Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with Birthday Gems.

Our scientific age does not put much faith in the influence of gems. Yet it is a remarkable fact that every nation, savage or civilized, has, at one time or another, believed in their influence on human destiny.

It is a pleasant feeling, anyhow, although it may be unscientific, to believe that you can carry about with you a charm against danger, sickness, death, and all other human misfortunes. According to the month of your birth some one of a score of stones dominates your career.

From the lore of all nations the following list has been compiled:

- January—Garnet, insures power and victory to the wearer. Hyacinth, gives second sight.
 - February—Amethyst, deep love; prevents intoxication.
 - March—Jasper, courage and wisdom.
 - April—Sapphire, constancy and truth. Diamond, purity; preserves peace.
 - May—Agate, health and wealth and long life.
 - June—Emerald, immortality; it conquers sin. Chalcedony, dispenses melancholy.
 - July—Onyx, hope, innocence, purity. Turquoise, prosperity.
 - August—Carnelian, prevents misfortune. Sardonyx, happiness in marriage.
 - September—Chrysolite, gladdens the heart.
 - October—Beryl, happiness and lasting youth.
 - November—Topaz, friendship and fidelity.
 - December—Ruby, charity and dignity.
- To experience the good effects of one's natal stone it must be always worn.

Day-Dreams.

There is no girl so prosaic that she does not indulge in an occasional day-dream. Some girls waste far too much time in rose-colored clouds of imagination.

Day-dreams are all well enough in their way; they lift us out of the commonplace, but to dwell continually in their rosy mists is bad for us.

This is a practical world, and if we want to succeed we must keep our eyes open and make the best of such opportunities as come our way.

We must "do noble things, not dream them all day long." What is the use of spending hours thinking how fine and noble you would like to be if you don't put your thoughts to some practical use? An hour "doing" is worth more than a week's "thinking."

It is a fine thing to have high ambitions, but don't get them so high that you can't see the every-day duties that await you.

Many a girl spends hours dreaming of the happy home she will queen it over at some future date. But she does nothing towards fitting herself to rule over her kingdom when she comes into it. She forgets that instead of dreaming she ought to be working hard and gaining all the useful knowledge she can.

And she must not forget that the most important thing of all is that she should be good, and true, and sweet.

Conundrums.

Why is bread like the sun?
It sets at night, rises in the morning and rolls up for breakfast.

Why is a man looking for a piano like a man looking for wealth?
Both are hunting for—tune.

Why are clocks like laborers?
They work with their hands.

Few Here Know This.

When an eminent authority announced in the Scranton (Pa.) Times that he had found a new way to treat that dread American disease, Rheumatism, with just common, every-day drugs found in any drug store, the physicians were slow indeed to attach much importance to his claims. This was only a few months ago. Today nearly every newspaper in the country, even the metropolitan dailies, is announcing it and the splendid results achieved. It is so simple that any one can prepare it at home at small cost. It is made up as follows: Get from any good prescription pharmacy Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. These are all simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism as everyone knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter which, if not eradicated, either in the urine or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes and forms about the joints and muscles, untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

This prescription is said to be a splendid healing, cleansing and invigorating tonic to the kidneys, and gives almost immediate relief in all forms of bladder and urinary troubles and back-ache. He also warns people in a leading New York paper against the discriminate use of many patent medicines.

If you have Catarrh, rid yourself of this repulsive disease. Ask Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis., to mail you free, a trial box of his Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. A simple, single test, will surely tell you a Catarrh truth well worth your knowing. Write to-day. Don't suffer longer. Sold by all dealers.

He Fixed the Piano.

Gottschalk, the pianist, was noted for his enormous physical strength, almost as much as for his brilliance as a pianist. On one occasion he gave a practical illustration of his strength, which, while it did not display his disposition in the most amiable light, undoubtedly afforded him much satisfaction.

He was, in concert, playing on a piano that was built on a new model, one of the peculiarities of which was that the lip of the keyboard cover projected over the keys than in most pianos, when the instrument was open for playing. Gottschalk, who was accustomed to throw up his hand to a considerable height during the performance of brilliant passages, and was unused to this new form of keyboard, constantly hit his knuckles against the projecting lip.

This repeated rapping of his knuckles at last began to have an irritating effect on him, so the audience could plainly see. Suddenly, after a particularly hard rap, he stopped short in the middle of his selection, wrenched the offending cover out of the instrument by main force, and hurled it across the platform with great violence. Then, with a smile of the greatest satisfaction, he reseated himself at the piano and continued his playing.

One Bad Boy.

An iron hoop bounced thru the area railings of a suburban lady's house recently and played havoc with the kitchen window. The lady waited, anger in her heart, and a fighting light in her eye, for the appearance of the hoop's owner. Presently he came.

"Please, 've broken your window, ma'am," he said, "and 'ere's father to mend it." And sure enough he was followed by a stolid looking workman, who at once started work, while the small boy took his hoop and ran off.

"That'll be half a dollar, ma'am," announced the glazier when the window was whole once more.

"Half a dollar!" gasped the lady "But your little boy broke it. The little fellow with the hoop you know You're his father, aren't you?"

The stolid man shook his head. "Don't know him from Adam," he said. He came to my place and told me his mother wanted her window mended. You're his mother, ain't you?" And the lady shook her head also.

Fear Jack London is Lost in the Pacific.

The editors of Woman's Home Companion for whom Jack London is sailing around the world in his little boat Snark, state that he is now over a month due at Tahiti of the Society Islands, for which place he sailed from Hilo, Hawaii, on October 27th.

The gas engine with which the Snark is equipped was not working well when Mr. London left Hawaii, and it is supposed by his publishers that he has experienced some more troubles with it, or that he has encountered the doldrums of the Pacific, by which the little forty-five foot boat might be buffeted about for days or weeks, to be dropped at length into a sea dead calm. For such are the equatorial doldrums.

London sailed from San Francisco on May 4th and reached Hawaii about a month later. He is accompanied on his voyage around the world by his wife, a captain, an engineer, one sailor, and two Japanese servants. London expects to spend seven years on his voyage and to sail completely around the world, stopping at interesting places where he goes.

Some folks think they have the house of character because they possess the plans of virtue.

It is folly to talk of being guided by the light of your conscience when you take pains to keep it in the dark.

You might as well try to get to Europe on a treatise on navigation as to get to heaven on a system of theology.

It makes all the difference whether you are acting like a good man because you want to seem to be one or because you are.

Some men find it infinitely easier to pray that the heathen may be brought to their opinions than to bring their practice to the standards of the heathen.—Henry F. Cope.
