Catarrh

It is proven unquestionably, and beyond any doubt, that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured. I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physician's test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing anti-ptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means use internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc. surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative. For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

The Man With a Smile.

Very fortunate is the man who is born into the world with a smile on his face. Not a smirk, but a good, solid, genial smile. There are such people, and they are more fortunate than if they had been born to a large estate. They arcuse happiness wherever they go. People like to watch them, and think they are a sort of blessing of God.

There is this observation further to be made—that the person who is born with a smile has a serene and placid temper back of it. If this were not so, the people would soon find out that the smile was a deception, and that the smiling individual was living under a false pretence.

But the natural smile is there to stay. It remains in disappointment and affliction. You steal upon the person unawares, and there is the smile. It says the world is moving along all right. It says, "I haven't a thing in the world but the toothache, and soon that will go." It asks you for the loan of a dollar and doesn't recede if you do not give it. It is the real test in the world. It is grander than a bank account, for such often provides one with a scowl; but not if a smile gets there first. We know a man who wears a constant, natural smile. Every time we see him, we know that God is good.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Odd Facts About Numbers.

Some very curious facts have been discovered about numbers, which maybe to a professor of mathematics might seem simple enough, but to the average person certainly appear remarkable.

Nine is perhaps one of the most mysterious numbers. If we multiply 9 by any number under 20, except 11, the sum of the digits in the products will always be 9. Thus:
9x2 equals 18 and 8 plus 1 equals 9;
9x3 equal 27 and 7 plus 2 equals 9;
9x4 equals 36 and 6 plus 3 equals 9, and so on.

Another queer number is 37. If 37 multiplied by 3 or any number of threes up to 27, the three digits in each product will be alike. For instance:

3x37 equals 111.
6x37 equals 222.
9x37 equals 333.
12x37 equals 445.

15x37 equals 555, and so on up to 27. Any one who chooses to try some of these mathematical experiments, no doubt, will find out other interesting ones for himself.

Work as a Hobby.

From England comes the report of a minister preaching at the age of 99 years. He is as diligent as though he were twenty-nine and leads almost as active a life. He has always had a hobby. It was one a great many people despise—work.

There is a world of meaning in this little world which hides itself away among big words in the dictionary. It explains why some men succeed and others fail; why some prosper and others are always poor; why some are happy and others are miserable. There are few persons who ever think of taking work for trivial ailments. Yet if the advice of old people is worth a pinch of snuff, the spring of youth lies in the eagerness to work. Unfortunately all do not enjoy the employment they have chosen or have been thrust into and find it hard to put heart into it. But if more would make work a hobby, as did the old clergyman of Lincoln, they would reach riper age and take more out of living.

Young men of to-day should study the careers of those who climb the steep hills of human endeavor. They will find that all along the way sign posts have shown this one word to men and women—work.

HESPER.

(Henry Van Dyke in the February Atlantic.)

Her eyes are like the evening air,
Her lips are like the rose,
Her voice is like a lovely song,
That ripples as it flows,
And she herself is sweeter than
The sweetest thing she knows.

A slender, haunting, twilight form
Of wonder and surprise,
She seemed a fairy or a child,
Till, deep within her eyes
I saw the homeward-leading star
Of womanhood arise.

Hartland Superior School.

The standing of the various grades of the Superior department of the Hartland School for the month of January was as follows:—
These in grade XI who have made 85 or over:—Harvey Ried, Laura Curtis,
Grade IX. 70 per cent or over in order of averages:—Alice Thistle, Mamie Nevers, Ethel Nevers.
Grade VIII. 70 or over:—Mary Boone, Wills Hunter, Lena Boone, Ethea Craig, Grade VII. 70 or over:—Lela Nevers.
Of the others of this grade the following are the highest:—Annie Birmingham, Reba McFarlane, Tressa Aiton.

"Caisson" Disease.

The growth of modern engineering and submarine work has brought into existence a new ailment which is called caisson disease. It is pointed out that those specially liable to this disease are stout men and women over forty years of age. The disease is due to the absorption of atmospheric air by the blood when exposed to pressure. Bubbles of air have been found in the veins of men who have died from this disease. Nearly all divers who are able to continue at their work with immunity from the disease are thin men. The danger of contracting the disease is diminished by bringing divers to the surface very slowly.

Odd Observations.

Some of us have fads, others are fads. When duty calls, we are apt to say "Not at home."

We must usually plant labor if we want to raise money.

It is hard to believe the truth the way some people tell it.

It is soothing to the nerves to be popular with yourself.

Besides gathering no moss, a rolling stone gravitates downhill.

The less you think about yourself, the more others are apt to think of you.

If the question "Who is wise?" were put to popular vote, we would each scorn one.

Some people are so interested in making money that they forget how to spend it.

The quality of their work troubles many people less than the quantity of their wages.

All that many men save out of life is enough to buy themselves tombstones when they are dead.

It is wiser for us to admit that we are in the wrong than to leave it for our adversaries to discover.

When a woman has to make her hat do for another season, she usually says: "I don't find the new hats very tempting."

Table-Cloth Stains.

If a table-cloth has become stained by tea or coffee, it should be removed as soon as possible, and the stained portion placed to soak in luke warm water. It should then be wrung out, and the cloth laid flat on a deal table or other unpolished surface, the stains then being gone over with a piece of sponge dipped in glycerine. If finally washed in a cold soapy lather, the damp part may be dried, and the cloth used once more before sending to the laundry, the want of glass in the washed portion being hardly noticeable.

A young swell walking along a country road the other day met a pretty girl in a donkey-cart. Thinking to have a joke with her, he said, as she passed him: "Why, my dear you look as sharp as though you had been kissed."

"Oh, does kissing sharpen you?" she asked.

"It does, my dear," he answered.

"Well, if that be so, would you mind just kissing my donkey? He is very slow this morning."

The burglar was cautiously descending the stairs towards the door with his spoil when an electric globe flashed into light and the master of the house confronted him. But his amazement at the unexpected vision was as nothing compared with his surprise at what he heard.

"Don't be alarmed," said the householder; "just oblige me by posting this letter. It's the claim which I'm sending to the burglary insurance company."

Scene: Gay young lawyer's office. Gay young lawyer has attempted to kiss pretty client.

Pretty Client: "Beware, sir, beware! I resemble yonder telephone!"

Gay Young Lawyer: "Indeed! In what way?"

Pretty Client: "You got to ring me, young man, before you put your lips to my mouth-piece!"
