Centreville.

Miss Inez Perkins, daughter of Elishu Perkins, who with her brother went west some time ago for her health and who a short time ago returned not benefitted, died here last Thursday. She was buried in the Baptist cemetery beside the remains of her sister who died of the same dreaded disease, consumption, a short time ago. She was given every attention which an affectionate father and brother could bestow. Her aunt, a trained nurse, came from Boston and ministered to her wants to the end, but it was all of no avail; she gradually grew weaker till the close. She was a consistent member of the Baptist church and will be much missed among her acquaintances.

William Agnew is still under medical treatment with no prospect of much improvement. He is an old man and his years of hard labour are telling upon his vital forces.

Mrs. Leland Clark is also under the care of a medical man.

Two political meetings which were held at the opera house last week was a treat for the ladies and gentlemen of this vicinity. Everything was most humorous in both meetings.

Bristol W. C. T. U.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union held their annual meeting on February 13th. Considerable work was reported by the several departments. We feel especially pleased with the Scientific Temperance Instruction given the children in the primary department of our public school by our efficient teacher, Miss Hartley.

Our Union has sent over nine thousand pages of literature to the lumber camps last year. Several public meetings and lectures were held during the year and considerable work was done in the Sunday school. The treasurer's report showed the finances to be in a good condition. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Mrs. G. L. Caldwell.
Rec. Sec., A. Maude Hartley.
Cor. Sec., Mrs. J. N. Farley.
Treas., Mrs. M. Med.
Vice Presidents, Mrs. A. J. McLean, Mrs. Noble, Mrs. M. Med., Mrs. Farley.

Supt. Evangelistic Dept., Mrs. A. W. Phillips.

Supt. Scientific Temperance Instruction, Miss Hartley.

Supt. Sick Dept, Mrs. Boyer.

Supt. Lumbermen's Mission, Mrs. E. Sewell.

Supt. Moral Education, Mrs. John Rogers.

We do not expect to see at once great results from our small efforts but we do expect to help in forming a public sentiment which will put down the liquor traffic, the beer trade and political corruption. These things are a blot on our nation and like a cancerous growth they will eat into the very vitals of the manhood of our country unless the stamp of the nation's disapproval is put up on it. The day is coming when public opinion will rise against these monstrous evils and sweep them out of our country. Towards that day we are working and we ask the prayers and the sympathy of every mother and every father in our work "For God, for Home and Native Land."

The Latest Fad of Society.

The Apron, which has always been the badge of household work, has appeared in a more frivolous guise.

It is now provided by the thoughtful hostess to prevent her visitor's dress from being soiled by tea or hot cakes.

Tea aprons are dainty little trifles of silk or brocade, embroidered or handpainted, and tied with soft ribbons.

"Afternoon tea aprons are not only an artists but a useful fashion," said a West End modiste, London, England, to a press representative the other day.

"They have replaced the miniature serviette, which was really of little use. This pretty fashion owes its origin to the elaborate afternoon teas in which women now indulge. It was an easy matter to manage gracefully a cup of tea, a piece of bread-and-butter, and a slice of plain cake.

"It is a very different problem nowadays. Hot buttered scones, greasy muffins, and cakes filled with cream or custard are awkward things to manipulate without a spot of butter or cream falling on a smart gown. "The pretty tea apron solves the problem, and saves many frocks. It can be made in a variety of materials, muslins lined with soft washing silks being the most popular. Tea aprons are made very short, and without bibs.

"The aprons are fitted with tiny pockets holding a Japanese serviette in cream paper patterned with red roses."

"Purity" in Victoria County.

A correspondent writing to the Victoria County News from Weaver post office says: "How is politics? Very quiet up here. Only one candidate seen here yet, and he was canvassing on Sunday, with his long-neck in his hand. I can truthfully say that Mr. Tweeddale could not have had a better canvasser on the road than that same Charles Curless." This is a really humorous paragraph, and THE DISPATCH reprints it as such, not in any sense as a libel against Mr. Curless who is a candidate for the Opposition. It is not presumed that any one will take the matter seriously.

Grave and Gay.

It may be easier for a plain woman to be good than a pretty one, but you will not find the plain woman who will believe it.

Friendships are much easier to bury than friends.

The path to the altar is paved with platonic friendships.

Wait for your ideal woman. When you have found her, marry her opposite.

The "good-hearted" man is generally the man who isn't worth abusing.

It's all right to take the bull by the horns, but remember its dangerous letting go.

Some people who lay up for a rainy day aren't satisfied till a regular flood comes.

MR. JOHN PERRAULT.

Mr. John Perrault, 385 Davidson street, Boulevard St. Paul, near Montreal, Canada, writes:

"I have been a bicyclist for over five years, and last spring I caught cold and did not take anything for it, for I thought it was not bad enough, but it came to catarrh. I was so discouraged that I didn't know what to do. I could not sleep; I always felt tired and troubled.

"Finally I began to take Peruna. After I had taken one bottle I felt better. I took another one, and now I am well. I would like to always feel as I do to-day. I often recommend Peruna to my friends."

Close Confinement.

Mr. G. W. Woodbury, Rogers, Ohio, formerly Captain and Center of the Hiram College Basketball Team, writes:

"There are times in the life of every student when excessive study and too close confinement and attention to the object in view will tell on your health.

"I have found that when body and mind alike are weary and refuse to work, a few doses of Peruna restores lost strength and invigorates one quicker and more permanently than anything I know.

"It gives one nerves of iron and muscles of steel, and assists the mental activities together with the physical to a wonderful degree."

The athlete knows the importance of being in fine form. Peruna is a valuable assistant to anyone who wishes to keep himself in vigorous health every day.

THE DEMON OF WORRY

Worry is one of the most fatal of all transgressions. It is a sin against not one organ of the body, but against the body as a whole. It is a demon whose pressure is felt upon the heart, and there is not a capillary in any gland or tissue which does not shrink under the glance of its gloomy eyes. A man who worries is slowly draining the springs of life. He not only stunts himself, but he makes it harder for others to grow and blossom. Depression is a vice, and like all vices it must be dealt with firmly and with vigor.

What is the effect of your present in your home? Does your look fall like a sunbeam or a shadow across the breakfast table? Does your conversation lie like a strip of summer sky or a patch of midnight across the family life? Upon what subjects do you speak with largest freedom and keenest relish—your aches and failures, or the things which are beautiful and fine and high? For your own sake and for the sake of others you ought to bring your soul into a jubilant mood. All christian virtues grow best under a sky filled with sun, and the man or woman who persists in being gloomy and sour and moody will have his home filled at last with weeds and brambles and briers. —Dr. C. E. Jefferson, in The World's Christmas Tree.

For more than a week a school-teacher had been giving lessons on the dog, and so, when the inspector came down and chose that very subject, there seemed every prospect of the class distinguishing itself.

Things were progressing quite satisfactorily, and the teacher was congratulating himself on the trouble he had taken, when, alas! a question was asked which made him tremble for the reputation of his scholars.

"Why does a dog hang his tongue out of his mouth?" asked the inspector.

"Yes, my boy!" he said to a bright looking lad who held up his hand, while the light of genius was in his eye.

"To balance his tail!" shouted the bright boy.

David said; "He brought me up out of a horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings." By the looks of things, many pastors will have to pull many of their numbers up out of the political mud by the 3rd of March.—King's Highway.

THE COUNTRY PARSON.

When one considers the solid side of the country life it seems strange that it is the aim of most of the younger clergy to get appointments in town or city. So long as this is the case we shall look in vain for men of the type of the real country parson, who proved by their obedient, self-denying and courageous lives that they had a distinct call to the sacred office of the ministry. No man can appreciate church life and work in the country who does not himself possess a fair share of those sterling qualities of thrift, industry, shrewness and hospitality which so often characterize the Canadian farmer. If a young clergyman begins his work in a country parish with the thought that he is a superior person to the men around him and does not grow wiser as he gets older he is foredoomed to failure. Sympathy, tact, humility and the cheerful constant, patient and self-sacrificing discharge of his varied duties will in due time make a seemingly uninviting parish or mission rejoice his heart and repay him a hundredfold for his self-denying work and labor of love.—Canadian Churchman.

A man was recently being tried for murder but the evidence against him was so weak that the judge directed the jury to find a verdict of "Not Guilty," and notified the Court of his intention to stop the case. But the youthful counsel for the defence wanted the opportunity of becoming famous. He asked permission to address the Court.

"Certainly, Mr. Canspout," remarked the judge. "We'll hear you with pleasure; but first, for safety's sake, we'll acquit the prisoner."
