

Chronic Coughs Cured

Mrs. Joseph Eccles of Dromore, says: "I took 4 or 5 bottles of Psychine, and a cough I had continually for nine months disappeared. It is the best remedy for chronic coughs that I ever used."

Thousands of living witnesses pronounce Psychine the greatest medicine in the world. It is not a patent medicine, but a prescription of a great physician. Put it to the test in any case of throat, lung or stomach trouble or any run down or weak condition. At all druggists, 50c and $1.00, or Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, Toronto.

OBITUARY.

William Agnew.

On the evening of March 7th, Mr. William Agnew, of Centreville, Carleton Co., N. B., passed away to his home beyond in the 78th year of his age, after a lingering illness extending over several months, borne with Christian resignation.

He was born at Kingsclear, York Co., May 10th, 1830. In 1857 he married Miss Emily Hawkins, and thirty five years ago they moved to Centreville. They had eleven children, seven of whom predeceased them. The four who survive are, Frank H., of Butte City, Montana, Dr. C. S., of Antigonish, N. S., Herbert, and Mrs. F. F. Lunn, of Centreville, Car. Co., N. B. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. David Good, of Millville, N. B.

The funeral was held from the residence of his son Herbet on Monday morning at 10 30 The service was conducted by the Rev. B. S. Freeman. Interment was made in Centreville Baptist cemetery alongside the remains of his wife who predeceased him ten months ago.

Mr. Agnew was a member of the Methodist church, having united with that body on Feb. 8th, 1885, during the ministry of the Rev. J. K. King. He passed away trusting in the merits of Christ his Saviour, and we believe our loss is his gain.

John Boyd.

John Boyd, one of the pioneer settlers of Johnville (N. B.), died at his home on Feb. 25th after a long, painful illness, at the age of sixty-six years and a few months. The body was interred in the R. C. cemetery at Johnville on Feb. 27. The pall-bearers were his brothers William and Edward and four nephews. Rev. Fr. Coughlan celebrated high mass of requiem assisted by Rev. M. Murphy, of Debec.

Mr. Boyd was predeceased by his wife five years, and his son John and daughter Lizzie died during last March. There remain one son William and four daughters Mary, Kate and Alice at home and Sister Nolasco of the Convent of Mercy in Calais (Me.) to mourn the loss of a kind and loving father. Sister Nolasco, accompanied by Sister Vincent, attended the funeral.

Mr. Boyd was a pioneer settler of Johnville and one of the party who assisted Surveyor Garden to lay out the farms of the Johnville Settlement. He had been Postmaster of Johnville for more than thirty-two years. He was a farmer and merchant. He was highly respected by all who knew him and everyone who has stayed at his home will remember his kindly face and hospitable ways. He formerly resided in St. Stephen, N. B.

Henry S. Sharp.

Henry C. Sharp, a wealthy lumberman living at Monticello, Me., died Saturday of heart disease, aged 72 years, after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Sharp was born in Jacksonville, Carleton county, in 1836. In 1887-8 he was a member of the legislature. He was also later a member of the Senate. In 1893 he was Sheriff of Aroostook county. He leaves his wife and eight children; Harry B., of Houlton; Mrs. Annie Campbell, Monticello; Mrs. Willard Pryor, Bridgewater; Mrs. A. Jewel, Monticello; Charles Sharp, Miss Clara Sharp, Clifford Sharp and Miss Pauline Sharp, of Monticello. He was a prominent citizen of Monticello and active in all Aroostook county affairs.

Samuel S. Vandine.

Samuel S. Vandine died on Tuesday last at his home in Arthurette. The deceased, who was born in Carleton county on the 18th of October, 1830, is survived by five daughters and three sons. Two brothers, Arthur Vandine, residing in Detroit, Mich., and Dow Vandine, of the customs department in St. John, also survive.

Augustus B. Merriman.

Augustus B. Merriman, whose death was reported in last week's Journal, was born in Island Falls, March 3rd, 1870, being the only son of Albion and Martha Merriman.

He received his education in the town schools and supplemented it by careful and diligent reading along many lines, gaining for himself a fund of general information which enabled him to speak with more than ordinary ability on current, political, historical, scientific and theological subjects.

In his young manhood he united with the Congregational church and developed into an active christian worker, at the same time developing a sturdy christain character that strongly influenced for good all with whom he associated.

For several years he held various offices of trust and responsibility in the town and always discharged them in a satisfactory manner.

He was very fond of his home life and was devoted to his father, mother and only sister, Damaris. Both he and his sister being musical, they passed many pleasant hours together with violin and organ and were ever ready to entertain friends or aid in public entertainments.

The bond of devotion between him and his sister was of such strength that his death brings a sorrow of peculiar pathos to Miss Merriman for whom her friends feel very deeply.

Mr. Merriman was engaged to Miss Ida Bishop of Salem, Mass, and their marriage was soon to have taken place. He had built a very pretty house near the old homestead, doing nearly all of the carpenter work himself, and had it practically finished and furnished. Miss Bishop, in her great bereavement has the most sincere sympathy of the friends of both.

To the aged father, who in his declining years had come to depend more and more upon his son, the loss is especially severe, and the sympathy of all goes out to him, being extended also to the step-mother and other relatives, among whom Mr. Merriman was held in loving esteem.

His influence and example in righteous living will be long felt. It is a stimulus to any community to have in its midst a man of Mr. Merriman's sturdy character and uncompromising principles, one whose honesty could always be relied upon and who, although he might err in judgment, could not be induced to commit whatever he esteemed to be in the least wrong or injurious to other. His life will be held in grateful remembrance for its wholesome precepts and examples.—Lincoln Chronicle.

Make it Yourself.

There is so much Rheumatism here in our neighborhood now that the following advice by an eminent authority, who writes for readers of a large Eastern daily paper, will be highly appreciated by those who suffer:

Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake these well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime; also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and torturous disease who will fail to find ready relief in this simple home-made mixture, and in most cases a permanent cure is the result.

This simple recipe is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisons, acids and waste matter, which cause not only Rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffers from any urinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture, as it is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after a while.

Our home druggists say they will either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription ready to take if our readers ask them.

Don't Buy Books Unless You Really Want Them.

A library is something more than a collection of books. An imposing array of sumptuous—and untouched—volumes does not make one. Your books should express your own individuality, says a writer in the The Delineator. Do not let any one persuade you to buy a book you know is not your kind of book. Do not be lured into buying a handsome library edition of some author that you do want, if the library edition is heavy and uncomfortable to hold and your own preference is a comfortable pocket edition with flexible covers. And above all, if you are building up a home library, to which the whole family is to have free access, do not choose bindings of such delicate colors or expensive texture as to destroy all the comfort of reading.

THE THRILLING TALE OF NANCY HINKS.

BY C. L. ARMSTRONG.

'Twas in the Port of Provincetown,
(The year has gone from me)
I met a sailor-fisherman
A-sitting on the quay,
A-gazing at the sea,
And thus he spake to me:
"Oh! the Nancy Hinks was a spankin' brig,
An' her skipper, Andy Huss,
Was as fine a fisher sailorman
As ever cussed a cuss.
An' we set sail for the Ar'tick Seas
For to kotch the polar b'ar,
An' harpoon reindeer, seals an' whales
As makes ther home up thar.

"We sailed an' sailed for forty days
An' forty nights sailed we,
An' then we knowed by the turble heat,
We'd made the Ar'tick Sea,
An' a rousin' cheer gava we.
Old Andy Huss says: 'Heave away,'
An' the anker chains unrolled,
An' the brig lay to as all ships do,
And we looked around for gold.

"Now, the Nancy Hinks was a-middlin' long,
An' she was a riddlin' big;
An' as I remarkt before, I think,
She were a spankin' brig
With a sort o' furrin' rig.
Waal a storm come up from the Polar Main,
An' friz the Nancy stiff;
I friz the rudder chains to steel,
It cracked the dod-gast skiff;
An' we bumped around all night,
For they wa'nt no land in sight.

"An' then we toiled ten days, all hands,
Ter dump her ballast out,
Which, then we had a island
Wot they want no flies about.
We made the brig fast to a tree,
(It was the old main mast),
An' soon we had to make her slow—
Bekase she were too fast;
An' the strainin' couldn't last.

"We lived upon that island
Till the stove run short o' coal,
An' then I affyadavit this)
We burnt the dern No'th Pole;
An' then we split the Nancy's log,
Ter use fer firewood, too,
Which if we hadn't I could prove
Thet what I say is true.

"We stayed ther forty millyon y'ars,
We lost all track o' time;
We caught a billyun polar b'ars
An' strung them on a line;
We harpooned four quadrillyon seals
Wot lived on chewin' gum,
An' then we shipped the anker,
An' p'inted back fer hum.

"But the wind it blew no-east by west
For fifteen millyun years,
An' then it took to shiftin'
An' it boxed the compass' ears.
No matter how we p'inted, why
The Nancy jist lay dead;
An' even with a gaie a-stern
We didn't make no head.

"It got to look like we wuz bound
To pop-i-late the main,
When a whale a millyon miles in length
Ruc foul our rudder chain,
An' towed us ninety knots an hour
Back to this port again.
Now, you can look up Andy Huss,
Or someone o' thet crew,
An' they'll relate, as I've no doubt,
Thet what I say is true."

Thus spake the sailor-fisherman
A gazing at the sea,
Within the port of Provincetown,
A-sitting on the quay.

$100.00 paid by Dr. Shoop for any recent case of Gripe or acute Cold that a 25 cent box of Preventics will not break. How is this for an offer? The Doctor's supreme confidence in these little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—Preventics—is certainly complete. It's a $100. against 25 cents—pretty big odds. And Preventics, remember, contain no quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening. Pneumonia would never appear if early colds were always broken. Safe and sure for feverish children. 48 Preventics 26c. Sold by all dealers.
