A Chapter of Accidents.

Early last week there was a runoff on the Gibson branch which was followed by another at Stickney on Wednesday night when four cars loaded with lumber were overturned. The train—a special from Edmondston in charge of Conductor W. D. Davis—was coming along at moderate speed and no one was injured. The track, however, was blocked until the next afternoon, and both the Woodstock and the McAdam wrecking crews were summoned to clear away the debris.

On the following day, Thursday, the Plaster Rock train for Woodstock in charge of Conductor Eldon Davies left the rails twice before reaching Perth and when near Kilburn went off again and blocked the track until Friday. On this day the Plaster Rock train went off again at Hillside on the T. V. R.

After nearly 48 hours steady work the wrecking crew proceeded towards McAdam late Friday evening, but before reaching there were recalled to clear up a bad wreck where a special in charge of Conductor Swift had become derailed near Beechwood. This was cleared late Saturday night.

Thus from late Wednesday until Saturday night the track between Woodstock and Perth was practically blocked, although passengers were transferred around the scenes of disaster.

In all the mishaps no one was injured but the damage to rolling-stock was heavy.

The accidents are attributed to various causes. The one most commonly spoken of is the fact that with its recent retrenchment policy the staff of trackmen has been curtailed and the shortened crew have been unable to keep the roadbed in a safe condition.

The Markets.

There is little doing in produce lines. Lots of American potatoes are going through and during the week nearly a dozen carloads of Carleton county tubers have been shipped.

Hay, pressed.....	$7.00 to $8.00
Oats.....	.45 to .48
Potatoes.....	1.10 to 1.15
Butter.....	.23 to .25
Eggs.....	.14 to .16

C. P. R. Dining Rooms at Hartland.

Negotiations are pending between the C. P. R. authorities and George O. Britton of the Commercial hotel at Hartland for an arrangement to provide dining rooms for the railway passengers. It is well known that the lunch rooms at Newburg will be abandoned after the summer change of time—which by the way will be on June 14—and it behooves the company to look up an opportunity elsewhere. It was hoped that Woodstock would fall heir to the distinction but it looks now as though Hartland is to be favored.

If a deal can be arranged Mr. Britton will have his dining rooms on the ground floor of the building and an entrance facing the railway station.

The idea of running a buffet car between McAdam and Aroostook Junction is evidently abandoned.

Death of Alexander Tapley.

Alex. Tapley, son of Asa Tapley, of Clark Settlement died at the Carleton County Hospital on Friday, April 14th. Mr. Tapley had been suffering more or less for the last fifteen years, and last week he took seriously ill and summoned a doctor, who advised him to undergo an operation for appendicitis. When he arrived at the hospital after a ten mile ride over a rough road it was found that his appendix had sloughed off and there was a slight chance from the first of his recovery. The operation took place on Sunday and he lingered until Friday. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn their loss.

A Progressive Hartland Firm.

Frank Hagerman and Arthur L. Baird who do business under the firm name of Hagerman & Baird and who last year bought the Foresters' hall, use the whole of the expansive ground floor for their business which is the selling of farm machinery, carriages and such goods.

At present they are showing a magnificent line of McLaughlin carriages—eleven different styles set up for inspection and as many other styles still unpacked. The Royal Runabout with auto-seat is a crackerjack, but all the others are beauties, too.

Besides being agents for the McLaughlin people, Hagerman & Baird also sell McCormack farm machinery, known the world over; National and International cream separators, National steel ranges and scales, and wire fencing that is made in New Brunswick.

This does not enumerate all of this pushing firm's varied lines but it serves to entice shrewd buyers to their show-rooms.

The Hallelujah Wedding.

As it is almost time to go to press we will not be able nor have the time to give a full account in the way it should be given of the hallelujah wedding which took place at the Salvation Army barracks last evening, but can only give our readers a brief sketch here and there.

At 8 o'clock p. m. the citadel was packed to its utmost capacity with a happy lot of people who had assembled to witness the long looked for and much talked of Hallelujah Wedding. Upon the platform were seated the Army's honorable leader for the maritime provinces, Brigadier J. B. W. Turner, assisted by Adjutant Carter, both of St. John headquarters, Ensign Martin, Captain Porter, Serg. Major Sutton, local officers and soldiers in full army uniform. To the left the noble brass band under the direction of the new bandmaster, T. Mooney, were seated. Mrs. Robinson, the organist, presided at the organ. At 8:10 p. m. Ensign Martin stepped to the front of the platform and announced the beginning of the service with the grand old Army wedding song, "There is a golden day," led off by the beautiful strains of the band. Before ending the song the side door suddenly opened and the bridal party entered and took their seats upon the platform next to the leading officers. It is needless to say that they looked charming for this is only putting it mild. The bride wore full Army regulation uniform with white sash and was supported by Miss Edith Peeth who was dressed about the same. The groom also was dressed in full uniform and was supported by J. Preacher who also was dressed in full regulation uniform. Little Verna Wilcox looked sweet as flower girl. Over the platform was a sign strung with the following inscription "God bless the bride and groom," and on each side of the pulpit stood two beautiful palms. The platform where the bride and groom stood was carpeted.

After prayers had been offered up on behalf of the ceremony that was about to take place the Brigadier read from the Word of God and ably explained from same for about twenty minutes. Adjutant Carter then sang one of his famous solos which captivated the assembled audience in every shape and form. Next followed speeches from ex-Bandmaster Nielsen, Serg. Major Sutton, Ensign Martin and Adjutant Carter. A solo next by Capt. Porter was as usual beautifully rendered. The moment in which to pronounce the happy couple man and wife seemed now to be approaching, and the brigadier who was in splendid form for the evening's occasion, now took the platform and read out the marriage rules and Army regulation thereon after which he asked the party, that was now about to be united, if they wished to be so under the rules and regulations and comply therewith by kindly stepping forward. At that moment Serg. George S. Camber and Secretary Mary E. Churchill arose to their feet and the honourable leader performed the marriage ceremony in a most noble manner, after which he, in the name of God and the Army, pronounced them man and wife. Next followed a selection from the band entitled "Grace there is my every debt to pay," which was beautifully rendered on the banjo.

The happy event closed with prayer and benediction for the happy couple that their future would be a happy and a most prosperous one, after which congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Camber. After the ceremony the officers and band were invited to the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Camber where luncheon was served. The band rendered more music outside and prayers were again offered up by the brigadier for the bride and groom, after which everybody seemed to think that it was about time to skiddoo to give the happy couple a night of sweet rest and pleasant dreams.—J.
