make the blood flow. The use of Dr. Chase's Ointment quickly brought relief and made a thorough cure, as there has never been any return of this disagreeable ailment. We always keep Dr. Chase's medicines in the house and find them very useful."

Mrs. M. McCann, 4 Short street, St. John, N. B., writes:—"My little girl, three years old, had her face covered with eczema, and it was spreading over her body. I tried many different ointments, and the doctor could not do her any good. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and she was completely cured by one box. I cannot praise Dr. Chase's Ointment enough for the good it has done her."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has proven especially successful in the cure of baby eczema, as well as in the prevention of this torturing disease, when used for chafing and skin irritation, in which eczema finds its beginnings; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmansons, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To Renew Leather Furniture.

There is no furniture more durable than leather upholstered furniture, but it must be kept in good condition. Very often such furniture is allowed to become faded and dull because its owner does not know how to renew it. A dressing that the writer has found very satisfactory for the purpose is made as follows: Put into a bowl one gill of hot water, half an ounce of aratto and half an ounce of white soap shaved fine. Place the bowl in a pan of boiling water upon the range. Into a second bowl put half an ounce of bees-wax, shaved fine, and place in the pan of boiling water. Stir the contents of both bowls until they are melted, then take them from the fire. Into the melted wax stir one gill of turpentine, one gill of paraffine oil, and finally the mixture of aratto, soap and water. Beat the mixture until it is cold; then put it in a wide mouthed bottle or fruit jar for future use. This dressing may be used on brown or red leather. First wash the leather with a soft cloth and hot milk, then rub on the dressing with a soft cloth. If the leather happens to be faded, the dressing may be made darker by using two or three times the quantity of aratto. If the preparation be for dark green or black leather, add to the mixture a little logwood liquor. The dressing will renew the appearance of any leather articles that may be faded and worn.—"The House Beautiful."

The King as a Host.

As a host the King is at his very best. All the genuine kindness and geniality of his nature shows itself on these occasions, when he loves to lay aside the pomp and circumstance of regal state and assume the role of a country gentleman. As often as not his Majesty will accompany the newly-arrived guests to their rooms, poke the fire, see that refreshments are sent up to them if dinner be not within appreciable distance, and, in fact, give a thorough look round to see that all their wants have been properly ministered to. At the supper which follows the theatrical entertainment usually given at Sandringham on the King's birthday, the Royal host goes, about among his guests, chatting genially with one or the other, and occasionally fetching a sandwich or a glass of the famous Moseley cup for one of the ladies with his own hands. A very young and very shy damsel, who was made the recipient of this honor, was so overcome that she dropped the glass, spilling the contents and shivering it to atoms. "A broken glass brings luck," said His Majesty, soothingly to the blushing young person, who so far recovered her nerve under his kind sympathy as to partake of another glass without a second catastrophe.—Madame.

Potatoes Vienneise.—Peel and boil eight potatoes. When done drain and press through a vegetable press. Mix one level teaspoonful salt, half that quantity of pepper, two ounces butter, the yolks of three eggs, one-half gill of cream and four ounces Parmesan cheese, grated. Mix well. Form the mixture into small, round balls, the size of an egg. Flour a pastry board lightly, roll the potato balls into long shapes, thick in the centre and pointed at ends. Brush with beaten egg, make two slanting incisions on top of each, place them in buttered pan again brush with egg, and bake a nice golden brown in a hot oven.

Chicken Pudding.—Dress and cut a chicken into small pieces, put into stewpan with just water enough to cover, add a teaspoonful of salt when it has simmered half an hour also a pinch of pepper, and cook tender. Remove the chicken and arrange it in a three-quart baking dish. Have ready a quart of green-grated corn, to which have been added three eggs beaten light, a pint of sweet milk; salt and pepper to taste, and pour over the chicken. Dredge quickly with flour and add bits of butter (about two teaspoonfuls in all), and bake half an hour. The broth may be used for a soup on the following day.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop of Racine Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute" says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee Imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool and expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee.—Sold by all dealers.

The Splitting of Churches.

(Century Magazine.)

Division is not a bad thing in itself. All living things grow by division. Churches, live churches, follow the same law. But the simple fission of the cell into two equal, similar and independent cells is confined to the lowest branch of the animal and vegetable kingdoms. It is in church history as it is in natural history. When we find on opposite sides of the road two little white churches exactly alike, except that the steeple is on the north end of one and on the south end of the other, we know it belongs to the protozoan period of ecclesiastical development. We have outgrown the stage of multiplication of churches by the primitive processes of splitting, secession and recession. Even in Scotland, where the process was formerly most active, until a church was reduced to "me and Sandy," with doubts as to the latter's orthodoxy, the tide has turned and the churches are reuniting.

Mrs. Newlywed—Doctor, that bottle of medicine you left for baby is all done.

Doctor—Impossible! I told you to give him a teaspoonful once an hour.

"Yes; but John and I and mother and the nurse have to each take a teaspoonful, too, in order to induce baby to take it."—Democratic Telegram.

When to Go Home.

From the Bluffton, Ind., Banner: "When tired out, go home. When you want consolation, go home. When you want fun, go home. When you want to show others that you have reformed, go home and let your family get acquainted with the fact. When you want to show yourself at your best, go home and do the act there. When you feel like being extra liberal go home and practice on your wife and children first. When you want to shine with extra brilliancy go home and light up the whole household." To which we would add, when you have a bad cold go home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and a quick cure is certain. For sale by all dealers.

"There are some verses I wrote," said the innocent young man laying the paper on the editor's desk; you may give me just what you think they are worth."

"But I have not the authority to give you what they deserve," replied the man with the pen. "Remember, I am an editor, not a magistrate."—London Opinion.
