

A Prized Cough Cure

"I have not been without a bottle of Coltsfoote Expectorant in the house for over nine years. At that time I procured it for a bad cold I had. It worked such wonders then that it has been a household remedy ever since, and we will have no other for coughs and colds—it is so pleasant to take, and all of my children look for it as soon as they get a cold at all. Nearly all of them have been subject to croup, and that's when I find Coltsfoote Expectorant useful. You are welcome to use this testimonial as you wish."

The County Council.

(Concluded)

Mr A G Bailey was heard in reference to the taxation of the property of the Woodstock Electric Railway and Power Company. The company could not agree with the assessors of the parish of Woodstock that the tax was just, and it was thought that the council might, on hearing the case, advise the assessors so that a settlement might be arrived at.

The very first year when the Company had nothing practically they were assessed at $5000, in 1906 when all they owned in the way of real estate was a right of way which cost $500 they were assessed on $30,000. This year the valuation was $35,000. The plant is heavily in debt, and we have never paid a dividend and probably won't for some time to come.

Coun Estey suggested that the Company should refer the matter to the valuator.

The matter then dropped.

Coun Brown moved that Matthias Watson be paid $2 a day for his attendance at the board and keeping the Court house in order during the session. Carried.

Coun Bradley moved seconded by Coun Rideout that the sum of $25 be paid to the newspaper Chat for publishing the official report.

Coun Williams thought the report got to the people through the other papers.

Coun Connolly said that sometime ago this amount was paid to the Advertiser.

When Mr McLaughlan took over that paper he (Connolly) went to him and spoke to him about publishing the report and he said it would not pay him. Now Chat was published in Woodstock, and he did not see his way clear to expend the money proposed.

Coun Tompkins opposed the motion, which was lost.

Coun Williams moved that the Scott Inspector's salary be the same as last year. Seconded by Coun Bradley.

Coun Hay—I would like to know if there is any way we can put some restrictions on the Inspector. I have been told that the Inspector has gone to a certain party and taken $50 over the bar and then gone away. The same man keeps selling away and has been known to boast that "the parson has been over and I have given him $50."

Coun Rideout—I was informed by the Inspector that some time ago a resolution was passed that the Inspector would not be paid expenses in carrying out the Act if he had a deficit. That was placing him in a pretty bad position.

Coun Stevens—It was this. He was only authorized to advance money when there was credit to the fund, otherwise he had to come to the council and get his account passed.

Coun Rideout—I would like to see the imprisonment for the first offence imposed. It looks to me as if liquor selling was on the increase instead of decrease. It is not much trouble to rum.

Coun Hay—As to this bill of $500 to Mr Jones, I think that sum of the money might be used for a more efficient purpose. It is quite a large sum of money to go that way.

Coun Williams—I am not satisfied with the way the Scott Act is run in this county. I have been accused of favouring the rum party, I do not do that, I am in favour of enforcing the Act, but I am not in favour of the way it is carried out. I am not in favour of giving Mr Jones $500, and making him nothing more than a private secretary to Inspector Colpitts. He gets $5 a case for every information laid. That is too much money in my mind. I am informed he has not spent 30 hours of his time in trying these cases. I am bound to say I think the people would be better satisfied with a surplus on this account than without it. Motion put and carried.

Coun Williams moved that the Council recommend that the Police Magistrate impose imprisonment for a first offence instead of a fine. The Warden thought this was rather encroaching on the duties of the Magistrate to whose option this was enacted.

Coun Williams—We only recommend it.

Coun Lamont seconded the motion, which carried.

Council then adjourned.

How Maxim Invented The Rapid-Fire Gun.

The origin of the Maxim gun was somewhat curious. Mr. Maxim (now Sir Hiram), after the close of the great civil war in America, was visiting one of the southern battlefields. He picked up a Springfield rifle and began firing at a target.

He soon discovered, to his amazement, that his shoulder was all black and blue with the recoil. This set him thinking, and he soon conceived the idea of utilizing this force in a gun which would fire automatically.

He went to London full of his idea, but no one would listen to him. In Birmingham the chief man in the small arms factory point-blank refused to make a bolt gun.

"What difference does it make to you, if I pay you for the work you do?" asked Mr. Maxim.

"Sir," replied this practical Birmingham man, "it will make no difference; but I will not assist you in such foolishness."

In despair, Mr. Maxim packed up his trunks and went to Paris. In two weeks the work was done. This gun Mr Maxim exhibited in London in 1885. He spoke of it then as the gun of the future. It is now the gun of the present. It is a wonderful gun, and a deadly one. By adjusting the indicator, it will fire bullets at any rate, from 1 per minute to 600.

This terrible weapon is started by the firing of the first shot. After that it works itself, and will keep going as long as cartridges can be fed into the machine. When one belt of 333 is exhausted, all that is necessary is to hood on another. The Maxim gun, in fact, is the nearest approach to perpetual motion that is to be found in the armory of civilization.

When the British government gave an order for the gun, they stipulated that it should not weigh more than 100 pounds, and should be capable of firing 1,000 rounds in four minutes. Mr. Maxim produced a gun which weighed 35 pounds and fired 2,000 rounds in three minutes—Tri-Bits.

Grippe is sweeping the country. Stop it with Preventics, before it gets deeply seated. To check early colds with these little Candy Cold Cure Tablets is surely sensible and safe. Preventics contain no Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh or sickening. Pneumonia would never appear if early colds were promptly broken. Also good for feverish children. Large box, 48 tablets, 25 cents. Vest pocket boxes 5 cents. Sold by all dealers.

The Eternal Corset Question.

A correspondent of The New York Tribune has some views on the corset which are at present generally endorsed. He says:—Some few weeks ago the saleswoman of the corset department in one of the large departmental stores was quoted as saying that most women bought corsets a couple of sizes too large for them. Perhaps this is true, if a woman wants to make her waist look as large and slovenly as possible, as a large number of present-day women seem to delight in doing. But I think most will agree with me in admiring a slender waist, and that if women would buy corsets several sizes smaller than the majority do at present and draw themselves in accordingly they would prove much more attractive to the other sex. Most men admire a well-laced, nicely tapered figure and will take the woman who cares about dainty dress and appearance every time. What would our grandmothers think of present-day waists? My grandmother could span her own waist, and I have seen my mother ready for a fancy dress ball when she measured only sixteen inches over dress, and father and we boys were proud of her, too! My wife and three daughters lace, and lace tightly, too, and I am proud of their figures. In all these later years that tight lacing has been under the ban of fashion we must admit that the best-dressed women are those who have laced in spite of it. The increased number of smaller, more tapered waists seen on the streets or wherever we see large numbers of women, has been very marked during the last two or three years, and let us hope that the slovenly-waisted, flat-footed and flatheeled girl has had her day, and that the dainty-waisted, dainty shod, high-heeled girl is again to have her inning. The present princess gown is certainly the most beautiful style of dress for the well-corseted, taper-waisted woman, but—horrors! how it looks on a straight up-and-down figure. No article of dress has ever been subjected to such senseless abuse as the corset. Moderately tight, or even extremely tight, lacing has never hurt anybody yet. One of the most prominent American physicians declared a few years ago that the women was yet to be born who injured herself by tight dressing. As a figure trainer the corset is invaluable. Who has ever seen a woman who laced tightly become stoop shouldered? As a preventive of corpulency and preventive and cure for indigestion the tight corsets is far better than the drugs now so widely used, and certainly far less injurious. So long as women dress to please men they will wear corsets and lace them tightly, too.

Only a Cold.

"Only a cold," is a common expression. And so the victim lets it go on, day after day, red eyes, swollen features, lassitude, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, the irritating cough.

In itself a cold may be simply uncomfortable. In its results it is often fatal. Pneumonia, with its enormous fatality; consumption, with its deadly grip; bronchitis, asthma, these and many ailments are often the direct result of a cold.

The patient may have had many colds. They have resulted in nothing serious. But when the system has become weakened by these repeated attacks, when the mucous membranes are in a chronic unhealthy condition, then it is these fatal maladies assert themselves.

There is no greater mistake than to neglect a cold. At its first appearance measures should be taken to relieve it. At this season of the year, when coughs and colds are common, Peruna should be kept constantly in the house. At the first symptom this remedy should be taken. It will soothe the mucous membranes, relieve the irritation, and the cold will gradually disappear. That this has been the experience of many is proven by the hundreds of grateful letters in our files.

For outside aches and pains, cuts, bruises and lameness Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is invaluable. Always have a bottle within reach. Sold everywhere. Guaranteed under Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1906. Serial Number 513. 25 and 50 cents a bottle. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., BOSTON, MASS.

The Long, Cold, Dark Evenings,

Are coming upon us when the wise father and mother will look about for some means to keep the young people at home. Nothing will do this more effectually than a musical instrument, a Violin, an Organ, or a Piano. I heartily recommend to your notice the renowned Gourelay Piano. Won't you come and have a talk with me about the matter.
