

WOODSTOCK, N. B., MAY 27, 1908.

HARTLAND and VICINITY.

Hartland office in charge of Fred. H. Stevens, at Commercial Hotel Bld'g, where orders for Advertising, Printing and Items for publication may be left.

Hartland has now a ball team that intends looking for trouble with its neighbours. As those of the Juniors of last year who have not gone away from the village are grown stout enough to play on the town team, that nine will not this year organize. Therefore it was up to the "big boys" to do something and the result is they have organized as follows: H. M. Martell, manager; Arthur Kyle, secretary and treasurer; Walter Sprague, James Montgomery, Fred Thornton, Harvey Reid, Arch Connelly, Wentworth Thistle, Harry Gillin, Frank Goodwin, Ray Miller, Vernon Noddin, Reuben Hagerman.

Charles Parker of Woodstock has completed the painting of the interior of the Bank of Montreal, which improves the appearance of offices. Hayden Hamm, also of Woodstock, has been busily engaged in painting, as have Adolphus Lovely and Wilmot Hunter of Florenceville. Local painters have also been busy, but at least two of them are engaged in work out of town. H. H. Smalley has been at work on the Royal Bank building at Grand Falls.

C. A. Miller has recovered and is able to attend to his work in the blacksmith shop.

Mail orders for printing come to THE DISPATCH branch office from all parts of Canada. Will you not let us show you samples and prices?

One night last week some person administered a dose of poison to J. F. McElhinney's dog with the result that it died during the night. Mr. McElhinney says he would not have taken $100 for the dog. Throughout the county there are a great many dogs that had much better been slain, and the DISPATCH has in years gone by frequently spoken of the matter and urged the council to enact a bye-law to impose a dog tax. But the poisoning of dogs is a dirty piece of work.

Rev. H. H. Marr of Canterbury was visiting friends here last week.

Last week Oscar F. Deakin, who has been agent for the C. P. R. at Hartland during the absence of E. C. Alexander, was transferred to Benton station which he will hold permanently. During the five months of his stay Mr. Deakin proved himself an obliging and painstaking official; and genial in a social way. His removal is sincerely regretted. Charles Gaines is appointed agent here until the return of Mr. Alexander which is expected in a few weeks. It is rumoured that Mr. Deakin before taking a permanent position will go to Banff and return with a bride.

Horace R. Nixon's store is about ready for occupancy and is going to be a nice appearing place. The interior is being finished in pressed steel.

W. W. Jones who has been working life insurance in this vicinity for three or four weeks, went to Bangor on Saturday. He was accompanied by his wife and expect to remain there some time.

Walter Sprague of the Bank of Montreal spent Sunday and Victoria Day with friends at Fort Fairfield.

Miss Bessie Belyea, of Florenceville, was the guest of friends here over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boyd and son, Harry, of Woodstock spent Victoria Day with friends in Hartland.

Miss Laura Glass of Knowlesville, was visiting friends at Somerville from Saturday to Monday.

Word has reached here of the death in the west of Moses Rideout, formerly postmaster at Lansdowne. He was an old man and very well known throughout the county.

Victoria Day, pleasant day as it was, was passed quietly by those who remained in town. Fishing seemed to be the greatest diversion and many threshed the wares of the Guimac and Little Presque Isle with more or less luck. Some went further afield in search of sport. A large number drove to Glassville to see the ball game.

There is little doing in the produce business now as there is little left to ship. Potatoes on Monday were quoted at $1.50; hay at the figures that have prevailed the past few months, and oats for which the supply does not equal the demand, bring as high as 60 cents.

Mrs. G. C. Watson spent Sunday at Florenceville, the guest of her friend, Mrs. Holmes, who is ill.

George F. Burt spent a few days in Fredericton last week.

Mrs. R. J. Potts is the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. H. Keswick.
