

The Fight For Humanity.

(Chicago Tribune.)

The great modern wars are fights for humanity. The old style war brought sorrow and evil, and death. It was often fought for the interests of an individual or a dynasty. The warfare of to-day is carried on for the good of the millions. Its success will mean happiness, prosperity and life.

The boldness with which men of science are attacking disease is no more notable than the faith they seem to have in ultimate triumph. The international gathering at Washington in the fourth week of September is far more important in its world aspects than a peace congress at London or an arbitration meeting at The Hague.

The common enemy of the nation is the white plague. It is being studied by the ablest of the world's investigators. Already they feel the exultation of victory. The programme of topics for the congress reveals the lines of battle and tells its story of encouragement. The white plague must go.

After all, the struggle with tuberculosis is but one of the many movements for humanity which manifest themselves on every side. It is the distinguishing characteristic of the twentieth century. The old policy of helplessness and despair has been abandoned. Everywhere there is hopefulness and cheer. There may be discouragements and delays. But few doubt the eventual triumph of science over the ills from which mankind has suffered through ignorance or carelessness for ages.

To Prevent Taking Cold

And promptly remove colds use Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The first thought of the physician when treating a cold is in regard to the activity of the excretory organs. He gives something to ensure the prompt action of the bowels.

And if you wait to consider, you will probably recall that your cold was contracted when the bowels were in a sluggish condition.

You will be unable to find a medicine so well suited for the purpose of preventing and curing colds as Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their wonderfully prompt and thorough action on the liver, kidneys and bowels.

These excretory organs when once awakened quickly carry off the poisons and thoroughly cleanse the system. Colds quickly disappear instead of hanging on and finding lodgment in the lungs or developing into kidney trouble.

Caught Him.

A certain farmer in New Zealand, having got himself disliked on account of his quarrelsome habits, the other farmers decided one night to cool him down a bit.

At midnight the farmer was disturbed by a voice shouting, "Your horse is stolen."

The irate farmer hurried on his clothes, and, hastening to the door, asked, "which way has he gone?"

"Towards town," replied one of the farmers.

Another offered the loan of a horse he bestrode, which offer the sleepy farmer accepted. After riding all night, he found himself at daylight next morning riding his own horse.

Go to the blood, if you are to drive out Rheumatism. A Wisconsin physician, Dr. Shoop, does this with his Rheumatic Remedy—and with seeming success. Rub-ons, says the doctor, never did cure Rheumatism. It is more than skin deep—it is constitutional, always. Because of this principle, Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy is perhaps the most popular in existence. It goes by word of mouth from one to another, everywhere. Grateful patients gladly spread results. It is an act of humanity to tell the sick of a way to health. Tell some sick one. Sold by all dealers.

Letter From George W. White.

To the Editor of The Dispatch:—

In a recent issue of the DISPATCH, with other items given by the Centreville correspondent quite a lengthy account is given of a school meeting held on the 29th inst called for the purpose of purchasing land on which to erect a school house to take the place of the house now occupied.

In the account given your correspondent scarcely does himself justice, and it is clear,

Psychine Missionaries

A friend of Dr. Slocum Remedies writes: "Send a bottle of Psychine to Mrs. W. . . They have a daughter in decline, and I believe it would help her. I have mentioned your remedies to the family, and also cited some of the miraculous cures accomplished inside the last 18 years, of which I have knowledge."

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites should always be kept in the house for the following reasons:

First—Because, if any member of the family has a hard cold, it will cure it.

Second—Because, if the children are delicate and sickly, it will make them strong and well.

Third—Because, if the father or mother is losing flesh and becoming thin and emaciated, it will build them up and give them flesh and strength.

Fourth—Because it is the standard remedy in all throat and lung affections.

No household should be without it.

does not do justice to the district nor to those who took part in the meeting referred to on that occasion.

Some four years ago an agitation was started to establish a consolidated school for this and adjoining districts. Having failed in this effort to succeed in the undertaking other and better accommodation was required for the district for educational purposes. At the annual school meeting in June 1906 a motion was carried that $5,500 be raised to build and furnish a new house on the present location, which is owned and has been occupied by the district for fifteen years. To carry out the object of that vote the trustees in good faith, spent $55.00 to remove the present building to make more room for the building in contemplation. Further action was not taken to further the work, and to the surprise of many interested the trustees issued a notice by order of the chief superintendent that a meeting would be held for the purpose of purchasing land in the north end of the district on which to locate the new house. Rev. Mr. Dunham acted in the capacity of chairman. When the object of the meeting became known a resolution for purchase of a new site was moved, which should not have been accepted, the chairman being informed of a previous resolution recorded for the same purpose. This latter it was contended should be reconsidered and taken from the records. The chairman, however, accepted what was offered by the trustees and refused to receive an amendment to the original motion, refusing to give a reason why he considered it not in order.

The correspondent referred to in his items says, "Rev. Mr. Dunham occupied the chair and performed his duties as such impartially and well." It must be assumed that the chairman did not know his duty as such, or that he was anxious that the original motion should prevail notwithstanding that the proceedings were illegal from start to finish. This was brought to his notice by four of the proprietors in the meeting. Indeed there has not been a school meeting held in this district the last four years that in law would be legal. Objection to the one voting $5,500 was not contemplated, but since then the trustees have been trifling with the business in hand, and every effort put forth in the direction of education has unnecessarily increased taxes for the ratepayers and given no corresponding benefit where it is most required.

Yours truly,
GEO. W. WHITE.

Poultry for Profit.

Poultry raising requires care and judgment as much as is bestowed on other farm animals. The details are more minute, and this often leads the busy farmer to believe that fussing with chickens does not pay. But it does. It affords the largest kind of profit. But the man must not be above his business; he must look after small things, but when once well established, if he follows right methods, the work will come along with the general run of chores, and not be noticed or take any appreciably extra time.

Winter eggs are easily secured if one goes about it in the right way, but it is too late to think of them now, unless the start was made in the spring. We must have early hatched pullets for winter layers, or, at least those which will be fully matured, and start laying before cold weather sets in, for as winter layers old hens are very uncertain. If we do, or if we do not, get eggs the coming winter we should lay our plans now to secure them hereafter. We will take time by the forelock and be prepared.

Thought the Angels had Him.

A group of aeronauts were telling balloon stories in the smoking room of a Chicago hotel. Captain H. E. Honeywell, who, with the Fielding-Antonio balloon, was later to win renown, laughed and said:

"The great Elyot made a balloon ascent from Charleston one hot summer afternoon. A thunderstorm came up. Elyot, amid buckets of rain, the roar of thunder, and the flash of lightning, was blown about like this-tledown. On toward midnight he found himself over a plantation and threw out his anchor—a grapnel at the end of a long rope.

"It happened that a colored man had died in one of the huts of this plantation. The funeral was to take place in the morning. A dozen friends of the dead man sat in the soft summer night before the hut telling ghost stories.

"Suddenly, in the darkness above them they heard strange noises—a flapping as of great wings, menacing cries. And they saw dimly a formless black shape.

"All but one man ran. This old man, as he cowered on his stool, had the ill luck to be seized by the grapnel.

"The grapnel, going at a great pace, whirled him up four or five feet in the air and jerked him along at the rate of fifteen miles or so an hour.

"Oh, massa, massa!" he yelled, squirming and kicking in that strange flight. "I see not de one, I see not de cawpse! Dick's in de house, dah! In de house, dah!"

Jewelled Pets.

Extraordinary sums are spent by some women on their pet dogs, mostly Pekingese or Blenheim spaniels, and £100 a year is given as quite an ordinary amount to be devoted to the keeping of a single animal.

"I know of one spaniel," said a woman dog fancier, "who has a special cutler cooked for him in a hotel and brought to his owner's house in a silver dish. The other day I had a griffon brought to me whose collar was studded with turquoises and diamond bracelets are quite the thing for smart dogs. One woman I know has a silver bath for her pet, who is never washed except in scented water.

"The special nurses who look after these dogs are well paid, and the profession offers congenial and remunerative work to a girl who is fond of animals. A trained nurse would easily obtain a salary of £1 a week with uniform and full board and lodging."—Tit-Bits.

No Honing—No Grinding

You know from daily experience, at home or in the barber shop, that the question is—"Why doesn't a razor hold its edge uniformly from heel to head without honing and grinding?" Whether it is a safety, with the certain tax of new blades, or the ordinary open-bladed razor does not alter the question. You want the comfort and satisfaction of a clean, smooth shave every morning with the confident knowledge that your razor will be ready for instant use the next time needed.

The Carbo Magnetic razor is the only razor unconditionally guaranteed to do this. Thirty years of study on the razor situation has perfected a new secret process of ELECTRIC TEMPERING that positively merges every particle of carbon (the life of steel) into the metal—giving a diamond-like hardness uniformly throughout the blade—something absolutely impossible with fire tempered steel—used in making all other razors.

But test this razor in your own home—or if you prefer, have your barber use it on you. Give us your name, or call and see the "Carbo Magnetic" razor, and we will state our proposition for testing these razors without obligation on your part to purchase, together with our free booklet "Hints on Shaving." This book illustrates the correct razor position for shaving every part of the face.

The Traitor's Cup.

Among the treasures which adorned the "den" of Sir Walter Scott, was a china saucer—the memorial, according to the author of "Edinburgh Under Sir Walter Scott," a striking incident in the domestic life of Scott's father and mother. One autumn Mr. Scott, sr., had a client who came regularly every evening at a certain hour to the house, and remained in his private room usually long after the family had gone to bed. The little mystery of the unknown visitor excited Mrs. Scott's curiosity, and her husband's vague statements increased it. One night, therefore, although she knew it was against her husband's desire, she entered the room with salver in her hand, and offered the gentlemen "a dish of tea," as it used to be called in eighteenth century parlance. Mr. Scott very coldly refused it, but the stranger bowed and accepted a cup. Presently he took his leave. Then Mr. Scott seized the empty cup and threw it out on to the pavement. His wife was astonished at first, but not when she heard the explanation. "I may admit into my house, on business, persons wholly unworthy to be treated as guests of my wife. Neither lip of mine nor of mine comes after Mr. Murray, of Broughton's." The client who has called was none other than the traitor, Secretary Murray, who bought off his life and fortune by giving evidence against his gallant Jacobite associates. —Dundee Advertiser.
