ON August 18th C. N. Beal & Co., of St. John, consigned a lot of liquor to Woodstock, N. B. On arrival of goods they were seized at the station by Scott Act Inspector Colpitts. Beal was notified and at once came to Woodstock. He saw the Sheriff, gave the necessary bonds and promptly reprieved the goods. Judgment has been delivered by the court in favor of Beal, who will at once bring action for heavy damages. L. A. Curry, K. C., St. John, and J. C. Hartley, of Woodstock, represented Beal. The Inspector was represented by Hon. W. P. Jones.

ONE of the most delightful entertainments of the season was a Hallow e'en party given by Miss Laura Davidson on Friday evening. The house was decorated with flags and bunting and lighted by the weird glow of jack-o-lanterns. The guests, who numbered about thirty-five, were received by "ghosts" and escorted in silence to their dressing-rooms from whence they descended masked and powdered beyond recognition. Many of the costumes were dainty and charming. Several were mirth provoking and all characters were well represented. The Hallow e'en revels were entered into with great gusto and occasioned lots of fun. At supper, which was served about twelve o'clock, the guests unmasked and the midnight hours were spent in dancing and chorus singing.

ON Oct. 29th, James Barker, of Great Falls, Montana, and Carter Barker, of Velardena, Mexico, were appointed by the Judge of Probate administrators with the will annexed, of the estate of the late Robert Caldwell. J. C. Hartley acted for the petitioners and W. P. Jones, K. C., for Mrs. Desbrow and her two sisters, nieces of the deceased. The will was proven in common form, W. M. Connell being the surviving witness. The estate is valued in the petition at $65,000, all personal property consisting of mortgages, bonds, etc. The executors named in the will, which was executed in 1879, are all dead. They were three of the brothers of Robert Caldwell. There are a great many codicils, none of them witnessed, and as the body of the will is itself peculiarly drawn, the estate will probably be the subject of considerable litigation.

ANOTHER application for a beer license was before the council on Monday evening last. It is about time the council called a halt in granting beer licenses. If the act now compels them to give a license to everybody who applies for one, the sooner it is changed the better for the town. The number of beer shops in any locality, if permitted at all, should be limited.
