

Rubber Paved Streets.

When Sir Henry A. Blake declared open the International Rubber Exhibition at Olympia, London, he had around him in the great building—according to an expert computation—nearly 1,000,000 pounds worth of pure rubber.

"Rubber," declared Sir Henry, "is a product that has during the past half-century played a greater part than any other substance in expediting human progress." As proof of his statement, he added: "Without rubber no cables could have been laid down between far distant continents to give the means of that instantaneous communication which makes for peace, friendship and commerce."

"If rubber sank in price to 2s. a pound," observed a prominent exhibitor, "its scope might be further extended by using it to pave the streets of London." This remark conjures up visions of a silent London. With streets paved with rubber instead of wood blocks, or macadam, or stone setts, and with smooth-working motor-omnibus engines, traffic would be almost quiet."

As a Family Medicine

For biliousness, Constipation and Kidney Derangements Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills easily stand first.

Lots of suffering would be avoided and much serious disease prevented if every family did as the writer of this letter suggests.

She has found out from experience with many medicines that there is nothing so good as Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a family medicine for biliousness and constipation.

Such diseases as Bright's disease, diabetes and appendicitis almost invariably arise from neglect to keep the liver, kidneys and bowels regular.

This emphasizes the wisdom of keeping Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills constantly on hand.

"For a long time I suffered from liver complaint and biliousness and could find nothing to help me until I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have recommended these pills to many of my friends and they have all been well satisfied with the results. You can use this letter for the benefit of women who are suffering as I did."—Miss Julie Langlois, Manor, Sask.

One pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Lemon as a Cleanser.

There is no excuse for rough or stained hands nowadays, no matter how much time you must spend in the kitchen. A slice of lemon, or a skin from which the juice has been squeezed, rubbed on the hands will remove stains of all kinds; as a nail cleanser equal portions of lemon juice and alcohol helps to remove stains. It should be applied upon absorbent cotton wound about a sharpened orange stick. At night the hands should be liberally anointed with a toilet cream, and loose white cotton gloves worn to save the bedclothing.

Lemon-juice will cleanse other things besides the skin. Copper may be cleaned by rubbing with a lemon skin and salt. It should be wiped at once with a cloth or chamois. Iron rust and ink stains may be removed from linen by rubbing with lemon-juice and salt and then exposing the spot to the sun.

For feverishness and unnatural thirst soften a lemon by rolling it on some hard surface cut off the top, add sugar, working it down into the lemon with a fork; then slowly suck the lemon.—The November Delineator.

What A System!

(Tit Bits.)

A German canvasser took the fifty-story elevator of a Western wholesale house in New York and walked into the office, where one of the proprietors was busy at his desk. The canvasser was told that the house needed nothing in his line, but he persisted in opening his sample bag and making himself the cause of much distress, until finally the enraged proprietor kicked him down the first flight of stairs. An employee, observing the mode of decent, repeated the dose with like effect, and it was dittoed till the unfortunate German found himself on the curbstoned highway. Shaking himself, he looked back over the course of events and ejaculated "Vell, dot ish a great establishment. I don't know their particular line of peesness, but my! Vat system, vat system!"

A "Roast" All Around.

The minister had just finished a little opening talk to the children, preparatory to the morning service, when Mrs. Berkeley suddenly realized, with all the agony of a careful housewife, that she had forgotten to turn the gas off from the oven in which she had left a nicely cooked roast, all ready for the final reheating. Visions of a ruined dinner and a smoky kitchen roused her to immediate effort, and, borrowing a pencil from the young man in front, she scribbled a note. Just then her husband, an usher in the church, passed her pew. With a murmured "Hurry!" she thrust the note into his hand, and he, with an understanding nod, turned, passed up the aisle, and handed the note to the minister. Mrs. Berkeley saw the act in speechless horror, and shuddered as she saw the minister smilingly open the note and begin to read. But her expression of dismay was fully equalled by the look of amazement and wrath on the good man's face as he read the words, "Go home and turn off the gas!"—Alice G. Kent.

New Rice Industry.

(National Magazine for October.)

A comparatively few years ago practically all of our home crop of rice was grown on the Atlantic coast; the methods of handling it were more or less primitive, the production small, and the country was a large importer of rice. Twenty or twenty-five years ago the coastal plains lands of Louisiana and Texas were pointed out as a region for successful rice culture. They were used largely as cattle-ranges and were selling at from $1 to $2 per acre. With the introduction and successful production of rice, the cost of land rapidly increased, and the farmers of this region saw the need for improved methods of handling this crop. Many were pioneers from the great wheat-growing states due north—Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana. They brought south with them the implements they had used in growing wheat—the gang-plough, drill, self-binder, header and other modern implements—and methods and ideas never before applied to rice culture, making it possible to produce a much larger quantity of rice per man than ever was before.

A question arose as to the competition of Oriental countries in the production of rice, and one of the department's most capable men demonstrated that one American, with modern equipment, can produce as much rice as three hundred Orientals.

A Small Mistake.

(Good Housekeeping.)

Mr. C., a distinguished lawyer of Boston, was on his way to Denver to transact some important business. During the afternoon he noticed, in the opposite section of the Pullman, a sweet-faced, tired-looking woman traveling with four small children. Being fond of children and feeling sorry for the mother, he soon made friends with the little one.

Early the next morning he heard their eager questions and the patient "Yes, dear," of the mother as she tried to dress them, and looking out he saw a small white food protruding beyond the opposite curtain. Reaching across the aisle, he took hold of the large toe and began to recite: "This little pig went to market, this little pig stayed at home; this little pig had roast beef, this little pig had none; this little pig cried wee wee all the way home." The foot was suddenly withdrawn, and a cold quiet voice said: "That is quite sufficient, thank you."

Mr. C. hastily withdrew to the smoker, where he remained until the train arrived in Denver.

How the C. P. R. Laundry Washes Shirts.

One of the most interesting features of the Empress Hotel at Victoria is the laundry. Here a white shirt can be washed, dried, starched and ironed ready to put on, in fifteen minutes. The machines are electrically driven, with a separate motor to each machine. There is first the washer, then the shaker, then a huge mangle, then the dry-room—the clothes being conveyed automatically from one to another. On the great pressing machine the shirt is placed on a pad, and then a huge flat-iron, the size and shape of the bosom of the shirt, descends and with one mighty squeeze irons the shirt front.

Other machines squeeze and iron the yokes collar and cuffs.

Fear of the Law.

The literal strictness of German rules and regulations has always been a matter of amusement to other nations which do not insist so rigidly on the letter of the law. A writer in the Washington Star recently told a story illustrating this point. Two men, Schmidt and Krauss, met one morning in the park.

"Have you heard," said Schmidt, "the sad news about Muller?"

"No," said Krauss. "What is it?"

"Well, poor Muller went boating on the river yesterday. The boat capsized and he was drowned. The water was ten feet deep."

"But couldn't he swim?"

"Swim? Don't you know that all persons are strictly forbidden by the police to swim in the river?"

No Honing—No Grinding

You know from daily experience, at home or in the barber shop, that the question is—"Why doesn't a razor hold its edge uniformly from heel to head without honing and grinding?" Whether it is a safety, with the certain tax of new blades, or the ordinary open-bladed razor does not alter the question. You want the comfort and satisfaction of a clean, smooth shave every morning with the confident knowledge that your razor will be ready for instant use the next time needed.

The Carbo Magnetic razor is the only razor unconditionally guaranteed to do this. Thirty years of study on the razor situation has perfected a new secret process of ELECTRIC TEMPERING that positively merges every particle of carbon (the life of steel) into the metal—giving a diamond-like hardness uniformly throughout the blade—something absolutely impossible with fire tempered steel—used in making all other razors.

But test this razor in your own home—or if you prefer, have your barber use it on you. Give us your name, or call and see the "Carbo Magnetic" razor, and we will state our proposition for testing these razors without obligation on your part to purchase, together with our free booklet "Hints on Shaving." This book illustrates the correct razor position for shaving every part of the face.
